re you neglecting your health?

THE PENALTY OF NEGLECT

IS THE SAME AS THE WAGES OF SIN. SMITH'S GREEN MOUNTAIN RENOVATOR SHOULD BE TAKEN PROMPTLY BY EVERY SUFFERER.

If you are merely existing, we want to have a few earnest words with you.

The numbers of people who really live is small compared with the vast number that merely exist.

Some people seem to think that if they feel able to get around and attend to their usual duties they ought to be thankful. As a matter of fact, it is the solemn duty of everybody to be entirely well—to feel the blood of health dancing in the veins and the vigor of perfect strength in every member of the body. Such a happy condition is possible only when every organ is doing its work properly and there is a consequent harmony of all the functions and a full supply of pure blood.

Any piece of mechanism, particularly one so delicate as the human body, will surely get clogged up at times and thrown completely out of gear.

You know very well what the symptoms are. You know, too, that troubles of the liver, kidneys and stomach are responsible for your condition. You know you need cleaning out and fixing up generally. Smith's Green Mountain Renovator is what you need. It will do the work better, quicker and keep you well longer than anything else.

This celebrated remedy is made solely of roots and herbs and is, therefore, perfectly harmless. It is the great body-builder of all medicines. Those who use it have strong nerves and muscles and never have to take any other kind of medicine.

In Vermont, where it comes from, it has been everybody's medicine for a quarter of a century, although never advertised until it was bought by its present owners and placed on the general market through agents.

Its former makers were satisfied with the steady custom of Vermonters—with the fact that no other medicine could take its place with those who knew its merits.

"I am telling all my friends about SMITH'S GREEN MOUNTAIN RENOVATOR. It has certainly done wonders for me. I have been completely run down, nervous and weak, besides suffering with a sore on my ankle—the result of impure blood. I am on my fourth bottle and feel like a new woman, and my ankle is healing finely. I know that the Renovator will do as much for others as for me, and I recommend it strongly to all who are weak and sick.

MORE LIGHT SHED

ON BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE IN SPANISH WAR.

NEWSPAPERS STRENUOUS IN THEIR CRITICISM.

ENGLAND MAY HAVE NO MORE TO SAY ON ISSUE.

London, Feb. 15.—The dispute over the attitude of the powers towards the United States prior to the Spanish-American war continues to take up columns of the London dailies. Opinion is much divided as to the wisdom of Lord Cranborne's course in making his first statement on the subject in the house of commons, and since the later developments the opposition to further disclosures by the British government has been strengthened into a determined protest against the revealment of secret documents relating to the negotiations of that period. Lord Cranborne's statement of Friday, which was the result of cable dispatches exchanged between Lord Pauncefote and the foreign office, is probably the last word Great Britain will have to say on the subject. It would be impossible, however, to over-rate the irritation expressed in Downing street at the German publication of documents relating to the incident, though implicit belief is expressed that American public opinion is not likely to be influenced thereby.

QUESTION OF VERACITY.

Should Lord Lansdowne, the foreign secretary, make a more explicit statement regarding the dispute it would not bring matters much more forward, for the foreign office has no record of the deliberations at the diplomatic meeting held in Washington April 14, 1898, and Great Britain's contentions would thus be only strengthened to the extent of th reliance placed on Lord Lansdowne's word as against the allegations of the German officials. Privately, the foreign office officials declare that Lord Cranborne's two replies, especially his answer to the first note, effectually establishes Great Britain's attitude, even if Lord Pauncefote is charged with secretly combining against the United States, which is indignantly declared to be an utterly absurd and false suggestion.

Among the Americans resident in London during the month of May, 1898, it is recalled, however, that an intense pro-Spanish feeling existed on many sides, especially in society, where women connected with government officials appeared wearing the Spanish colors. In this and many other ways London became at that period none too comfortable a dwelling place for Americans, for the press teemed with anti-American editorials.

WHAT SALISBURY DID.

The cessation of the latter was due to a remarkable occurrence, which the Associated Press is able to announce for the first time. After Dewey's victory Lord Salisbury took the almost unprecedented step of communicating with the editors of the leading conservative dailies, urging them to desist from criticism of the United States, pointing out how vital it was to Great Britain's interest that the side of the United States and not that of Spain should be advocated in the English press. As a result, public opinion was reversed and the government was thoroughly supported in its subsequent and undoubtedly genuine efforts to strain its neutrality to the point of helping the United States.

WAS ILL BUT A FEW MINUTES

JOHN AMSTUTZ DIED SUDDENLY FRIDAY EVENING.

Was an Aged and Wealthy Farmer of Cedar Creek Township—Other Deaths and Funeral Notices.

John Amstutz, a pioneer resident of Cedar Creek township and one of the best known farmers in Allen county, died very suddenly at 8 o'clock Friday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Samuel Surface, a short distance northwest of Leo.

Mr. Amstutz's death came almost without warning. He had eaten his supper, apparently in ordinary health, and had not been complaining of feeling badly. While walking about the home he suddenly spoke of feeling ill and lay down upon a couch. Friends hurried at once to his side and quickly summoned medical aid, but before the physician arrived death had ensued. Twenty minutes after the attack Mr. Amstutz had passed away.

Coroner Barnett was summoned and he went to Leo today to make the examination required by law in such cases.

Mr. Amstutz was about 75 years of age. Surviving are two sons and five daughters.

M'KINNIE.

Mrs. Henry McKinnie, who was for nearly thirty years a resident of Fort Wayne, died Friday at her home in Sewickly, Pa., at the age of 71 years. With her at the end were her sons, Frank McKinnie, of Sewickey, and William M. McKinnie, of this city, together with their wives.

Mrs. McKinnie had been in feeble health for the past year, and her death was due to heart failure. She was the widow of the late Capt. Henry McKinnie, who died at Pittsburg about three years ago. Her earlier life was spent at Rochester, Pa., and Wellsville, Ohio, but for many years Mr. and Mrs. McKinnie were connected with the McKinnie house at the Pennsylvania station in Fort Wayne. They were very widely known and universally esteemed. Mrs. McKinnie was a lovable woman whose life was given to kindly deeds and all who knew her were her friends. She was an active member of Trinity Episcopal church while a resident of Fort Wayne.

The funeral services will occur at Sewickley on Monday.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Brown.—Funeral services of John S. Brown will be held Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the residence, 53 Holton avenue. Rev. White, Rev. Cooper and Rev. Bridge will officiate.

ABOUT THE COURT HOUSE.

Marie Richards has filed an action for divorce against her husband, Orion F. Richards. The suit is filed in the superior court.

In the superior court this morning the divorce case of Boese vs. Boese was called. The attorney representing the case asked for a continuance, which was granted.

The court house was a general rendezvous for country cousins and candidates today and presented a very animated appearance. Of candidates present there were about twenty and of constituents there were all told several hundred. Each candidate felt satisfied that he had the entire constituency solid and there was much congratulation and a copious interchange of pattings on the back.

The county commissioners met today for the transaction of miscellaneous business of which there was very little. The most important, perhaps, was a conference with a committee from the Commercial club regarding the exercises proposed for the dedication of the new court house. There was nothing formal in the conference, it being of a purely preliminary character. It was agreed that the most appropriate time for the dedication would be some day in the month of June and it was tacitly agreed that the ceremonies would take place some time during that month of this year. It was further agreed that the Commercial club should prepare a general plan or program for the exercises and submit it to the board at some near date. The gentlemen representing the Commercial club who took part in the conference were Messrs. F. V. Culbertson, Alexander Johnson, Charles E. Bond, W. F. Graeter, P. A. Randall and F. E. Purcell.

The district meeting of the state board tax commission will be held in the assembly room of the court house next Saturday to meet with the county assessors of the counties in this tax district.

Auditor Ortlieb this afternoon sold the Fairfield ditch in Wayne township to Kruse & Nolton for $4,709.50. The ditch will require about 23,000 yards of excavation.

IN JUSTICES' COURTS.

Henry Winkler, aged 33, and Katherine Nicholson, aged 16, were married this morning in Justice Huser's office. Both parties are from Woodburn and the affair was attended by much eclat contributed by sundry relatives, small children and other appurtenances of the Maumee district. The crowning feature of the ceremony was the salutation, osculatory in character, delivered by the justice. His bad leg got in the way at an inopportune moment and a disaster was averted only by the presence of mind and heroism of Attorney Hanthorne, who caught the squire in time to prevent him from kissing the groom instead of the bride.

Mary Strong has filed an affidavit in Huser's court charging Jacob Soliday with selling liquor on Sunday. Mr. Soliday is the managing editor of a ginmill at or near Academy. The arrest will be made this afternoon.

NASAL CATARRH CURED

Pe-ru-na Cures a Case of Five Years' Standing.

Mr. Rudolph M. Patterson, Chicago, Ill.

Hon. Rudolph M. Patterson, a well-known lawyer, of Chicago, Ill., writes the following letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., at Columbus, Ohio:

The Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio:

Gentlemen—"I have been a sufferer from nasal catarrh for the past five years, and at the earnest solicitation of a friend I tried Peruna and am glad to say it has afforded a complete cure. It is with pleasure I recommend it to others."—RUDOLPH M. PATTERSON.

Mrs. J. C. Garrett, of 38 West 117th street, New York City, writes:

"I can honestly recommend Peruna as a great catarrh remedy. It heals and heals quickly and permanently.

Mrs. J. C. Garrett.

"This is simply the whole story in a word. I have for years suffered with catarrh, aggravated when I took cold and Peruna cured me. It is indeed a great medicine, and worthy the highest praise, for it is reliable and will never disappoint you."—Mrs. J. C. Garrett.

There are two things that the whole medical profession agree about concerning catarrh. The first is that catarrh is the most prevalent and omnipresent disease to which the people in the United States are subject. All classes of people have it. Those who stay indoors much and those who go outdoors much. Working classes have it and sedentary classes have it.

The doctor finds catarrh to be his constant and ever-present foe. It complicates nearly every disease he is called upon to treat.

The second thing about catarrh on which all doctors agree, is that it is difficult to cure it. Local remedies may give relief but they fail to cure permanently. Sprays or snuffs amount to little or nothing except to give temporary relief.

Catarrh is frequently located in internal organs which cannot be reached by any sort of local treatment. All this is known by every physician.

To devise some systemic internal remedy which would reach catarrh at its source, to eradicate it permanently from the system—this has been the desire of the medical profession for a long time. Forty years ago Dr. Hartman confronted this problem. He believed then that he had solved it. He still believes he has solved it. He cures thousands of people annually. During all these years Peruna has been the remedy upon which he has relied.

It was at first a private prescription, afterwards manufactured expressly for him in large quantities. This remedy, Peruna, is now to be found in every drug-store and nearly every home in the land. It is the only reliable internal remedy ever devised to cure any case of catarrh, however long the case may have been standing.

Mr. Camillus Senne, 257 West 129th street, New York, writes:

Mr. Camillus Senne.

I suffered for three years with catarrh of the head, nose and throat. I tried all kinds of medicine without relief, but at last I have been cured by the wonderful remedy called Peruna.

"I read of Peruna in your almanac, and wrote you for advice, which I followed. After taking one and one-half bottles of Peruna I am entirely cured, and can recommend Peruna to anyone as the best and surest remedy for any catarrhal troubles."—Camillus Senne.

A course of Peruna never fails to bring relief. There is no other remedy like Peruna. Its cures are prompt and permanent.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

CONFERENCE HELD

PRESIDENT CALLS LEADERS TO WHITE HOUSE.

ALLISON, HANNA AND PAYNE

DISCUSSION SECRET AND THE CONFEREES RETICENT.

THE DAY'S PROCEEDINGS IN THE SENATE.

Washington, Feb. 15.—A very important conference was held in the cabinet room of the white house today. At the president's request he was joined there shortly after 10 o'clock this morning by Senators Allison, Aldrich and Spooner; Speaker Henderson and Representatives Cannon and Grosvenor, and the conference lasted until a few minutes after 12. It is something of a coincidence that those at the conference today were, with the exception of the president himself and Senator Spooner, the same men who took part in the famous conference a few weeks prior to the Spanish war which resulted in the definite conclusion that congress should appropriate $50,000,000 to be placed at the disposal of the president to prepare for war. Not since that momentous occasion until today have the same men been formally summoned for a conference at the white house. Previous to the conference the president breakfasted at the white house with Attorney General Knox, Postmaster General Payne and Senator Hanna. When the conference broke up those who participated in it were extremely and unusually reticent. The fact that the senators are members of the steering committee of the senate and Speaker Henderson and his two lieutenants who were present today practically control legislation in the house, gave rise to the belief that the consultation related to the legislative program in congress and might have a bearing upon the shaping of Cuban, Philippine and war revenue repeal legislation. There also was an intimation that the president talked with his party leaders in congress about the Schley case and color was given to this surmise by a remark dropped by one of the senators. But nothing definite as to the purpose or result of the consultation could be obtained.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, Feb. 15.—After the routine business today the senate passed a bill appropriating $100,000 for a public building at Selma, Ala. The senate then resumed consideration of the bill establishing a permanent census office. The pending amendment was that of Mr. Lodge to amend the paragraph relating to the retention of employes so that it would read "that all employes of the twelfth census office at the date of the passage of this act, who are retained in the employ of the permanent census above the grade of skilled labor shall be, and they are hereby, placed without further examination under the provisions of the civil service act."

ENTERS NEW BUSINESS.

C. R. Bookwalter, who has been in the employ of The Sentinel as a pressman, today resigned his position to enter a new line of business. Mr. Bookwalter will become Fort Wayne manager for Colton, Sanberg & Co., an extensive Chicago coffee and tea house, who will within a short time open a store in this city. For the present they will merely place a handsome wagon on the road in charge of Mr. Bookwalter, who will work up the business for the firm and in this he will be assisted by one of the company's representatives from Chicago. Mr. Bookwalter is a well known young man, energetic and upright, with many friends. He will undoubtedly be very successful in his new undertaking, and in entering it he will have the unbounded good wishes of all who know him.

REMEMBERED THE PASTOR.

The members of the South Congregational church surprised Rev. and Mrs. D. T. Williams, of 357 West Butler street, last evening, in celebration of Mr. Williams' birthday anniversary. The secret had been carefully kept from Rev. Williams and the surprise was complete. During the evening D. W. Jones, in behalf of the congregation, presented Rev. and Mrs. Williams with a set of solid silver spoons and a generous purse of silver. Rev. Williams responded in a happy vein and thanked the members of the party for so royally remembering the occasion. The ladies served refreshments and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

QUARANTINE IS RAISED.

Quarantine was raised on the residence of David J. Winebrenner today, the smallpox card being removed by the health authorities this morning. The patient, Roy Winebrenner, is recovering nicely and will be able to be out in about a week. The house and contents have been thoroughly fumigated and all danger of infection has been eliminated.

NELSON SAYS HE'S THROUGH

SOUTHWESTERN MANAGER ON THE FRANCHISE QUESTION.

Will Await Result of Next City Election and Leave Whole Matter to the People.

"I'm done. I propose to let the matter lie right where it is until the next election," said S. L. Nelson, general manager of the Southwestern interurban line, in discussing the franchise situation this morning.

"We've got a franchise covering the Fort Wayne end of our line, which protects our bonds, and it's good for fifty years if we do not build another foot of track," continued Mr. Nelson. "If the people at the next election say that they don't want us down town for fifty years, my company can stand it, and so far as I and the company I represent are concerned, we are through. We sold our bonds on a fifty-year franchise, which our original contract provided for, and we will keep faith with the bondholders. We can not as honest men sell fifty-year bonds on a basis of a fifty-year franchise and then swap it for a thirty-year franchise. We can't do it, and we won't. This end of the line is losing us money and the other end is paying. Why, then, throw down our bond buyers and backers by taking a short-time franchise on a losing proposition? No, sir; I'm through, and they can pass all the franchises they want to, but we will not accept them unless on a basis of fifty years, with ownership vested in the city. If the voters of the city want it that way, it's all right with me and with my company, but so far as I am concerned I have laid down until the next city election."

"Do you expect to run a councilmanic ticket in your interest at the next municipal election?" asked The Sentinel.

"Decidedly not. My proposition is to leave it all to the people, and my company can afford to lay up for a couple of years and then let the people decide it. If the people don't want us, or can find something better, it's up to them. I'm through."

LOCAL LINES.

Miss Amelia Nussbaum has taken a position as stenographer with Charles Falk & Co.

Rev. J. Webster Bailey, of Plymouth Congregational church, addressed the High School Debating society last evening on "Utility."

Rev. J. H. Bathe is conducting the Wednesday night Lenten services at the Cathedral and is preaching a series of sermons on the seven last sentences of Christ on Calvary.

Miss Hulda Hanker gave a Valentine party in her dancing academy last evening for her evening classes. About seventy-five couples were in attendance and a dance program of twenty-one numbers was enjoyed. Very pretty souvenir programs were distributed among the dancers. Miss Hanker will give a party this evening for her children's classes.

FIX COMMENCEMENT DATE.

The commencement exercises of the Fort Wayne College of Medicine will be held at Westminster Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening, March 25, and Dr. B. Von Sweringen will deliver the address to the class on behalf of the faculty. Other portions of the program have not been completed.

FORT WAYNE RELATIVES.

The Sentinel yesterday noted the possibility of Theodore Garty, of Columbia City, coming into possession of a fortune of considerable proportions. In this connection it might be added that Mrs. A. L. Dodane and Mrs. Henry Freistroffer, of this city are sisters of Mr. Garty.

LOCAL LINES.

Mrs. Rouch, of 169 Taylor street, entertained a number of friends yesterday in honor of her birthday anniversary.

Rev. J. Webster Bailey addressed the Fericlean Literary society last evening at the high school. His remarks were appreciated very much by the audience.

Last evening at the Mulqueen dancing academy Mrs. Mulqueen entertained a number of her friends in honor of Mrs. Hippiahammer, of Chicago. A most enjoyable time was spent in playing cards and dancing, the music being furnished by Miss Grace Chase.

THE PRINCE SAILS

HENRY OF PRUSSIA STARTS FOR UNITED STATES.

CROWDS CHEER HIM AS SHIP LEAVES PORT.

DENIES WRITING TO DEWEY

HAS SENT NO APOLOGY TO THE ADMIRAL.

Bremerhaven, Feb. 15.—Prince Henry sailed for New York at 3:43 p. m.

The last seen of the prince from the shore here was when he stood on the bridge of the Prince Wilhelm in an admiral's uniform and lifted his cap in response to the cheers of the assembled crowds.

Commander William H. Beehler, United States navy, the United States naval attache at Berlin, bid the prince good-bye for the United States embassy.

Senator Tichirschky, Prussian minister to the Hanseatic cities, bid farewell to the prince for Emperor William, who also sent his brother a telegram previous to the departure of the steamer.

Previous to sailing Prince Henry, in conversation with a correspondent of the Associated Press, referred to the report that he had written a letter to Admiral Dewey apologizing for the conduct of the German squadron in Manila bay during the war with Spain. "It is all untrue," said the prince. "I have never written to Admiral Dewey in my life."

CONTINUOUS OVATION.

At Hamburg Senator Tichirschky joined the party of Prince Henry and at Bremen, where the train arrived at 1:40 p. m., Admiral Von Tirpitz, secretary of the admiralty; Adjutant General Von Plessen and other high officers from Berlin were added to the prince's suite. They lunched leisurely in the royal waiting room of the Bremen station and then entered the train, which, at 2 p. m., steamed slowly toward Bremerhaven. The inhabitants of every village along the route turned out, gathered along the railroad track and gave the prince a great ovation.

Bremerhaven, usually a dreary place, was bright with color in the prince's honor. All the shipping in the river flew American and German flags and the wharves were black with cheering crowds as the Kron Prinz Wilhelm drew out into the stream, with her band playing "The Star-Spangled Banner."

ALL KIEL TURNED OUT.

Kiel, Feb. 15.—Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia started for Bremen at 8:30 this morning.

What looked like half of Kiel's population assembled at the railroad station to bid farewell to Prince Henry at 8 o'clock this morning. Also at the station were Admirals Von Arnim and Von Koester and fourteen other naval officers of high rank, and a large guard of marines. On the platform of the station the prince kissed the princess, his wife, and stood uncovered at the head of the rear steps of the car, in spite of the sharp, wintry air, until the train was out of the station.

THE DEWEY LETTER.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The Associated Press today received from authentic sources a statement regarding the report that Prince Henry had written a letter of apology to Admiral Dewey. The information which follows was not received from Admiral Dewey himself, but from an intimate friend of his and can be absolutely vouched for:

The admiral has recently received a letter from a member of the United States embassy at Berlin, in which the writer gave a resume of a conversation he had had with Prince Henry, of Prussia, at the dinner given the latter by Ambassador White, prior to the prince's departure for America.

In this conversation the prince, referring to his having hoped to return from the east via San Francisco, after his service in the China squadron, but having been obliged to hasten home via the Suez, on account of his mother's illness, in his usual candid manner and agreeing with a remark that the present was a much more opportune time for his visit, said:

"I know you Americans feel very sore about affairs in the east and I do not blame you. I myself made a mistake which I see is now being exploited by the English press to create a prejudice. When at Hong Kong, at a dinner on the Deutschland, (the prince's flag ship in the east), Commodore Dewey was present and was the senior officer; there were two Russians, some English and officers of other nationalities which I cannot now recall, when I proposed the health of first the czar of Russia, then others, and last of all that of the president of the United States. Dewey was offended, as I learned the next day, and I realized I had made a great mistake. I immediately went on board the Olympia and saw Dewey, who accepted my apology most graciously."

The prince added that he was well aware that mistakes had been made on their part, but that his relations with Admiral Dewey had always been of the most agreeable and pleasant character. He sent his highest regards to the admiral and expressed his sincere hope of seeing him during his visit to America.

HUNDREDS HAVE PERISHED

TERRIBLE EFFECT OF EARTHQUAKE AT SHAMAKA.

Results Are Appalling—Three Hundred Bodies Have Been Removed From the Ruins.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 15.—The latest news received here from Shamaka confirms the appalling character of the earthquake at the place, and adds that 300 corpses have already been taken out of the ruins. The piles of wreckage are so vast that the search is necessarily slow. Most of the victims were Mussulmans. The survivors are encamped outside the ruins of the city.

Miss Leckie is the accomplished young lady who chaperoned the delegation of Chicago school children to the inauguration of President McKinley, and also accompanied the "globe-girdlers" upon their later trip around the world.

DOWNTOWN BLAZE

GRANNEMAN DRUG STORE IN RUINS—OTHER LOSSES.

FIREMEN HAD A HARD FIGHT

GENERAL ALARM QUICKLY FOLLOWS FIRST CALL.

Fire of unknown origin, which started in the basement of the Granneman drug store in the Mordhurst building, at 74 Calhoun street, last night occasioned a total loss that may approach $25,000, though until there is an opportunity to make a more thorough examination, reliable figures upon the damage can not be secured.

It was shortly before 11 o'clock that passers upon the street noticed smoke pouring down the stairway of the building, and Superintendent Gorsline pulled the fire alarm box at Wayne and Calhoun streets. This was at 10:41 o'clock, and within a very short time Chief Hilbrecht, with fire companies 1, 3 and 5, were upon the scene. Simultaneously with the alarm, Manager Ehrman, of the Postal Telegraph company, hurried up the stairs to the second floor, through smoke of fearful density, to awaken Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Archer, of the Globe Painless Dental parlors, who were asleep in their apartments upon the second floor of the building. They were nearly suffocated by smoke, but hastily grasping some clothing, hurried down the stairway to and across the street to the New Aveline hotel.

SENT GENERAL ALARM.

When the first firemen reached the building it was seen that the main trouble was in the basement at the rear. Here flames were pouring out through the cellar windows and up the open stairway into the storeroom. It promised to be a big fire and was most inaccessible to the fire fighters, and Chief Hilbrecht at 11:10 o'clock turned in a general alarm, which brought all the remaining engine companies into service.

From front and rear the firemen attacked the flames, which had swept over the cellar and transformed it into a seething mass of flames. A big crowd of spectators was attracted by the alarm, and stood watching the firemen at their work. Tons and tons of water were poured into the cellar from front and rear, and it seemed for a time that the blaze was conquered. At this juncture Chief Hilbrecht noticed that the fire had crept forward and into the elevator shaft at the front of the building, and he ordered the firemen at the front re-enforced by some of those working at the rear.

IT WAS SPECTACULAR.

Almost before the spectators realized that the blaze had reached the elevator shaft the fire shot upward in a massive sheet of flame to the top of the shaft, which acted as an immense chimney, five stories in height. The skylight at the top of the shaft was quickly burst by the force of the flames, and as it gave way the lurid flames shot up in a mighty column fifty feet higher than the top of the building.

The sight was spectacular, and the column of flames played above the shaft for nearly half an hour before it was conquered. The extension ladder was ordered up, and in this manner the firemen reached the roof of the building, from which point several streams of water were poured down the seething shaft. It took a long and persistent fight to stop the ravages of the fire in the shaft and to prevent it spreading to other floors of the building. Despite their efforts the fire spread to the roof of the building and quite a large section was burned over.

Inside the building the work of the firemen was rendered especially difficult by the dense volume of smoke, and for a time it was necessary to relieve the firemen every two or three minutes. One of the hosemen was nearly overcome by the smoke and had to be assisted from the building, but he revived as soon as the open air was reached. The tile flooring in the drug store was of much aid in keeping the flames confined to the cellar, though it was necessary to chop holes in the flooring in order to reach that portion of the blaze. Later a large section of flooring began settling, and finally gave way entirely, completing the fire's ruin by dumping a large portion of the drug stock into the basement, which was then flooded with water.

CALL THIS MORNING.

For hours after it seemed that the fire was extinguished the firemen remained at work in the building, extinguishing the flames that broke out in various parts of the structure, where an unnoticed spark from the main fire would break out afresh. It was not until 5:30 o'clock this morning that the fire was "rung out," and it was more than an hour later when the last of the firemen got away. At 9 o'clock this morning the chemical engine company was again called to the building. At two points upon the roof and at another in the cellar fire was springing up again, but it was quickly extinguished. The work of the firemen was excellent throughout and under the circumstances they are to be congratulated in confining the blaze to the Mordhurst building. Chief Hilbrecht is confident that but for the existence of the elevator shaft the flames would never have gotten above the basement of the building.

The members of the Caledonian society, who were giving a social in an adjoining hall, adjourned without delay when it was seen that the blaze was likely to be threatening. Across the street the guests in the New Aveline hotel were in wise alarmed.

FIGURES ON LOSSES.

The building, a five-story brick structure, is owned by H. W. Mordhurst, and the damage is chiefly in the basement, first floor, fifth floor, elevator shaft and roof. Mr. Mordhurst is in Cincinnati and could not be seen today, but Chief Hilbrecht believes $5,000 will repair the damage to the building. Aside from the floors mentioned the building is considerably water-soaked. There is an insurance of $8,000 on the building.

H. C. Granneman, who owned the drug store on the first floor, closed his place of business at 9 o'clock last evening and was summoned from his home to find his stock practically ruined. He stated today that his loss would be about $9,000, with $6,000 insurance.

The second floor was occupied by Dr. Archer and Dr. Stevenson, with the Globe dental parlors. They had recently fitted up their office at an expense of about $1,500. Much of the equipment is badly damaged and their loss will be several hundred dollars. The dentists have rented offices over the Sievert jewelry establishment, directly across the street, and will resume business soon.

On the third floor was the American Mandolin school owned by Oscar Schmidt, of Jersey City, N. J., and managed by Charles Reynolds, who places the loss at from $700 to $800. About 300 mandolins were ruined by water.

The fifth floor was used as living apartments by Mr. Mordhurst, and here the loss from fire and water will perhaps approximate $300.

WOLF & DESSAUER LOSE.

Wolf & Dessauer, the dry goods merchants, whose place of business adjoins the Mordhurst building, suffered a loss from smoke and water that will amount to several thousand dollars, though they are protected by insurance. This firm utilized the fourth floor of the Mordhurst building as a storage room for reserve and duplicate stock, and Mr. Dessauer said this morning that about $12,000 worth of goods were stored there. He believes this has been heavily damaged from smoke and water. The main store rooms also suffered extensively from the smoke, which penetrated the walls and poured through the floors, and the stock will all have to be opened up before the damage can be ascertained. When the force of clerks and cash boys reported for work this morning the firm notified them that the store would be closed until the losses are adjusted by the insurance men. Mr. Wolf is in New Orleans upon his wedding tour and news of the loss was telegraphed him by his partner this morning. It is probable he will return to Fort Wayne at once.

The members of Sunday school class No. 10 of Calvary U. B. church gave a most delightful valentine party at the home of their teacher, Leon R. Griffin, 24 Poplar street, last evening. Games and music were the features of the evening and at 10:30 a two-course luncheon was served, after which a number of valentines were distributed. Miss Mabel Long, of Lagrange, was an out-of-town guest, who assisted in making the evening a most pleasant one.

RANSOM OF MISS STONE CONFIRMED

Washington, Feb. 15.—The state department has received cable advices confirming the report that the ransom money for Miss Stone has been paid to the brigand captors. It is not known when her release will occur, but it is understood that the brigands have made a condition that they shall have a period of a week or ten days in which to make sure their safe retreat before the prisoner is delivered up.

OVER FOUR SCORE

EIGHTY-SECOND BIRTHDAY OF SUSAN B. ANTHONY.

FOREIGN DELEGATES GREET

AGED ADVOCATE OF WOMAN SUFFRAGE WITH MESSAGE.

TAXATION HAS DISCUSSION

PROCEEDINGS OF CONVENTION AT WASHINGTON.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Interest in the National American Woman Suffrage association meeting today was heightened by the fact that it marked the eighty-second birthday of Susan B. Anthony. She was the recipient of many congratulations and was feelingly referred to in the invocation by Miss Laura De Merritte. Many floral tributes were also received by her.

MESSAGE OF GREETING.

The following message of greeting from the foreign delegates was received by her and read from the platform:

"We, the undersigned, foreign delegates to the first international woman suffrage convention, gladly take the opportunity of your eighty-second birthday to express to you our love and reverence, our gratitude for your lifelong work for women, and our rejoicing that you have lived to see such great steps onward made by the world at large in the direction in which you led at first under such prejudice. Praying that you may enjoy years of health, cheered by ever-fresh advance, we remain, your loving friends.

"Florence Fenwick Miller, England.
"Sofia Levorna Friendland, Russia.
"Carolina Holman Huidobro, Chili.
"Gudrum Drewsen, Norway.
"Vida Goldstein, Australia.
"Erma Ewald, Sweden.
"Antonette Stolle, Germany."

TALK OF TAXATION.

Mrs. Boyer, of Philadelphia, presented a plan of work for the coming year. That part of it relating to taxation without representation caused considerable discussion, which developed the fact that in paying taxes a number of the delegates insert in the tax certificates the words "Paid under protest." A suggestion by the president that all present who were taxpayers should rise brought to their feet over 200 women.

Other recommendations by the committee were to appoint a special committee to double the membership; that clubs seek qualified women as local organizers and when such are found invite them to assist; that a national column be published in the Woman's Journal; that systematic work be done to increase the circulation of suffrage; that presidential suffrage be urged, and that there be a woman's suffrage stamp, similar to that used in France; that prizes be offered for the best essays on woman suffrage, and "that we continue our plea for a sixteenth amendment respecting woman suffrage."

WOMAN'S GENTLE NATURE CALLS FOR GENTLE TREATMENT

Delicately formed and gently reared, women will find, in all the seasons of their lives, as maids or wives or mothers, that the one simple, wholesome remedy which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally, and which may be used with truly beneficial effects, under any conditions, when the system needs a laxative—is—Syrup of Figs. It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant, aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired.

Many of the ills from which women suffer are of a transient nature and do not come from any organic trouble and it is pleasant to know that they yield so promptly to the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs, but when anything more than a laxative is needed it is best to consult the family physician and to avoid the old-time cathartics and loudly advertised nostrums of the present day. When one needs only to remove the strain, the torpor, the congestion, or similar ills, which attend upon a constipated condition of the system, use the true and gentle remedy—Syrup of Figs—and enjoy freedom from the depression, the aches and pains, colds and headaches, which are due to inactivity of the bowels.

Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs can hope to get its beneficial effects and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy the full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. The genuine article may be bought of all reliable druggists everywhere at 50 cents per bottle.

CONSIDER HOSPITAL PLAN

MEETING OF LUTHERAN DELEGATES SUNDAY.

Project Viewed With Favor in All Churches to be Represented at the Meeting.

A meeting of Lutheran delegates to consider the plan of erecting a Lutheran hospital in Fort Wayne, will be held on Sunday afternoon in St. Paul's school hall and about seventy-five delegates will be in attendance. About thirty churches will be represented at the meeting, the district including all Lutheran churches within a radius of twenty miles of Fort Wayne. Each church is entitled to three delegates, a minister and two voters of the congregation.

The plan as outlined in The Sentinel some time ago, is to erect and equip a building to be equal in every respect to Hope and St. Joseph hospitals at a cost estimated at between $25,000 and $50,000. In nearly all of the churches to be represented at the meeting, the sentiment is decidedly in favor of the project and there is every indication that the hospital will be built. The institution will be under the control of a Lutheran board of trustees and supported by the Lutheran churches in Fort Wayne and vicinity. It will be open to the use of the public, and the hospital staff will be chosen from the best medical talent in Fort Wayne.

If the project receives a majority vote, a hospital association will be formed, which will have full control of securing funds, procuring a suitable site and attending to all the details of the work.

TEETH AND FOOD.

A Help in Time of Need.

Sometimes bad teeth cause illness, particularly when they are not fit to masticate food. A man in Ada, Ohio, had all of his teeth drawn. He was sick with indigestion and lack of vitality and his teeth were in a bad condition. He expected, with a new complete set of teeth to regain his health by thoroughly chewing his food, but he had an experience that is well worth knowing of.

"Instead of improving I continued to lose strength," he says, "until I was a mere moving skeleton. I tried a number of prepared foods, but none of them helped me until I got Grape-Nuts. The flavor pleased my palate at once. I soaked the food in cream and got along with it nicely. Within a few days I noticed that I was not so tired and jaded. Gradually I grew stronger, so I left off all other foods and took only Grape-Nuts.

"My old-time vigor came back and in two months I gained seventeen pounds. This was remarkable, for I am of spare build. Now I sleep and feel wonderfully well.

"Inasmuch as I am doing so nicely without teeth, I have concluded to wait until my gums have finished shrinking before having a set made. I don't believe I could have gone through the drain on my system had it not been for Grape-Nuts. There is no doubt about the life-giving and nerve-building force of that food. I talk Grape-Nuts to all of my friends." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Gray Hair

Ayer's Hair Vigor doesn't suddenly restore color to your gray hair; but gradually the old color comes back—all the dark, rich color it used to have. It stops falling of the hair, too, and will often make the hair grow to be very long and heavy.

"Ayer's Hair Vigor is certainly wonderful. It has restored the natural color to my gray hair and has made a splendid new growth."—Miss Emma Calder, New York City.

THE TERRORS OF DYSPEPSIA.

The terrors of dyspepsia—it's unnecessary to describe them. Nine men out of ten are intimately acquainted with them, and are only too thankful when they don't have to think of them all the time. Someone has described dyspepsia as a disease that dogs its victim through life with fiendish malignity, playing with him as a cat does a mouse, but never making an end of him. It tortures without killing him. But not always—it won't do to be sure of even that much. Those who have strong constitutions can bear up for a time under the wearing tortures of nervous dyspepsia, but dyspepsia gradually brings on catarrh. Catarrh brings on consumption, and consumption is merely another term for that grim destroyer—death. It doesn't pay to trifle with dyspepsia—it don't pay to deceive yourself with a false feeling of security. Peptorene, the Health Tablet, is for ailing stomachs. It cures dyspepsia and brings tonic relief to the poor, jaded nerves of the stomach, gives new life to the dormant tissues of the liver, and relieves the bowels of their congested load of poison. It acts as a combined tonic and a natural aid to digestion. If you want a medicine that will give quick relief to even an advanced case of dyspepsia, call at once for a box of Peptorene Tablets.

Manufactured by the Battle Creek Health Tablet Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich. 25c per box. Write for free trial treatment. For sale by Pellens & Polster, Meyer Bros. & Co., Wm. L. Waltemath and A. C. Gocke.

Are you neglecting your health?

THE PENALTY OF NEGLECT

If you are merely existing, we want to have a few earnest words with you.

The numbers of people who really live is small compared with the vast number that merely exist.

Some people seem to think that if they feel able to get around and attend to their usual duties they ought to be thankful. As a matter of fact, it is the solemn duty of everybody to be entirely well—to feel the blood of health dancing in the veins and the vigor of perfect strength in every member of the body. Such a happy condition is possible only when every organ is doing its work properly and there is a consequent harmony of all the functions and a full supply of pure blood.

Any piece of mechanism, particularly one so delicate as the human body, will surely get clogged up at times and thrown completely out of gear.

You know very well what the symptoms are. You know, too, that troubles of the liver, kidneys and stomach are responsible for your condition. You know you need cleaning out and fixing up generally. Smith's Green Mountain Renovator is what you need. It will do the work better, quicker and keep you well longer than anything else.

This celebrated remedy is made solely of roots and herbs and is, therefore, perfectly harmless. It is the great body-builder of all medicines. Those who use it have strong nerves and muscles and never have to take any other kind of medicine.

In Vermont, where it comes from, it has been everybody's medicine for a quarter of a century, although never advertised until it was bought by its present owners and placed on the general market through agents.

Its former makers were satisfied with the steady custom of Vermonters—with the fact that no other medicine could take its place with those who knew its merits.

"I am telling all my friends about SMITH'S GREEN MOUNTAIN RENOVATOR. It has certainly done wonders for me. I have been completely run down, nervous and weak, besides suffering with a sore on my ankle—the result of impure blood. I am on my fourth bottle and feel like a new woman, and my ankle is healing finely. I know that the Renovator will do as much for others as for me, and I recommend it strongly to all who are weak and sick.

MORE LIGHT SHED

ON BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE IN SPANISH WAR.

NEWSPAPERS STRENUOUS IN THEIR CRITICISM.

ENGLAND MAY HAVE NO MORE TO SAY ON ISSUE.

London, Feb. 10.—The dispute over the attitude of the powers towards the United States prior to the Spanish-American war continues to take up columns of the London dailies. Opinion is much divided as to the wisdom of Lord Cranborne's course in making his first statement on the subject in the house of commons, and since the later developments the opposition to further disclosures by the British government has been strengthened into a determined protest against the revealment of secret documents relating to the negotiations of that period. Lord Cranborne's statement of Friday, which was the result of cable dispatches exchanged between Lord Pauncefote and the foreign office, is probably the last word Great Britain will have to say on the subject. It would be impossible, however, to over-rate the irritation expressed in Downing street at the German publication of documents relating to the incident, though implicit belief is expressed that American public opinion is not likely to be influenced thereby.

QUESTION OF VERACITY.

Should Lord Lansdowne, the foreign secretary, make a more explicit statement regarding the dispute it would not bring matters much more forward, for the foreign office has no record of the deliberations at the diplomatic meeting held in Washington April 14, 1898, and Great Britain's contentions would thus be only strengthened to the extent of th reliance placed on Lord Lansdowne's word as against the allegations of the German officials. Privately, the foreign office officials declare that Lord Cranborne's two replies, especially his answer to the first note, effectually establishes Great Britain's attitude, even if Lord Pauncefote is charged with secretly combining against the United States, which is indignantly declared to be an utterly absurd and false suggestion.

Among the Americans resident in London during the month of May, 1898, it is recalled, however, that an intense pro-Spanish feeling existed on many sides, especially in society, where women connected with government officials appeared wearing the Spanish colors. In this and many other ways London became at that period none too comfortable a dwelling place for Americans, for the press teemed with anti-American editorials.

WHAT SALISBURY DID.

The cessation of the latter was due to a remarkable occurrence, which the Associated Press is able to announce for the first time. After Dewey's victory Lord Salisbury took the almost unprecedented step of communicating with the editors of the leading conservative dailies, urging them to desist from criticism of the United States, pointing out how vital it was to Great Britain's interest that the side of the United States and not that of Spain should be advocated in the English press. As a result, public opinion was reversed and the government was thoroughly supported in its subsequent and undoubtedly genuine efforts to strain its neutrality to the point of helping the United States.

WAS ILL BUT A FEW MINUTES

Was an Aged and Wealthy Farmer of Cedar Creek Township—Other Deaths and Funeral Notices.

John Amstutz, a pioneer resident of Cedar Creek township and one of the best known farmers in Allen county, died very suddenly at 8 o'clock Friday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Samuel Surface, a short distance northwest of Leo.

Mr. Amstutz's death came almost without warning. He had eaten his supper, apparently in ordinary health, and had not been complaining of feeling badly. While walking about the home he suddenly spoke of feeling ill and lay down upon a couch. Friends hurried at once to his side and quickly summoned medical aid, but before the physician arrived death had ensued. Twenty minutes after the attack Mr. Amstutz had passed away.

Coroner Barnett was summoned and he went to Leo today to make the examination required by law in such cases.

Mr. Amstutz was about 75 years of age. Surviving are two sons and five daughters.

M'KINNIE.

Mrs. Henry McKinnie, who was for nearly thirty years a resident of Fort Wayne, died Friday at her home in Sewickly, Pa., at the age of 71 years. With her at the end were her sons, Frank McKinnie, of Sewickey, and William M. McKinnie, of this city, together with their wives.

Mrs. McKinnie had been in feeble health for the past year, and her death was due to heart failure. She was the widow of the late Capt. Henry McKinnie, who died at Pittsburg about three years ago. Her earlier life was spent at Rochester, Pa., and Wellsville, Ohio, but for many years Mr. and Mrs. McKinnie were connected with the McKinnie house at the Pennsylvania station in Fort Wayne. They were very widely known and universally esteemed. Mrs. McKinnie was a lovable woman whose life was given to kindly deeds and all who knew her were her friends. She was an active member of Trinity Episcopal church while a resident of Fort Wayne.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Brown.—Funeral services of John S. Brown will be held Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the residence, 53 Holton avenue. Rev. White, Rev. Cooper and Rev. Bridge will officiate.

ABOUT THE COURT HOUSE.

Marie Richards has filed an action for divorce against her husband, Orion F. Richards. The suit is filed in the superior court.

In the superior court this morning the divorce case of Boese vs. Boese was called. The attorney representing the case asked for a continuance, which was granted.

The court house was a general rendezvous for country cousins and candidates today and presented a very animated appearance. Of candidates present there were about twenty and of constituents there were all told several hundred. Each candidate felt satisfied that he had the entire constituency solid and there was much congratulation and a copious interchange of pattings on the back.

The county commissioners met today for the transaction of miscellaneous business of which there was very little. The most important, perhaps, was a conference with a committee from the Commercial club regarding the exercises proposed for the dedication of the new court house. There was nothing formal in the conference, it being of a purely preliminary character. It was agreed that the most appropriate time for the dedication would be some day in the month of June and it was tacitly agreed that the ceremonies would take place some time during that month of this year. It was further agreed that the Commercial club should prepare a general plan or program for the exercises and submit it to the board at some near date. The gentlemen representing the Commercial club who took part in the conference were Messrs. F. V. Culbertson, Alexander Johnson, Charles E. Bond, W. F. Gracter, P. A. Randall and F. E. Purcell.

The district meeting of the state board tax commission will be held in the assembly room of the court house next Saturday to meet with the county assessors of the counties in this tax district.

Auditor Ortlieb this afternoon sold the Fairfield ditch in Wayne township to Krause & Nolton for $4,709.50. The ditch will require about 23,000 yards of excavation.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Albert Sites and Harriet V. Crabbs.

IN JUSTICES' COURTS.

Henry Winkler, aged 33, and Katherine Nicholson, aged 16, were married this morning in Justice Huser's office. Both parties are from Woodburn and the affair was attended by much eclat contributed by sundry relatives, small children and other appurtenances of the Maumee district. The crowning feature of the ceremony was the salutation, osculatory in character, delivered by the justice. His bad leg got in the way at an inopportune moment and a disaster was averted only by the presence of mind and heroism of Attorney Hanthorne, who caught the 'squire in time to prevent him from kissing the groom instead of the bride.

Mary Strong has filed an affidavit in Huser's court charging Jacob Soliday with selling liquor on Sunday. Mr. Soliday is the managing editor of a gristmill at or near Academy. The arrest will be made this afternoon.

NASAL CATARRH CURED

Pe-ru-na Cures a Case of Five Years' Standing.

Mr. Rudolph M. Patterson, Chicago, Ill.

Hon. Rudolph M. Patterson, a well-known lawyer, of Chicago, Ill., writes the following letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., at Columbus, Ohio:

The Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio:

Gentlemen:—"I have been a sufferer from nasal catarrh for the past five years, and at the earnest solicitation of a friend I tried Peruna and am glad to say it has afforded a complete cure. It is with pleasure I recommend it to others."—RUDOLPH M. PATTERSON.

Mrs. J. C. Garrett, of 38 West 117th street, New York City, writes:

Mrs. J. C. Garrett.

"This is simply the whole story in a word. I have for years suffered with catarrh, aggravated when I took cold and Peruna cured me. It is indeed a great medicine, and worthy the highest praise, for it is reliable and will never disappoint you."—Mrs. J. C. Garrett.

There are two things that the whole medical profession agree about concerning catarrh. The first is that catarrh is the most prevalent and omnipresent disease to which the people in the United States are subject. All classes of people have it. Those who stay indoors much and those who go outdoors much. Working classes have it and sedentary classes have it.

The doctor finds catarrh to be his constant and ever-present foe. It complicates nearly every disease he is called upon to treat.

The second thing about catarrh on which all doctors agree, is that it is difficult to cure it. Local remedies may give relief but they fail to cure permanently. Sprays or snuffs amount to little or nothing except to give temporary relief.

Catarrh is frequently located in internal organs which cannot be reached by any sort of local treatment. All this is known by every physician.

To devise some systemic internal remedy which would reach catarrh at its source, to eradicate it permanently from the system—this has been the desire of the medical profession for a long time. Forty years ago Dr. Hartman confronted this problem. He believed then that he had solved it. He still believes he has solved it. He cures thousands of people annually. During all these years Peruna has been the remedy upon which he has relied.

It was at first a private prescription, afterwards manufactured expressly for him in large quantities. This remedy, Peruna, is now to be found in every drug-store and nearly every home in the land. It is the only reliable internal remedy ever devised to cure any case of catarrh, however long the case may have been standing.

Mr. Camillus Senne, 257 West 129th street, New York, writes:

Mr. Camillus Senne.

I suffered for three years with catarrh of the head, nose and throat. I tried all kinds of medicine without relief, but at last I have been cured by the wonderful remedy called Peruna.

"I read of Peruna in your almanac, and wrote you for advice, which I followed. After taking one and one-half bottles of Peruna I am entirely cured, and can recommend Peruna to anyone as the best and surest remedy for any catarrhal troubles."—Camillus Senne.

A course of Peruna never fails to bring relief. There is no other remedy like Peruna. Its cures are prompt and permanent.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

DOING IN THE DARK

THAT IS WHAT A GREAT MANY PEOPLE IN FORT WAYNE HAVE BEEN DOING IN REGARD TO MEDICINE.

Read about some far away cures.

Don't know—cannot verify it.

How different with Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills—always able to give local reference.

Mrs. E. Shadle, of No. 34 Baker St., Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "I think Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Meyer Bros. & Co.'s Drug Store, No. 14 Calhoun street, are an excellent nerve tonic. I found them capable of making my nerves strong and of giving me good sound natural sleep—two things I lacked, consequently I am pleased with the medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

Though he doubtless insists that he is the right kind of a democrat, Congressman Wheeler does not believe in free trade in courtesies.

It may be a mere coincidence containing nothing significant, but each time the ransom of Miss Stone is paid M. Santos-Dumont has an accident with his balloon. Santy evidently wants the stage all to himself.

Other cities have their traction troubles, but none like ours. It would seem that reason ought to be able to dictate a course satisfactory to the city and all parties concerned. As fast as one difficulty is disposed of it seems to breed half a dozen new ones.

Woe is upon us and our griefs do multiply. Emperor William is seized of a desire to pay some distinction to the president's daughter and it is said will solicit from her a visit to Germany after her attendance upon the coronation ceremonies in London. 'Tis a desperate state we are in and there is but one Wheeler to rescue us from the impending peril.

It is well known to the people of Fort Wayne that they enjoy the protection of one of the most completely appointed, well-trained, efficient and ably-directed fire departments of any city of this class in the country, yet we feel impelled to specially commend the splendid work at the Mordhurst fire last night. To confine such a fire within its original limits showed work of the highest character. The blaze started midway in a solid block of buildings and that it was not allowed to cause a loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars appears to us to be due to the splendid work of the department. It was a nasty fire and it was well fought.

D. M. Parry, one of the wealthiest manufacturers of Indianapolis, is said to be the recipient of some careful grooming for the next republican vice presidential nomination. At once most republicans, and democrats also, outside Indianapolis, will ask who is Parry. Well, he is Parry, is wealthy, extensively known in his home city and somewhat known over the state. He is a man of large business capacity and high character. His part in politics has not been distinguished, but he doubtless would make a good candidate and doubtless a good vice president. He would bear somewhat the relation to the ticket that Arthur Sewall did to the democratic ticket in 1900. The announcement of that gentleman's nomination gave at least nine of every ten voters who supported the democratic ticket that year their first acquaintance with the name and identity of Mr. Sewall. Yet he was a good man, a good democrat and would have made a good vice president. The strong men of a party are not always those on the higher seats. Mr. Parry is thought to be President Roosevelt's choice.

We have no animosity against any man who is a candidate for office on the democratic ticket. We have no grudge to nurse, no offenses to punish, no spite to pay off. We want to see the democratic party give endorsement to no man of dissolute habits. We want the affairs of Allen county committed to the care of no men who are not sober and in all things worthy. We have no candidates of our own to urge on the party. We desire merely that clean, capable, sober men of correct habits be permitted to claim the votes of the people in the name of the democratic party. We have heretofore said, and with emphasis we repeat, that the support of this newspaper cannot be given to men who drink to excess, make public spectacle of their bestiality and resort commonly in saloons. This newspaper will support the right kind of men for office on the democratic ticket. It will not support the wrong kind of men on that ticket or any other.

Congressman Wheeler's speech in the house against official notice being taken of Prince Henry's visit seems almost ludicrous. If there were any reason to believe his home fences were breached it would be easy to believe he had taken short measure of the intelligence of his constituency and delivered such a speech for home consumption. But in whatever light his bitter diatribe against official notice of the visit of the German prince be viewed, it transcends all decency and common sense. It remains to be shown in what respect the liberties of this country are endangered and the spirit of its institutions are violated by decent behavior to guests who happen to be of royal blood. The nation was proud to honor Lafayette, as was pointed out to the Kentucky representative while he was speaking. The nation accorded all courtesy to the prince of Wales, now the British monarch. It showered attentions and distinctions unnumbered upon Emperor Dom Pedro of Brazil, whom so sturdy a patriot and sensible man as General Grant was pleased to honor in all ways possible. It made the Infanta Eulalia and the Duke de Veragua its special guests for a season when their visit was in all respects official. None of these incidents corrupted our love for our country nor agitated the people into betrayal of anything like flunkeyism. It must be a curious sort of isolation Mr. Wheeler contemplates as the proper course for this nation to maintain if he objects to extension of common courtesy to royal visitors. This nation is the best governed, most prosperous and altogether the happiest on earth, and the more monarchical representatives who come to see all this the better for all the world.

MR GRIGGS' HEAVY LOSS.

New York, Feb. 15—Former Attorney General John W. Griggs lost many thousands of dollars worth of bonds and valuable papers in the Paterson N J fire. After his private safe containing them had been taken from the ruins and the door pried open, the papers suddenly burst into flames and were reduced to ashes. Among the papers were eight unregistered $1,000 bonds. Gartner Stewart, having offices near those of Mr. Griggs, lost $10,000 in the same manner. In the safe of Katz Bros., brewers, were bonds valued at $150,000. When the safe was opened its contents were found to be in ashes.

START BOOM FOR D. M. PARRY

REPUBLICANS SEEK VICE PRESIDENTIAL TIMBER.

Indianapolis Manufacturer in High Favor as a Running Mate for Roosevelt.

Indianapolis, Feb. 15.—D. M. Parry, president of the Parry Manufacturing company, and vice president of the National Manufacturing company, is being urged by Indiana and other friends and politicians to stand for the vice presidential nomination in 1904. The national manufacturers will meet here in May, and Mr. Parry is booked for their president.

Senator Beveridge is supporting Mr. Parry's ambitions and has already notified his political associates and close personal friends that under no circumstances will he allow his name to be used for the vice presidential nomination.

Two weeks ago, in the private executive chamber of the white house, the president jovially slapped Mr. Parry on the back and said: "Parry, how would you like to go on the national ticket with me in 1904?"

Mr. Parry was much surprised and evidently pleased, but only replied: "Mr. President, I am only here to invite you to attend the national convention of American manufacturers, which meets at Indianapolis in May."

The president expressed regret, but said he could not see his way clear to accept the invitation then, but since Mr. Parry's return it has been learned that the president very probably will be here, especially so, because he has expressed interest in the dedication of the soldiers' monument.

Mr. Parry was asked last evening about the vice presidential movement in his favor, and he replied: "I intended that nothing be said about that matter now. I am surprised that it is known. I have had nothing to do with it."

SHOWS VIRGINIA IS LOYAL.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 15.—Great interest is taken in Virginia over the announcement that Governor Montague has changed the color of the uniform of the members of his staff from confederate gray to bright blue. Governor O'Ferrall eight years ago selected with great care a staff uniform that should embody the southern idea of a cavalier and that would be emblematic for all time. His plan is to be changed. A. Wendlinger, a military tailor, now eighty years old, who made the uniforms of Jefferson Davis' staff and of the staff of every governor since then, said the new uniforms would be the finest ever worn in Virginia. The statement that these uniforms will cost $230 each has caused much interest. The idea of adopting the blue instead of the gray is to show that sectional feeling has been wiped out and that Virginia is as loyal to the nation as any of her sister states.

W. E. CLAPHAM VERY ILL.

A telegram from Bloomington, this state, brings the information that Prof. William E. Clapham, of the Indiana University Law school, is seriously ill at his home and may not be able to resume his work this term. He had an attack of grip, and it is thought to be developing into pneumonia. Mr. Clapham is well known in Fort Wayne. He was a former law partner of A. H. Bittenger, in this city.

MEN'S CLUB PROGRAM.

The Men's club of the West Jefferson street Church of Christ have arranged to hold weekly meetings in the church for the period of one year for the study of social and economic topics as well as current events. Next Thursday night the subject will be, "The Origin and History of American Political Parties," each member being assigned ten minutes in which to discuss some features of politics, such as organization, party caucuses, campaigning, etc. Judge Woodhull, a prominent republican of Angola, will address the club at an early date.

BOER EMISSARY WISHES TO AVOID PUBLICITY.

Dr. Mueller Coming to This Country to Promote Aid for Struggling Countrymen.

Brussels, Feb. 15.—It is said that the desire to keep secret the departure of Dr. Mueller, the former consul of the Orange Free State in Holland, for the United States was so keen that the Boer emissary booked his passage under an assumed name.

According to information from responsible Boer quarters Mr. Kruger's letter to President Roosevelt, of which Dr. Mueller is the bearer, does not appeal for intervention, but expresses regret that he is unable at present to personally congratulate President Roosevelt on his accession to office and concludes with a gratified allusion to the numerous invitations to visit the great republic which have arrived and are still arriving.

Besides reorganizing the Boer propaganda in the United States, Dr. Mueller will direct his efforts principally to obtaining government prohibition of the exportation of articles regarded by the Boers as contraband of war, thus indirectly eliciting an opinion on the war from the United States government.

Dr. Mueller is supported by wealthy Boer sympathizers in Europe and has great hopes regarding the result of his mission.

THE LAST HEARD OF IT.

"My little boy took the croup one night and soon grew so bad you could hear him breathe all over the house," says F. D. Reynolds, Mansfield, O. "We feared he would die, but a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure quickly relieved him and he went to sleep. That's the last we heard of the croup. Now isn't a cough cure like that valuable?" One Minute Cough Cure is absolutely safe and acts immediately. For coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis and all other throat and lung troubles it is a certain cure. Very pleasant to take. Sale of Sample Brass Trimmed Beds.

..The One Chance of a Lifetime..

They will be sold to our customers at exactly the prices put upon them at the Exposition—the lowest prices at which the largest merchants of the country bought them.

.....YOU SAVE FULLY ONE-THIRD IN PRICE.....

You have the advantage of getting the new spring styles, not yet being shown at retail any where.

There is but one Bed of a kind, but there are one hundred and fifty different styles. You never had a chance to pick out your bed from such an enormous assortment. Beds sent to an Exposition are always superbly finished, so you also secure that advantage. If you want first choice in this great sale, be on hand at

...EIGHT O'CLOCK A. M. WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1902...

When this Picnic of prices will commence. We hope to sell every bed the first day. In order to give our country customers a chance to secure some of these beds, this advertisement is inserted in the weekly edition of our newspapers the week preceding the sale.

Some of these beds are very fine, such as we usually sell at $30 to $35, but none will be sold for over $19. From that price they will run down to $1.90 for the cheapest, so you will be able to select a bed at most any price you want, between the two prices given, providing you are on hand before the one you want is sold.

THESE BEDS WILL BE SOLD ONLY FOR CASH BEFORE DELIVERY.

The slight advance over the low cost of this special lot of beds at which we shall sell them will not permit of any loss of interest upon the account. But, to accommodate any who may not have all the ready money on the day of sale we will permit them to make a partial payment on what they may select, the balance to be paid on delivery of the goods any time within 60 days.

All we make upon them is the discount we were enabled to get from the manufacturers, who desired to sell their samples to us rather than go to the expense of packing and shipping them a long distance back to the factory at the close of the Exposition.

The Original Exposition Ticket will be on the Beds with prices marked in plain figures, just as they were sold to the largest dealers of the country, and these prices will be the ones at which you shall buy them. You will be able to wait upon yourself at this sale. There will be nothing in the rooms but these beds and the price will be upon each, in plain figures.

We have no space in our regular salesrooms for this enormous lot of beds, in addition to our regular stock, and we have decided therefore to set them up and show and sell them in the two empty store-rooms in the Foster Block on Court street, immediately south of our own double store Entrance on Court street. It will take both these rooms to hold them.

We anticipate some disappointments at this sale because of their being but one bed of a kind. Duplicates would cost just one-third more in price.

If two persons, at the same time, select the same bed, we will provide that cuts shall be drawn to decide which shall have the preference.

None sold before the morning of the sale. Except in urgent cases we will not agree to deliver the beds sold until the following day.

The store rooms used for this temporary sale will be heated and made comfortable.

This special sale of Sample Exposition Beds will be followed within a few days by another sale of an Exposition sample line of Chairs, Rockers and Polished Wood Seat Parlor Suits, of one of the largest manufacturers in the world.

There will be of these but one of a kind, but there will be three hundred different styles.

That sale, to be announced later, will be another Red Letter day in the Furniture Trade of this city.

In closing this announcement let us simply say that if you have a bedroom to newly furnish any time within five years, DO IT NOW.

Don't Forget the Day, Wednesday, February 19th.

Delicately formed and gently reared, women will find, in all the seasons of their lives, as maids or wives or mothers, that the one simple, wholesome remedy which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally, and which may be used with truly beneficial effects, under any conditions, when the system needs a laxative—is—Syrup of Figs. It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant, aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired.

Many of the ills from which women suffer are of a transient nature and do not come from any organic trouble and it is pleasant to know that they yield so promptly to the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs, but when anything more than a laxative is needed it is best to consult the family physician and to avoid the old-time cathartics and loudly advertised nostrums of the present day. When one needs only to remove the strain, the torpor, the congestion, or similar ills, which attend upon a constipated condition of the system, use the true and gentle remedy—Syrup of Figs—and enjoy freedom from the depression, the aches and pains, colds and headaches, which are due to inactivity of the bowels.

Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs can hope to get its beneficial effects and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy the full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. The genuine article may be bought of all reliable druggists everywhere at 50 cents per bottle.

MEETING OF LUTHERAN DELEGATES SUNDAY.

Project Viewed With Favor in All Churches to be Represented at the Meeting.

A meeting of Lutheran delegates to consider the plan of erecting a Lutheran hospital in Fort Wayne, will be held on Sunday afternoon in St. Paul's school hall and about seventy-five delegates will be in attendance. About thirty churches will be represented at the meeting, the district including all Lutheran churches within a radius of twenty miles of Fort Wayne. Each church is entitled to three delegates, a minister and two voters of the congregation.

The plan as outlined in The Sentinel some time ago, is to erect and equip a building to be equal in every respect to Hope and St. Joseph hospitals at a cost estimated at between $25,000 and $50,000. In nearly all of the churches to be represented at the meeting, the sentiment is decidedly in favor of the project and there is every indication that the hospital will be built. The institution will be under the control of a Lutheran board of trustees and supported by the Lutheran churches in Fort Wayne and vicinity. It will be open to the use of the public, and the hospital staff will be chosen from the best medical talent in Fort Wayne.

If the project receives a majority vote, a hospital association will be formed, which will have full control of securing funds, procuring a suitable site and attending to all the details of the work.

COL. H. W. J. HAM TONIGHT.

Col. H. W. J. Ham, of Gainsville, Ga., one of the most noted humorists in America will be heard this evening at the West Jefferson street Church of Christ. Col. Ham's subject will be "The Snollygoster in Politics," a lecture most highly spoken of wherever it has been delivered.

TEETH AND FOOD.

A Help in Time of Need.

Sometimes bad teeth cause illness, particularly when they are not fit to masticate food. A man in Ada, Ohio, had all of his teeth drawn. He was sick with indigestion and lack of vitality and his teeth were in a bad condition. He expected, with a new complete set of teeth to regain his health by thoroughly chewing his food, but he had an experience that is well worth knowing of.

"Instead of improving I continued to lose strength," he says, "until I was a mere moving skeleton. I tried a number of prepared foods, but none of them helped me until I got Grape-Nuts. The flavor pleased my palate at once. I soaked the food in cream and got along with it nicely. Within a few days I noticed that I was not so tired and jaded. Gradually I grew stronger, so I left off all other foods and took only Grape-Nuts.

"My old-time vigor came back and in two months I gained seventeen pounds. This was remarkable, for I am of spare build. Now I sleep and feel wonderfully well.

"Inasmuch as I am doing so nicely without teeth, I have concluded to wait until my gums have finished shrinking before having a set made. I don't believe I could have gone through the drain on my system had it not been for Grape-Nuts. There is no doubt about the life-giving and nerve-building force of that food. I talk Grape-Nuts to all of my friends." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Gray Hair

Ayer's Hair Vigor doesn't suddenly restore color to your gray hair; but gradually the old color comes back—all the dark, rich color it used to have. It stops falling of the hair, too, and will often make the hair grow to be very long and heavy.

"Ayer's Hair Vigor is certainly wonderful. It has restored the natural color to my gray hair and has made a splendid new growth."—Miss Emma Calder, New York City.

THE TERRORS OF DYSPEPSIA.

The terrors of dyspepsia—it's unnecessary to describe them. Nine men out of ten are intimately acquainted with them, and are only too thankful when they don't have to think of them all the time. Someone has described dyspepsia as a disease that dogs its victim through life with fiendish malignity, playing with him as a cat does a mouse, but never making an end of him. It tortures without killing him. But not always—it won't do to be sure of even that much. Those who have strong constitutions can bear up for a time under the wearing tortures of nervous dyspepsia, but dyspepsia gradually brings on catarrh. Catarrh brings on consumption, and consumption is merely another term for that grim destroyer—death. It doesn't pay to trifle with dyspepsia—it don't pay to deceive yourself with a false feeling of security. Peptorene, the Health Tablet, is for ailing stomachs. It cures dyspepsia and brings tonic relief to the poor, jaded nerves of the stomach, gives new life to the dormant tissues of the liver, and relieves the bowels of their congested load of poison. It acts as a combined tonic and a natural aid to digestion. If you want a medicine that will give quick relief to even an advanced case of dyspepsia, call at once for a box of Peptorene Tablets.

Manufactured by the Battle Creek Health Tablet Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich. 25c per box. Write for free trial treatment. For sale by Pellens & Polster, Meyer Bros. & Co., Wm. L. Waltemath and A. C. Gocke.

Offences against the laws of health are punished rigorously and inevitably by nature. A man may break civil laws and escape punishment. But the man who transgresses nature's law of health cannot escape the penalty. Many a man is to-day a prisoner for life, because of his outrage of the laws upon which health is conditioned. He sits idly in his chair torn by coughing spells and gasping for breath. The handkerchief which wipes his lips shows a red stain. He is slowly wasting away.

Weak lungs, obstinate coughs, spitting of blood, weakness and emaciation are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Thousands who have been cured by this medicine attest the fact.

Sick people are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." The sole motive for substitution is to enable the dealer to make the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines.

"Three years ago I had the grip," writes Mrs. Tillie Linney, of Gravel Switch, Marion Co., Kentucky. "It settled on my lungs, and the doctor said I had consumption. I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and am thankful to say I am entirely well. You may print this letter if you see fit to do so."

SOUTHWESTERN INTERURBAN IS NOT SATISFIED.

Council Cuts Life of Grant to Thirty Years, Which Company Says Cannot Be Accepted.

The city council in session last night as a committee of the whole agreed upon a revised franchise for the Southwestern Traction company which the company's attorney, N. D. Doughman, speaking authoritatively, said in unequivocal language his company would not accept if it could, could not accept if it would. The terms of the franchise as agreed upon cuts the original life from fifty to thirty years; cuts off the right to use trailers except by special permission of the board of works; limits freight to package freight exclusively; binds the company to pay all damages arising from electrolysis, and besides changes the running schedule of cars to two cars per hour, commencing at 5 a. m., continues the service to 12 midnight each day, and gives to the city absolute proprietorship as soon as the line is completed, the builders to accept one-half the cost of construction in rentals as full payment for the advance of the property to the city.

At 8 o'clock last night there wasn't a councilman visible to the naked eye anywhere around the council chamber, but at 8:15 Mayor Berghoff rapped for attention and in a minute all the members were in their seats excepting Foellinger, Gerding, O'Ryan and Zurbuch. The mayor asked the pleasure of the council, when Bauer moved to go into committee of the whole to consider the street car franchise of the Southwestern Traction company, left over from the session Tuesday night. The motion was seconded, whereupon Hench inquired whether the intention was to make the committee meeting an executive session or an open meeting. Kohrman took the responsibility of taking the question off the hands of the mover and the mayor by saying that it should be an executive session and nothing else. When the proposition was put to vote Kohrman was the only member who voted for a secret session; he squirmed some, took a broadside shot at the reporters in general and then subsided. The mayor on relinquishing his seat said he presumed that Scheid, the previous chairman, would again preside, and afterwards Hench was made secretary with Miller assistant.

Miller moved to take up the business where it was left off, namely commencing at the fifth section of the presented contract. Bauer then took the floor and in a short speech said that such a procedure would be pure folly, since he had been informed upon reliable authority that the Southwestern company would not accept the franchise as already amended at the previous session and that to continue along the line outlined would be simply a waste of time. He dilated and said that the question had been discussed and "cussed," that committees had met time and time again, that the Chicago-Harrison street route had been turned down, that the Brackenridge route had met the same fate and that as a last resort the council thought it had solved the question by agreeing on the Ewing street route, but saw fit to reduce the life of the franchise from 50 to 30 years and now the company rejected the whole proposition; only one thing was left for the council to do and that was to force the Fort Wayne Traction and Southwestern Traction companies to mutual terms. He went on to state that he had no love for the Fort Wayne company, but had a love for the interests of the city and thought that the proper thing to do was to tell the several companies "where they are at." His proposition was to double track Broadway and West Main street and give the companies equal rights on the tracks and allow the Southwestern to diverge from the double track at any point to reach Pearl street, included in the original franchise and allow the loop problem to be settled in the future. He said that while the two companies had no love for each other he believed that if the councilmen—the public servants—took the matter into their own hands and told the companies what they had to do, instead of allowing the companies to tell the council what to do, the public interests would be most speedily subserved; he added that if this arrangement could be made then he would be willing to vote for the Fort Wayne company some of the extensions asked for. He concluded by making a motion that a committee of five be appointed to bring about such an agreement between the two companies. Kohrman was on his feet in an instant with a declaration that he did not see how that arrangement would benefit the Eighth ward, but was reminded that no franchise was pending affecting Eighth ward territory, whereupon he once more subsided.

Bauer's speech was warmly applauded by the lobby, which was well filled, mostly by Fourth warders, but it did not meet with the same hearty reception inside the railing. Hosey said that Attorney Doughman, the accredited representative of the Southwestern company, was in the room; that he had agreed to the Ewing street proposition before and could not understand why it had so suddenly grown objectionable. Attorney Doughman took the floor and said that it was not the route, but the term of the franchise that made it imposable for his company to accept. He called the attention of the council to the fact that nearly the entire portion of the line inside the city limits would become the property of the city immediately upon completion and that all the company asked was the right to run its cars over that line for a term of fifty years at the city's own terms, but that the company wanted that right vouchsafed. That the bonds of the company were based on a fifty-year franchise and that they did not commence maturing until the expiration of thirty years; that the company could not sell a bond with the proviso that before maturity the Fort Wayne terminal might be clipped off at the city limits; that the company would make more money by abandoning its Fort Wayne end of the line and diverting its capital in other directions; that the line was losing its owners from $50 to $100 a day, and the loss was not at the Huntington but at the Fort Wayne end of the road; that the owners were here a week ago prepared to invest a million dollars in roads leading to Fort Wayne, but went away discouraged, and until the question was settled would not invest another dollar; that the company wanted the city to say something positively—to either grant the company an acceptable franchise or turn it down; that either decision would be more acceptable than a protracted period of indecision, and finally that under no circumstances could the company accept a thirty-year franchise under the conditions proposed, and that to further consider it would be simply a waste of time.

Miller objected to the committee idea to talk double track on Broadway and Sordelet said he felt like going ahead with the revision of the franchise and finish it and if the Southwestern didn't like it, then let them take the original Pearl street entrance, via Fulton street. He therefore moved to amend Bauer's motion by proceeding from the point where the committee left off on Tuesday night. In spite of the opposition of Bauer and others, Hench and Ehrman talking in favor of it, the amendment prevailed and the order was to proceed to consider the proposition. The clerk then proceeded to read the franchise section by section and the whole document was approved after being amended as above detailed.

The council then reconvened when a motion was made to refer the amended franchise to the board of works for approval in contract from, which caused Mr. Doughman to again remark that there was no use in so referring it, since he was in a position to state positively that his company would not agree to it and would not sign it on a thirty year basis. On a vote the franchise was referred according to the motion, Messrs. Baade, Bauer, Glenn and Griebel voting in the negative, Messrs. Bauer and Scheid explaining their votes.

After hearing a report from Mr. Hosey asking for further time to examine into the merits of a "tax ferret" enterprise, the council adjourned.

STUDEBAKERS BUILD AUTOS.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 15.—The Studebaker Brothers' Manufacturing company has leased the Chockelt building and will utilize the same for the exclusive manufacture of automobiles. H. D. Johnson, superintendent and general manager of the company, leaves tomorrow for Chicago to complete arrangements. William J. Hunker, formerly superintendent of the South Bend Electric company, will have charge of the electrical work. The plan of the Studebaker company is to make its automobile factory the largest and most complete in the United States. It also expects to be able to compete with the factories of France.

A NIGHT IN VIENNA.

Shober's First Regiment band will give an entertainment entitled, "A Night in Vienna," in Saengerbund hall on Thursday evening, Feb. 27th. The hall will be arranged to represent a cafe in Vienna during the time of the winter festival and tables and chairs will occupy the floor, while attendants will look after the wants of the guests. The band will play a concert program, at the conclusion of which there will be a dance.

OLD TIMERS FACE THE COURT

QUARTET OF CLASSIC BOOZERS SENT TO JAIL.

Two Had Not Given Prison Soil of Former Confinements the Shake —Police News.

Judge Louttit was faced this morning by a quartet who often faced the music before and most of whom have been the recipients of undeserved leniency at the hands of the tender hearted judge.

Fred Wade was up yesterday morning and was given an hour to leave town after a soft speech, which nearly melted hizzoner into a reservoir of tears. Last evening Wade was found at the south depot drunker than usual and working his hobo racket and a crippled leg racket to beat the band. He got 15 days.

Scotty White got out of jail yesterday morning and was picked up by Superintendent Gorsline again last evening. Scotty is tough and was very drunk when arrested and it was only after he confessed that he had just got out of jail that the judge agreed to soak him for 15 days more.

Ed McGuire, dear old Ed, who hasn't been here for two years, broke into the calaboose again last night. He was with Wade and was doing the hold-up act with much regularity when he ran into Coling and Gorsline. He confidentially told the superintendent that he had kept out of reach of Fort Wayne for a couple of years, but that word had gone down the line that the town was getting easy again and that "the little fat mayor" was no longer it, he thought he'd take a chance and come back. He did not have much to say when called upon for a speech by Judge Louttit, and smiled when the judge told him it would be eleven days.

Jacob Schoop, "Old Jake," admitted that he got "a snootful" yesterday and never made a kick when the judge sent him over the track for eleven days. "Goot feedin', ennyway," was Jake's laconic comment as he waltzed down stairs.

Hugh P. O'Reilley was considerably startled yesterday morning when he opened his saloon at the corner of Main and Calhoun streets, to find two well known young men occupying chairs in the place and making themselves at home. A quantity of whisky and cigars and seventy-five cents in money from the till is all he claims was missing. The matter was hushed up, notwithstanding the fact that the young men had kicked the door in and that the proprietor was pretty angry. No arrests.

The Lapoint family of three, professional beggars, are again in town, but have not yet been rounded up by the police. The officers have been instructed to bring them in as soon as found and they will be given a term on the stone pile, women and all. They are a tough, dirty and insolent crowd.

Mrs. Dryden, the woman who lost her pocketbook containing $9.50 night before last, was sent to Chicago yesterday by Trustee Schirmeyer.

William Fredericks reports that his peanut merchant had his front caved in last night and all the pennies are missing. So is most of the machine.

A bad gas leak in front of the lot at No. 40 East Pontiac street, was reported last night.

Superintendent Gorsline today forwarded to the National identification bureau 55 pictures of criminals with their Bertillon measurements, all taken since the adoption of the system here last August. The crimes charged include burglary, housebreaking, grand larceny, petit larceny, assault to kill, murder, forgery, confidence games, robbery, blackmail and sodomy.

London, Feb. 15.—William Waldorf Astor, as a preliminary to going in for horse racing, has registered his colors under the jockey club rules. They are light blue, with pink sash and cap.

SAVED HIM FROM TORTURE.

There is no more agonizing trouble than piles. The constant itching and burning makes life intolerable. No position is comfortable. The torture is unceasing. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures piles at once. For skin diseases, cuts, burns, bruises, all kinds of wounds it is unequalled. J. S. Gerall, St. Paul, Ark., says: "From 1865 I suffered with the protruding, bleeding piles and could find nothing to help me until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes completely cured me." Beware of counterfeits. Meyer Bros. & Co.

PLAN TO FIGHT STEEL TRUST.

New York, Feb. 15.—The incorporation at Albany yesterday of the Lackawanna Steel company, with a capital of $40,000,000, to manufacture iron, steel and other metals, to own lumber lands, furnaces, mills, elevators, waterworks, etc., is regarded as highly significant of a Vanderbilt intention to fight the steel trust. The additional fact that H. McK. Twombly and D. O. Mills, of New York, and H. A. C. Taylor, of Newport, are in the directory of the new corporation, adds weight to the Wall street view. The Lackawanna Iron and Steel company, of Pennsylvania, which is the parent company of the Albany corporation, was organized in Pennsylvania in 1884. It owns extensive iron and steel works at Scranton and blast furnaces at Lebanon, Pa. In 1900 it purchased land for the erection of a giant steel rail and billet plant at Stony Point, west of Buffalo, with a capacity of 1,000,000 tons of steel a year. The capital of the parent company is $25,000,000.

Dr PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

Dr. Price's Baking Powder supplies a pure, wholesome leavening agent, which makes the biscuit and cake of highest healthfulness at medium cost and protects the food from alum, which is the greatest dietary danger of the day.

The foremost baking powder in all the world.

NOTE.—Alum baking powders are low priced, as alum costs but two cents a pound; but alum is a corrosive poison and it renders the baking powder dangerous to use in food.

DR. D. W. MOFFAT IS HOME.

Rev. D. W. Moffat, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, returned last evening from Washington, D. C., where he attended the sessions of the creed revision committee, of which committee he is a member. The committee has prepared a report which will be presented at the next meeting of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church.

Neuralgia

Omega Oil Neuralgia is a disease of the nerves, the doctors say. No one knows positively, because it is pretty hard to tell sometimes just what causes any kind of pain. One thing is certain, however. That is Omega Oil. It cures Neuralgia. It cures by putting the nerves to sleep. It is believed to be the only external cure known for Neuralgia. Every internal neuralgia medicine is strong and dangerous. Omega Oil cures from the outside, and there is no risk or danger in using it. 7tf

Though he doubtless insists that he is the right kind of a democrat, Congressman Wheeler does not believe in free trade in courtesies.

It may be a mere coincidence containing nothing significant, but each time the ransom of Miss Stone is paid M. Santos-Dumont has an accident with his balloon. Santy evidently wants the stage all to himself.

Other cities have their traction troubles, but none like ours. It would seem that reason ought to be able to dictate a course satisfactory to the city and all parties concerned. As fast as one difficulty is disposed of it seems to breed half a dozen new ones.

Woe is upon us and our griefs do multiply. Emperor William is seized of a desire to pay some distinction to the president's daughter and it is said will solicit from her a visit to Germany after her attendance upon the coronation ceremonies in London. 'Tis a desperate state we are in and there is but one Wheeler to rescue us from the impending peril.

It is well known to the people of Fort Wayne that they enjoy the protection of one of the most completely appointed, well-trained, efficient and ably-directed fire departments of any city of this class in the country, yet we feel impelled to specially commend the splendid work at the Mordhurst fire last night. To confine such a fire within its original limits showed work of the highest character. The blaze started midway in a solid block of buildings and that it was not allowed to cause a loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars appears to us to be due to the splendid work of the department. It was a nasty fire and it was well fought.

D. M. Parry, one of the wealthiest manufacturers of Indianapolis, is said to be the recipient of some careful grooming for the next republican vice presidential nomination. At once most republicans, and democrats also, outside Indianapolis, will ask who is Parry. Well, he is Parry, is wealthy, extensively known in his home city and somewhat known over the state. He is a man of large business capacity and high character. His part in politics has not been distinguished, but he doubtless would make a good candidate and doubtless a good vice president. He would bear somewhat the relation to the ticket that Arthur Sewall did to the democratic ticket in 1896. The announcement of that gentleman's nomination gave at least nine of every ten voters who supported the democratic ticket that year their first acquaintance with the name and identity of Mr. Sewall. Yet he was a good man, a good democrat and would have made a good vice president. The strong men of a party are not always those on the higher seats. Mr. Parry is thought to be President Roosevelt's choice.

We have no animosity against any man who is a candidate for office on the democratic ticket. We have no grudge to nurse, no offenses to punish, no spite to pay off. We want to see the democratic party give endorsement to no man of dissolute habits. We want the affairs of Allen county committed to the care of no men who are not sober and in all things worthy. We have no candidates of our own to urge on the party. We desire merely that clean, capable, sober men of correct habits be permitted to claim the votes of the people in the name of the democratic party. We have heretofore said, and with emphasis we repeat, that the support of this newspaper cannot be given to men who drink to excess, make public spectacle of their bestiality and resort commonly in saloons. This newspaper will support the right kind of men for office on the democratic ticket. It will not support the wrong kind of men on that ticket or any other.

Congressman Wheeler's speech in the house against official notice being taken of Prince Henry's visit seems almost ludicrous. If there were any reason to believe his home fences were breached it would be easy to believe he had taken short measure of the intelligence of his constituency and delivered such a speech for home consumption. But in whatever light his bitter diatribe against official notice of the visit of the German prince be viewed, it transcends all decency and common sense. It remains to be shown in what respect the liberties of this country are endangered and the spirit of its institutions are violated by decent behavior to guests who happen to be of royal blood. The nation was proud to honor Lafayette, as was pointed out to the Kentucky representative while he was speaking. The nation accorded all courtesy to the prince of Wales, now the British monarch. It showered attentions and distinctions unnumbered upon Emperor Dom Pedro of Brazil, whom so sturdy a patriot and sensible man as General Grant was pleased to honor in all ways possible. It made the Infanta Eulalia and the Duke de Veragua its special guests for a season when their visit was in all respects official. None of these incidents corrupted our love for our country nor agitated the people into betrayal of anything like flunkeyism. It must be a curious sort of isolation Mr. Wheeler contemplates as the proper course for this nation to maintain if he objects to extension of common courtesy to royal visitors. This nation is the best governed, most prosperous and altogether the happiest on earth, and the more monarchical representatives who come to see all this the better for all the world.

MR. GRIGGS' HEAVY LOSS.

New York, Feb. 15.—Former Attorney General John W. Griggs lost many thousands of dollars worth of bonds and valuable papers in the Paterson, N. J. fire. After his private safe containing them had been taken from the ruins and the door pried open, the papers suddenly burst into flames and were reduced to ashes. Among the papers were eight unregistered $1,000 bonds, Gartner Stewart, having offices near those of Mr. Griggs, lost $10,000 in the same manner. In the safe of Katz Bros., brewers, were bonds valued at $150,000. When the safe was opened its contents were found to be in ashes.

START BOOM FOR D. M. PARRY

REPUBLICANS SEEK VICE PRESIDENTIAL TIMBER.

Indianapolis Manufacturer in High Favor as a Running Mate for Roosevelt.

Indianapolis, Feb. 15.—D. M. Parry, president of the Parry Manufacturing company, and vice president of the National Manufacturing company, is being urged by Indiana and other friends and politicians to stand for the vice presidential nomination in 1904. The national manufacturers will meet here in May, and Mr. Parry is booked for their president.

Senator Beveridge is supporting Mr. Parry's ambitions and has already notified his political associates and close personal friends that under no circumstances will he allow his name to be used for the vice presidential nomination.

Two weeks ago, in the private executive chamber of the white house, the president jovially slapped Mr. Parry on the back and said: "Parry, how would you like to go on the national ticket with me in 1904?"

Mr. Parry was much surprised and evidently pleased, but only replied: "Mr. President, I am only here to invite you to attend the national convention of American manufacturers, which meets at Indianapolis in May."

The president expressed regret, but said he could not see his way clear to accept the invitation then, but since Mr. Parry's return it has been learned that the president very probably will be here, especially so, because he has expressed interest in the dedication of the soldiers' monument.

Mr. Parry was asked last evening about the vice presidential movement in his favor, and he replied: "I intended that nothing be said about that matter now. I am surprised that it is known. I have had nothing to do with it."

SHOWS VIRGINIA IS LOYAL.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 15.—Great interest is taken in Virginia over the announcement that Governor Montague has changed the color of the uniform of the members of his staff from confederate gray to bright blue. Governor O'Ferrall eight years ago selected with great care a staff uniform that should embody the southern idea of a cavalier and that would be emblematic for all time. His plan is to be changed. A. Wendlinger, a military tailor, now eighty years old, who made the uniforms of Jefferson Davis' staff and of the staff of every governor since then, said the new uniforms would be the finest ever worn in Virginia. The statement that these uniforms will cost $230 each has caused much interest. The idea of adopting the blue instead of the gray is to show that sectional feeling has been wiped out and that Virginia is as loyal to the nation as any of her sister states.

W. E. CLAPHAM VERY ILL.

A telegram from Bloomington, this state, brings the information that Prof. William E. Clapham, of the Indiana University Law school, is seriously ill at his home and may not be able to resume his work this term. He had an attack of grip, and it is thought to be developing into pneumonia. Mr. Clapham is well known in Fort Wayne. He was a former law partner of A. H. Bittenger, in this city.

MEN'S CLUB PROGRAM.

The Men's club of the West Jefferson street Church of Christ have arranged to hold weekly meetings in the church for the period of one year for the study of social and economic topics as well as current events. Next Thursday night the subject will be, "The Origin and History of American Political Parties," each member being assigned ten minutes in which to discuss some features of politics, such as organization, party caucuses, campaigning, etc. Judge Woodhull, a prominent republican of Angola, will address the club at an early date.

HE TAKES AN ASSUMED NAME

BOER EMISSARY WISHES TO AVOID PUBLICITY.

Dr. Mueller Coming to This Country to Promote Aid for Struggling Countrymen.

Brussels, Feb. 15.—It is said that the desire to keep secret the departure of Dr. Mueller, the former consul of the Orange Free State in Holland, for the United States was so keen that the Boer emissary booked his passage under an assumed name.

According to information from responsible Boer quarters Mr. Kruger's letter to President Roosevelt, of which Dr. Mueller is the bearer, does not appeal for intervention, but expresses regret that he is unable at present to personally congratulate President Roosevelt on his accession to office and concludes with a gratified allusion to the numerous invitations to visit the great republic which have arrived and are still arriving.

Besides reorganizing the Boer propaganda in the United States, Dr. Mueller will direct his efforts principally to obtaining government prohibition of the exportation of articles regarded by the Boers as contraband of war, thus indirectly eliciting an opinion on the war from the United States government.

Dr. Mueller is supported by wealthy Boer sympathizers in Europe and has great hopes regarding the result of his mission.

THE LAST HEARD OF IT.

"My little boy took the croup one night and soon grew so bad you could hear him breathe all over the house," says F. D. Reynolds, Mansfield, O. "We feared he would die, but a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure quickly relieved him and he went to sleep. That's the last we heard of the croup. Now isn't a cough cure like that valuable?" One Minute Cough Cure is absolutely safe and acts immediately. For coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis and all other throat and lung troubles it is a certain cure. Very pleasant to take. The little ones like it. Meyer Bros. & Co.

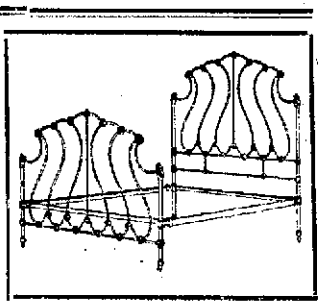
Sale of Sample Brass Trimmed Beds.



..The One Chance of a Lifetime..

They will be sold to our customers at exactly the prices put upon them at the Exposition—the lowest prices at which the largest merchants of the country bought them.

.....YOU SAVE FULLY ONE-THIRD IN PRICE.....

You have the advantage of getting the new spring styles, not yet being shown at retail any where.

There is but one Bed of a kind, but there are one hundred and fifty different styles. You never had a chance to pick out your bed from such an enormous assortment. Beds sent to an Exposition are always superbly finished, so you also secure that advantage. If you want first choice in this great sale, be on hand at

...EIGHT O'CLOCK A. M. WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1902...

When this Picnic of prices will commence. We hope to sell every bed the first day. In order to give our country customers a chance to secure some of these beds, this advertisement is inserted in the weekly edition of our newspapers the week preceding the sale.

Some of these beds are very fine, such as we usually sell at $30 to $35, but none will be sold for over $19. From that price they will run down to $1.99 for the cheapest, so you will be able to select a bed at most any price you want, between the two prices given, providing you are on hand before the one you want is sold.

THESE BEDS WILL BE SOLD ONLY FOR CASH BEFORE DELIVERY.

The slight advance over the low cost of this special lot of beds at which we shall sell them will not permit of any loss of interest upon the account. But, to accommodate any who may not have all the ready money on the day of sale we will permit them to make a partial payment on what they may select, the balance to be paid on delivery of the goods any time within 60 days.

All we make upon them in the discount we were enabled to get from the manufacturers, who desired to sell their samples to us rather than go to the expense of packing and shipping them a long distance back to the factory at the close of the Exposition.

The Original Exposition Ticket will be on the Beds with prices marked in plain figures, just as they were sold to the largest dealers of the country, and these prices will be the ones at which you shall buy them. You will be able to wait upon yourself at this sale. There will be nothing in the rooms but these beds and the price will be upon each, in plain figures.

We have no space in our regular salesrooms for this enormous lot of beds, in addition to our regular stock, and we have decided therefore to set them up and show and sell them in the two empty store-rooms in the Foster Block on Court street, immediately south of our own double store. Entrance on Court street. It will take both these rooms to hold them.

We anticipate some disappointments at this sale because of their being but one bed of a kind. Duplicates would cost just one-third more in price.

If two persons, at the same time, select the same bed, we will provide that one shall be drawn to decide which shall have the preference.

None sold before the morning of the sale. Except in urgent cases we will not agree to deliver the beds sold until the following day.

The store rooms used for this temporary sale will be heated and made comfortable.

This special sale of Sample Exposition Beds will be followed within a few days by another sale of an Exposition sample line of Chairs, Rockers and Polished Wood Seat Parlor Suits, of one of the largest manufacturers in the world.

There will be of these but one of a kind, but there will be three hundred different styles.

In closing this announcement let us simply say that if you have a bedroom to newly furnish any time within five years, DO IT NOW.

Don't Forget the Day, Wednesday, February 19th.

GENERAL NEWS OF THE STATE OF INDIANA.

Hammond, Ind., Feb. 15.—Willie Nowak, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nowak, of this city, deliberately set fire to the clothing of his baby sister and watched her burn to death. When the parents arose and the father, a fireman, had gone to daily labors, the mother reprimanded the boy for some trifling fault and locked both children in the kitchen while she went to a grocery store. In one corner of the kitchen was a cupboard, on the shelf of which was stored matches. The mother was absent about fifteen minutes. When she returned and opened the kitchen door the sickening smell of burning flesh almost overpowered her. On the floor lay the 15-months-old girl, writhing in pain and burned almost beyond recognition. Standing near by was her little brother watching the flames, which had begun to eat into the pine floor of the room. The boy, who is precocious and talkative, said at the inquest that he had lighted the baby's clothes. He exhibited no grief upon being shown the charred body.

PREDICTS NEELY'S ACQUITTAL.

Muncie, Ind., Feb. 15.—Clarence Russey, nephew of Charles F. W. Neely, the alleged embezzler of the Cuban postal funds, who is now on trial, said in an interview, Thursday afternoon: "Things look hopeful for Neely, and his friends feel that he can not help being acquitted. The government has failed absolutely to prove anything, and all the evidence thus far has been in favor of Neely. Another thing favorable to Neely is the change in public sentiment, and in the expressions of the press of Cuba and the prominent public men of the island. They have nearly all begun to realize that an error has been committed, and are not nearly as anxious to prophesy a conviction as they were before the examination of witnesses began." Russey, until about three months ago, was with Neely constantly from the time of the latter's arrest, acting as his uncle's right-hand man in the conduct of Neely's affairs. For three months he has remained here, and probably will not return to Cuba unless he is needed.

PENSIONS FOR INDIANIANS.

Increase, Restoration, Reissue, etc.—James W. Negley, McCordsville, $12; Jas. S. Wood, dead, Hillsboro, $12; Wiley Kinnett, Franklin, $10; Thomas Baird, Jonesboro, $10; George W. Bradley, Birdseye, $17; James Corsen, Indianapolis, $10; Geo. N. Anderson, Fowler, $17; Robert F. Watson, Runyan, $17; William T. Shepherd New Richmond, $14; John Dimmitt, Idaville $12; James R. Scales Selvin, $12; George F. Robertson, Boonville, $10; Cyrus Pumphrey, Rugby, $17; Levi J. Fleetwood, Tipton $8; William J. Anadell, Jeffersonville, $10; William M. Ferguson, Newark, $12; Edmond L. Lenc, Anderson, $14; John F. Russell, Plainville, $17.

SHORTAGE DUE TO PUMPING.

Alexandria, Ind., Feb. 15.—The people of Alexandria are interested in a case brought by the people of Newcastle against the Richmond Gas company, which is being heard at Anderson. An injunction is sought to prevent the company from operating a pumping station, which was moved from Chesterfield to Henry county. W. L. Addington, an expert engineer, has been going over the ground, comparing the operations of large and small pumping stations, and he found that the smaller plants could not keep up the pressure when the larger ones were operated. This accounts for the shortage of gas at Anderson and Alexandria, the gas going to Chicago instead of reaching consumers here. The homes here are getting a better supply than the factories.

INDIANA GIRL KILLS HERSELF.

Hartford City, Ind., Feb. 14.—Jessie Harding, aged 18, died yesterday at her home near Liberty Center, from the effects of morphine taken with suicidal intent. Recently she had her fortune told, and, according to what relatives say, she was informed that her life was doomed to everlasting torment on earth. Brooding over this and because of a disappointment in love, the girl became despondent and committed suicide.

INVESTED IN STREETER'S TRACT.

Marion, Ind., Feb. 15.—It has just come to light that a number of Marion men were taken in on the real estate proposition of Capt. George W. Streeter, the "squatter sovereign" of the lake-front empire of Chicago. Several months ago two real estate men came here and displayed a copy of a charter which Streeter held from President Cleveland to the land in question, they having secured a number of lots for sale to their friends. The Marion men nibbled at the offer and paid over cash for the lots. The title proves to be invalid, as the patent is a forgery. The Marion victims take some comfort in the reports that Streeter and some of his agents are under arrest, though they say nothing for publication.

RECORDS WILL BE EXAMINED.

Rushville, Ind., Feb. 15.—The county council has been called to meet in special session to vote an appropriation for the purpose of examining the county records. The county commissioners requested the auditor to call the council together and ask for an appropriation. People of all political parties favor the investigation and it is thought it will be made. Deputy Attorney General Lockhart is now examining the records of the county clerk's office, in which the original discrepancies leading to the demand for an investigation were alleged to have been found.

CONDEMNED MAN IS STOLID.

Michigan City, Ind., Feb. 15.—No change has marked the conduct of "Buck" Wheeler since he received a stay of execution until June. The condemned man maintains his customary silence and is unmoved by hope or fear. His health continues good. The prisoner has had no visitors and no letters from his relatives since the stay was granted. A letter occasionally comes from his attorneys, but his bearing indicates that he takes no interest in the contents.

GIRL TRAMPS LONG DISTANCE.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 15.—Miss Maud Taylor, of Elkhart, Ind., has reached Dowagiac, Mich., having walked across the country from Elkhart to that city, making her trip via South Bend. Miss Taylor is aged 21 years and her trip of sixty-five miles on a tramp showed unusual pluck. Miss Taylor has for over a year been located at Elkhart and because of her desire to save her money had not made a trip to her home during that time. Through misfortune, however, she lost her savings, and when notified of her sister's serious illness began her tramp rather than ask charity.

ROBBERY STORY EXPLAINED.

Muncie, Ind., Feb. 15.—The sensational story of the "hold-up" and robbery of Ray Botts, a grocery clerk, Wednesday night, is probably untrue. It is believed that Botts was drunk at the time, as were two of his friends, Walter Smith and Ernest Campbell, who are now accused of robbing him. Smith and Campbell have been arrested and say Botts was "fighting drunk" and threatened to kill them, also that he fell to the floor and they left him there. All the boys are minors and the saloonkeeper who sold them liquor has been arrested.

HOME STUDY LIBRARY.

It is scarcely possible to express in terms the value of the Home Study Library, published by the Doubleday McClure company. It opens the door to a liberal education for men and women whose earlier circumstances deprived them of the advantage of schools. Science, art, literature, mechanics and those branches of learning which are comprehensively termed "business studies," are compendiously embraced in the fifteen handsome and well-printed volumes, the matter for which was prepared under direction of one of the world's educators by eminent specialists in each subject treated. The unlettered man or woman or boy or girl who wants a liberal education and the culture of learning can acquire it at home from these books.

FAMOUS CASE REOPENED.

London, Feb. 15.—The lord chief justice Baron Alverstone, decided today to reopen the case of Poulett vs. Poulett, in which Viscount Hinton, who at one time played an organ in the streets of London, sought to oust his step-brother, the youthful Earl Poulett, from the family estates. The lord chief justice thus confirmed the previous judgment in the case whereby it was declared that Viscount Hinton, under a family settlement entered into in 1853, was debarred from claiming the property in dispute.

HEAD OF NOTRE DAME BETTER.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 15.—Rev. Andrew Morrissey, C. S. C., president of Notre Dame university, is slowly but surely recovering from his serious illness with pneumonia. He is still at the infirmary at Notre Dame and is very weak. As soon as he can regain a part of his strength President Morrissey will be taken to a warmer climate. Dr. J. B. Bertling, the attending physician, is confident that Father Morrissey will recover.

SLAIN BY POLICEMAN.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 15.—Albert Dompsey who was shot in the head by Patrolman Nelson last Saturday night while resisting arrest, died today at Emergency hospital. Nelson claims he shot Dompsey in self-defense after he and Frank Hines had attacked him and had resisted arrest. Hines is now under arrest. Hines' mother, who claims to have seen the shooting, says it was brutal and unnecessary. She says that the officer knocked Dompsey down with his club and then kneeling on him shot the prostrate man in the head. An inquest will be held next week.

FORCE RULES IN TRIESTE.

Trieste, Austria, Feb. 15.—Crowds throng the streets this morning, but military patrols keep the strikers and public generally moving. All the squares and public buildings are occupied by soldiers and large contingents of the military forces are in readiness for immediate action. Business is suspended. A number of those who were wounded, when the troops on the Plaza Grande fired a volley into a mob, yesterday, have since died.

TOLSTOI IS IMPROVED.

Yalta, Crimea, Feb. 15.—Count Tolstoi is somewhat improved today. His pulse is 90 and his temperature is satisfactory. The change for the worse in his condition which occurred last evening was caused by a spread of the pulmonary inflammation to the right lung. The inflammation is beginning to subside.

TITIAN PORTRAIT SOLD.

WELL KNOWN WRITER DEAD.

New York, Feb. 15.—Ella Starr, a well known contributor to newspapers and periodicals, is dead at Fishkill after an illness of several months. She was for three years editor of Frank Leslie's Young Folks and contributed to Judge and Life.

YERKES IS IMPROVING.

London, Feb. 15.—Charles T. Yerkes has been confined to his room as the result of a chill, but he has transacted business daily and is improving. Mr. Yerkes expects to be out by Monday next.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—May wheat opened ½c higher today on slightly better cables and fair buying. The tone of the pit seemed to have improved a little since yesterday's close. There was a fair improvement noted in both the cash and export business, but large northwestern receipts, a poor flour market both here and at Minneapolis, a weak St. Louis wheat market and generally favorable weather worked to some extent against the firmer condition. May eased a shade on light selling, but afterwards reacted and sold to 78¾c. Later fluctuations were narrow around this price. Local receipts were 14 cars, 1 of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 427 cars, making a total for the three points of 441 cars, against 381 last week and 469 a year ago.

Bullish sentiment arose again after the early lull in wheat and on vague rumors of damage to French crops May was pushed upward, closing firm, ⅞@1c higher, at 78⅞@78⅞c.

Corn was still inclined to be bearish at the opening. The southwest is becoming very bearish and Kansas City and St. Louis have been good sellers here. Cables were firmer today and May opened a shade higher to a shade lower at 62c to 61½c. There was almost no outside demand and cash stuff was offered more freely to large consumers and at reduced prices. May eased on selling to 61¾@61½c, but on reports that the St. Louis corn market was holding steady reacted again to 62½c. Receipts were 58 cars.

The strength at St. Louis continued to help corn here. No. 3 corn there which a fortnight ago was selling at 3½c discount under May was reported up to that option. May here sold up to 63½c and closed firm, ½c higher at 63⅝@62½c.

Oats had a slow and uneventful opening, May unchanged at 43⅞c. There was some response to the later firmness in corn and May sold at 43⅝c, but business was so dull that prices eased again to 43½c and fluctuated around that figure. Receipts were 73 cars.

Provisions were very dull to start, though the tone was good on lighter receipts at the yards. May pork opened unchanged to 2½c up at $15.87½ to $15.90 and sold to $15.92½; May lard 2½@5c higher at $9.42½ to $9.45, and May ribs a shade up at $8.50.

THE CLOSE.

Prices at the close were as follows:

Wheat—Feb., 76¾c; May, 78⅝@78⅞c; July, 79c; Sept., 78½c.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Feb. 15.—The opening movement of prices was confused and irregular and the dealings were small and narrowly distributed. Metropolitan Street Railway advanced by fractional steps 1⅜ over last night and Manhattan gained 1¼. Brooklyn Transit declined a fraction. There were no other features of note.

Metropolitan Street Railway's advance brought out large offerings and the price broke to 2¼ under yesterday's close. Other prominent stocks relapsed quite generally below last night. St. Paul, Union Pacific and Pennsylvania, losing large fractions. Manhattan lost its rise and there was also a point decline in Brooklyn Transit, New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Colorado and Southern first preferred and Associated Merchants first preferred. New York, Chicago and St. Louis second preferred fell 2¼. Shortly before 11 o'clock Amalgamated Copper spurted up 1⅜ to 69⅝ without benefiting the general market.

After some further declines the market rallied under the influence of a recovery to 170 in Metropolitan. The poor bank statement weakened the market again. Declines reached 1 to 2 points in Union Pacific, Illinois Central, Delaware and Hudson, Canada Southern, Iowa Central preferred, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, General Electric, Consolidated Gas and American Express. Metropolitan resisted the reaction and rose again strongly to 171½, and Amalgamated Copper advanced to 70½. Shorts covered and rallied the market. Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern rose 5 points on three sales. The closing was active and firm at the rally.

THE MONEY MARKET.

New York, Feb. 15.—Money on call nominal; prime mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent; sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.87@4.87½ for demand and at $4.84¾ for 60 days, posted rates, $4.85½ and $4.88; commercial bills, $4.83¾; bar silver, 55¼c; Mexican dollars, 43½c.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SWAMPED THE EXCHANGE.

During the progress of the fire last night there was a concerted rush for telephones that for a time simply tied up the exchange, and while the operators did their best to answer inquiries it was utterly impossible to furnish information to all promptly. Manager Mollering said this morning: "I wish our subscribers would remember that in case of an extensive fire there are nearly 2,000 calls to answer at once. Everybody is anxious for information but it would be a physical impossibility for any force of operators—even if there were a hundred of them—to answer all calls promptly at a time like this. The merchant with his force of clerks can take care of only a certain number of people at once and the cases are identical. We do the best we can, but some delay in those cases is unavoidable."

YOUNG TEDDY DOING WELL.

Groton, Mass., Feb. 15.—The remarkable progress made by President Roosevelt's son in his recovery from his severe attack of pneumonia continues, and today announcement was made that last night was the most satisfactory since the sickness began. Today Dr. Warren, the Groton school physician, will dismiss his assistant and reduce his visits to one a day. Mrs. Roosevelt said that she is planning to take her boy to Washington early next week.

COMMISSION EXPIRES.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The industrial commission, created several years ago to investigate industrial problems and report on them with recommendations to congress, expired by limitation of law today. The quarters of the commission have been dismantled, of most of the furniture, but a number of the commissioners, a clerk and a messenger will be here for several days longer closing up affairs.

SOCIALISTS WILL MEET.

Tomorrow the regular meeting of Central branch of the socialist party will be held in the hall at 140 Calhoun street, and as important business is to be transacted all members are requested to be present. Arrangements will be made to put a full ticket in the field for congressional and county offices, and the date for the convention will be fixed tomorrow.

SYSTEM AT AVILLA.

The National Telephone and Telegraph company is installing a switchboard in its Avilla agency, and will connect up the Old Peoples' home, the residence of Rev. Father Duehmig and a number of other residences in that town.

is fun for the boys and not particularly injurious to lumber; but "see-sawing" as to quality or prices of lumber will ruin any dealer. We steadfastly maintain a standard price for hard and soft woods, whether for building or cabinet making purposes—that price the lowest consistent with the furnishing of well seasoned lumber and making an honest profit.

Mark Twain's Cousin,

G. C. Clemens.

G. C. Clemens, of Topeka, Kan., the noted constitutional lawyer, who bears so striking a resemblance to Mark Twain, (Samuel B. Clemens) that he is frequently taken for the original Mark, is a man of deep intellect and wide experience. He is considered one of the foremost lawyers in this country. In a recent letter to the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Mr. Clemens says:

* * "Personal experience and observation have thoroughly satisfied me that Dr. Miles' Nervine contains true merit, and is excellent for what it is recommended."

Mr. Norman Waltrip, Sup. Pres. Bankers' Fraternal Society, Chicago, says:

Offences against the laws of health are punished rigorously and inevitably by nature. A man may break civil laws and escape punishment. But the man who transgresses nature's law of health cannot escape the penalty. Many a man is to-day a prisoner for life, and for a very brief life, because of his outrage of the laws upon which health is conditioned. He sits idly in his chair torn by coughing spells and gasping for breath. The handkerchief which wipes his lips shows a red stain. He is slowly wasting away.

Sick people are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." The sole motive for substitution is to enable the dealer to make the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines.

"Three years ago I had the grip," writes Mrs. Tillie Linney, of Gravel Switch, Marion Co., Kentucky. "It settled on my lungs, and the doctor said I had consumption. I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and am thankful to say I am entirely well. You may print this letter if you see fit to do so."

SOUTHWESTERN INTERURBAN IS NOT SATISFIED.

Council Cuts Life of Grant to Thirty Years, Which Company Says Cannot Be Accepted.

The city council in session last night as a committee of the whole agreed upon a revised franchise for the Southwestern Traction company which the company's attorney, N. D. Doughman, speaking authoritatively, said in unequivocal language his company would not accept if it could, could not accept if it would. The terms of the franchise as agreed upon cuts the original life from fifty to thirty years; cuts off the right to use trailers except by special permission of the board of works; limits freight to package freight exclusively; binds the company to pay all damages arising from electrolysis, and besides changes the running schedule of cars to two cars per hour, commencing at 5 a. m., continues the service to 12 midnight each day, and gives to the city absolute proprietorship as soon as the line is completed, the builders to accept one-half the cost of construction in rentals as full payment for the advance of the property to the city.

At 8 o'clock last night there wasn't a councilman visible to the naked eye anywhere around the council chamber, but at 8:15 Mayor Berghoff rapped for attention and in a minute all the members were in their seats excepting Foellinger, Gerding, O'Ryan and Zurbuch. The mayor asked the pleasure of the council, when Bauer moved to go into committee of the whole to consider the street car franchise of the Southwestern Traction company, left over from the session Tuesday night. The motion was seconded, whereupon Hench inquired whether the intention was to make the committee meeting an executive session or an open meeting. Kohrman took the responsibility of taking the question off the hands of the mover and the mayor by saying that it should be an executive session and nothing else. When the proposition was put to vote Kohrman was the only member who voted for a secret session; he squirmed some, took a broadside shot at the reporters in general and then subsided. The mayor on relinquishing his seat said he presumed that Scheid, the previous chairman, would again preside, and afterwards Hench was made secretary with Miller assistant.

Miller moved to take up the business where it was left off, namely commencing at the fifth section of the presented contract. Bauer then took the floor and in a short speech said that such a procedure would be pure folly, since he had been informed upon reliable authority that the Southwestern company would not accept the franchise as already amended at the previous session and that to continue along the line outlined would be simply a waste of time. He dilated and said that the question had been discussed and "cussed," that committees had met time and time again, that the Chicago-Harrison street route had been turned down, that the Brackenridge route had met the same fate and that as a last resort the council thought it had solved the question by agreeing on the Ewing street route, but saw fit to reduce the life of the franchise from 50 to 30 years and now the company rejected the whole proposition; only one thing was left for the council to do and that was to force the Fort Wayne Traction and Southwestern Traction companies to mutual terms. He went on to state that he had no love for the Fort Wayne company, but had a love for the interests of the city and thought that the proper thing to do was to tell the several companies "where they are at." His proposition was to double track Broadway and West Main street and give the companies equal rights on the tracks and allow the Southwestern to diverge from the double track at any point to reach Pearl street, included in the original franchise and allow the loop problem to be settled in the future. He said that while the two companies had no love for each other he believed that if the councilmen—the public servants—took the matter into their own hands and told the companies what they had to do, instead of allowing the companies to tell the council what to do, the public interests would be most speedily subserved; he added that if this arrangement could be made then he would be willing to vote for the Fort Wayne company some of the extensions asked for. He concluded by making a motion that a committee of five be appointed to bring about such an agreement between the two companies. Kohrman was on his feet in an instant with a declaration that he did not see how that arrangement would benefit the Eighth ward, but was reminded that no franchise was pending affecting Eighth ward territory, whereupon he once more subsided.

Bauer's speech was warmly applauded by the lobby, which was well filled, mostly by Fourth warders, but it did not meet with the same hearty reception inside the railing. Hosey said that Attorney Doughman, the accredited representative of the Southwestern company, was in the room; that he had agreed to the Ewing street proposition before and could not understand why it had so suddenly grown objectionable. Attorney Doughman took the floor and said that it was not the route, but the term of the franchise that made it impossible for his company to accept. He called the attention of the council to the fact that nearly the entire portion of the line inside the city limits would become the property of the city immediately upon completion and that all the company asked was the right to run its cars over that line for a term of fifty years at the city's own terms, but that the company wanted that right vouchsafed. That the bonds of the company were based on a fifty-year franchise and that they did not commence maturing until the expiration of thirty years; that the company could not sell a bond with the proviso that before maturity the Fort Wayne terminal might be clipped off at the city limits; that the company would make more money by abandoning its Fort Wayne end of the line and diverting its capital in other directions; that the line was losing its owners from $50 to $100 a day, and the loss was not at the Huntington but at the Fort Wayne end of the road; that the owners were here a week ago prepared to invest a million dollars in roads leading to Fort Wayne, but went away discouraged, and until the question was settled would not invest another dollar; that the company wanted the city to say something positively—to either grant the company an acceptable franchise or turn it down; that either decision would be more acceptable than a protracted period of indecision, and finally that under no circumstances could the company accept a thirty-year franchise under the conditions proposed, and that to further consider it would be simply a waste of time.

Miller objected to the committee idea to talk double track on Broadway and Sordelet said he felt like going ahead with the revision of the franchise and finish it and if the Southwestern didn't like it, then let them take the original Pearl street entrance, via Fulton street. He therefore moved to amend Bauer's motion by proceeding from the point where the committee left off on Tuesday night. In spite of the opposition of Bauer and others, Hench and Ehrman talking in favor of it, the amendment prevailed and the order was to proceed to consider the proposition. The clerk then proceeded to read the franchise section by section and the whole document was approved after being amended as above detailed.

The council then reconvened when a motion was made to refer the amended franchise to the board of works for approval in contract from, which caused Mr. Doughman to again remark that there was no use in so referring it, since he was in a position to state positively that his company would not agree to it and would not sign it on a thirty year basis. On a vote the franchise was referred according to the motion, Messrs. Baade, Bauer, Glenn and Griebel voting in the negative, Messrs. Bauer and Scheid explaining their votes.

After hearing a report from Mr. Hosey asking for further time to examine into the merits of a "tax ferret" enterprise, the council adjourned.

STUDEBAKERS BUILD AUTOS.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 15.—The Studebaker Brothers' Manufacturing company has leased the Chockelt building and will utilize the same for the exclusive manufacture of automobiles. H. D. Johnson, superintendent and general manager of the company, leaves tomorrow for Chicago to complete arrangements. William J. Hunker, formerly superintendent of the South Bend Electric company, will have charge of the electrical work. The plan of the Studebaker company is to make its automobile factory the largest and most complete in the United States. It also expects to be able to compete with the factories of France.

OLD TIMERS FACE THE COURT

QUARTET OF CLASSIC BOOZERS SENT TO JAIL.

Two Had Not Given Prison Soil of Former Confinements the Shake —Police News.

Judge Louttit was faced this morning by a quartet who often faced the music before and most of whom have been the recipients of undeserved leniency at the hands of the tender hearted judge.

Fred Wade was up yesterday morning and was given an hour to leave town after a soft speech, which nearly melted hizzoner into a reservoir of tears. Last evening Wade was found at the south depot drunker than usual and working his hobo racket and a crippled leg racket to beat the band. He got 15 days.

Scotty White got out of jail yesterday morning and was picked up by Superintendent Gorsline again last evening. Scotty is tough and was very drunk when arrested and it was only after he confessed that he had just got out of jail that the judge agreed to sock him for 15 days more.

Ed McGuire, dear old Ed, who hasn't been here for two years, broke into the calaboose again last night. He was with Wade and was doing the hold-up act with much regularity when he ran into Colling and Gorsline. He confidentially told the superintendent that he had kept out of reach of Fort Wayne for a couple of years, but that word had gone down the line that the town was getting easy again and that "the little fat mayor" was no longer it, he thought he'd take a chance and come back. He did not have much to say when called upon for a speech by Judge Louttit, and smiled when the judge told him it would be eleven days.

Jacob Schoop, "Old Jake," admitted that he got "a snootful" yesterday and never made a kick when the judge sent him over the track for eleven days. "Goot feedin', ennyway," was Jake's laconic comment as he waltzed down stairs.

Hugh P. O'Reilley was considerably startled yesterday morning when he opened his saloon at the corner of Main and Calhoun streets, to find two well known young men occupying chairs in the place and making themselves at home. A quantity of whisky and cigars and seventy-five cents in money from the till is all he claims was missing. The matter was hushed up, notwithstanding the fact that the young men had kicked the door in and that the proprietor was pretty angry. No arrests.

The Lapoint family of three, professional beggars, are again in town, but have not yet been rounded up by the police. The officers have been instructed to bring them in as soon as found and they will be given a term on the stone pile, women and all. They are a tough, dirty and insolent crowd.

Mrs. Dryden, the woman who lost her pocketbook containing $9.50 night before last, was sent to Chicago yesterday by Trustee Schirmeyer.

A bad gas leak in front of the lot at No. 40 East Pontiac street, was reported last night.

SAVED HIM FROM TORTURE.

There is no more agonizing trouble than piles. The constant itching and burning makes life intolerable. No position is comfortable. The torture is unceasing. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures piles at once. For skin diseases, cuts, burns, bruises, all kinds of wounds it is unequalled. J. S. Gerall, St. Paul, Ark., says: "From 1865 I suffered with the protruding, bleeding piles and could find nothing to help me until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes completely cured me." Beware of counterfeits. Meyer Bros. & Co.

PLAN TO FIGHT STEEL TRUST.

New York, Feb. 15.—The incorporation at Albany yesterday of the Lackawanna Steel company, with a capital of $40,000,000, to manufacture iron, steel and other metals, to own lumber lands, furnaces, mills, elevators, waterworks, etc., is regarded as highly significant of a Vanderbilt intention to fight the steel trust. The additional fact that H. McK. Twombly and D. O. Mills, of New York, and H. A. C. Taylor, of Newport, are in the directory of the new corporation, adds weight to the Wall street view. The Lackawanna Iron and Steel company, of Pennsylvania, which is the parent company of the Albany corporation, was organized in Pennsylvania in 1864. It owns extensive iron and steel works at Scranton and blast furnaces at Lebanon, Pa. In 1900 it purchased land for the erection of a giant steel rail and billet plant at Stony Point, west of Buffalo, with a capacity of 1,000,000 tons of steel a year. The capital of the parent company is $25,000,000.

DR. D. W. MOFFAT IS HOME.

Rev. D. W. Moffat, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, returned last evening from Washington, D. C., where he attended the sessions of the creed revision committee, of which committee he is a member. The committee has prepared a report which will be presented at the next meeting of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church.

Miss Royce, of South Whitley, was a visitor in the city yesterday.

Neuralgia

Omega Oil Neuralgia is a disease of the nerves, the doctors say. No one knows positively, because it is pretty hard to tell sometimes just what causes any kind of pain. One thing is certain, however. That is Omega Oil. It cures Neuralgia. It cures by putting the nerves to sleep. It is believed to be the only external cure known for Neuralgia. Every internal neuralgia medicine is strong and dangerous. Omega Oil cures from the outside, and there is no risk or danger in using it. 7tf

Painless Childbirth.

Zoa Phora the Only Safe, Sure and Ever Ready Remedy in the Three Danger Periods of Woman's Life.

It Carries Women Safely Through the Terrible Ordeal of Childbirth and Afterwards Restores the Organs to Strength and Vigor of Health.

TRIAL BOTTLE MAILED FREE.

The stern agony, the awful writhing pain of childbirth is known to every woman who is a mother who did not prepare for the terrible ordeal with Zoa Phora. With the use of Zoa Phora many women testify they find the labor of bearing children very easy, the pain almost nothing, and altogether a different time during confinement and the days preceding it.

MRS. EMMA DODSON, Jerseyville, Ills.

Mrs Emma Dodson, of Jerseyville, Ills., says: "I have kept Zoa Phora in my house for twenty-one years, using it at monthly periods and preparatory to confinement. Before I used Zoa Phora I was very irregular and suffered terribly whenever I did menstruate, but by using it I became regular, and suffered very little. I have often said I had sooner go through childbirth without an attending physician than do without Zoa Phora previous to confinement. I have been the mother of five children. Before the first two came I had not heard of Zoa Phora, and suffered labor with one fifty hours before delivery. The last three births I used Zoa Phora during each pregnancy and was not in labor over four hours for any of them. I have now passed safely and comfortably through the critical time, called change of life. I suffered very little pain, because I used Zoa Phora. It is the best medicine for painful menstruation I have ever seen, and I have given it to several women, and have never known it to fail."

Zoa Phora has brought the sunshine of health into the home of many a despairing woman. It has made it possible for women to have children who never in the world could have stood the pain and suffering and laceration that must surely have followed the birth of a child in their old condition. The stories of some of the women who now praise this great medicine, Zoa Phora are truly wonderful. They tell of monthly pain and misery suffered for years. They tell of the impossibility of bearing a child for the reason that the organs were not strong enough to carry the child to the end of the time, but would miscarry, greatly endangering the life of the mother. Now they assert they have had children with scarcely a pain and with little inconvenience after the birth was over, few pains and no bad after effect.

Get a dollar bottle of Zoa Phora at the nearest drug store, or the Zoa Phora Co., Kalamazoo, Mich., will send it to you prepaid on receipt of price. It is no experiment as hundreds of grateful women testify daily. The doctor is always glad to answer questions. Do not hesitate to write for information.

We will be glad to send you a large trial bottle free upon receipt of 10c. to cover postage and packing. Address, Zoa Phora Co., Kalamazoo, Mich.

MERRELL-SOULE CO., Syracuse, N. Y.

IN HIS OLD PLACE

LOUIS NEUROTH FOREMAN OF WABASH TIN SHOP.

BEGIN WORK ON TURNTABLE

NICKEL PLATE PREPARING FOR THE BIG ENGINES.

Joseph E. Jones, for two and a half years foreman of the Wabash tin shop, has resigned for the purpose of taking a position elsewhere. It is understood here that he has been offered a better position than the one from which he has just retired, and he will leave in a day or two for the south to look into the proffered position. Mr. Jones is an expert in his line of work and his services are in demand.

Louis Neuroth, notice of whose return to Fort Wayne was made in The Sentinel several days ago, succeeded Mr. Jones, assuming the office this morning. This position is not new to Mr. Neuroth. He filled it twenty-seven years, leaving it two or three years ago to take a similar position with the Grand Trunk road at Port Huron, Mich. Mr. Neuroth is a clever fellow, besides being a fine workman, and he makes friends wherever he goes. His parting from the "boys" at the Grand Trunk shops was made the occasion for a formal expression of regret on their part, the meeting taking place in the shops at the close of the working hours. Mr. Neuroth was presented with a pair of gold-rimmed spectacles and a pair of gold cuff buttons by the tinners and other shopmen with whom he had been associated two and a half years.

There are rumors of other changes at the Wabash shops, but if any are contemplated, The Sentinel was unable to learn their character and the names of the men affected. A change in management usually is accompanied by changes in the subordinate offices and this has already been the case at the Wabash shops to a more or less extent.

BECOMES NICKEL PLATE AGENT.

Cincinnati, Enquirer: "Wallace A. McGowan, who has been agent of the Red Line at St. Louis, has been appointed agent of the Nickel Plate line at Kansas City, succeeding Mr. Curtis, who has been appointed general western agent of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis road, with headquarters at Omaha. Mr. McGowan has a host of friends here, where he was located for many years with the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road, and later was the representative of the Lake Erie and Western."

YOUNG AND PROSPEROUS.

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Menefee Foundry company, C. M. Menefee and his sons composing the membership of the firm and C. M. Menefee, H. B. Menefee and O. F. Menefee are the directors. C. M. Menefee will officiate as president and general manager and J. W. Menefee will serve as secretary and treasurer. The shop is located on Thomas street and it gives employment to nearly forty men. The foundry was established in 1891 and its growth has been steady and substantial.

WILL BUILD TURNTABLE.

A gang of laborers from Chicago arrived in the city yesterday and immediately began getting the material for the foundation for a new and larger turntable at the Nickel Plate yards. The foundation will be constructed of concrete in its entirety, as are all bridge and building foundations now put in on that line of railway. The long-looked-for big engines are ready for delivery as soon as provision for turning them has been made.

TWO ENGINES IN COLLISION.

Pennsylvania road engine 336 and switch engine 137 had a collision at the east yards this morning and both were slightly damaged and will be out of service for several hours. The pilot was knocked off the road engine and the tank of the switch engine was overturned and battered. None of the enginemen were injured.

WAS THE GUEST OF B. R. T.

T. R. Dodge, second vice grand master of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who was the guest of the local lodge Thursday evening, left yesterday for Wabash, where he stopped over last night in the interest of the brotherhood. Mr. Dodge attended a special meeting of the order in this city while here and delivered a very interesting address, giving some statistics illustrating the rapid growth of the brotherhood. Six years ago, in 1896, the brotherhood had 20,000 members; the first of January, 1902, it had over 50,000, increasing during the period mentioned over 30,000. Its financial condition is just as prosperous and flattering as is the membership. It has been meeting its liabilities promptly and at the same time its funds have been growing steadily. While the Fort Wayne branch of the order is not the most important in a numerical sense, it is considered one of the most prosperous and will soon have 200 names on the roll. There are 190 now. At the special meeting Thursday night Charles Malcom, a Wabash switchman, and H. F. Banks, a Pennsylvania brakeman, were taken into the brotherhood, the vice grand master directing the work of initiation. The report of the men who have the sale of tickets for the annual ball in hand showed a big demand and indicates that the coming ball will be the greatest in the history of the brotherhood, which is saying a good deal. Last year over 500 tickets were sold.

EARLY RAILROADING.

J. H. Goldsborough, who now resides in Lebanon, and who was one of the first men employed on the Madison and Indianapolis road, relates a number of interesting reminiscences concerning the opening of the first road in this state. "C. S. Irish ran the first engine, and his remains are buried at Madison. The engine he ran was hook motion, and to reverse it the engineer had to use hand levers in order to get the rock shaft in proper condition to let the hook drop to its proper place. The engine had thirty-six-inch drivers, fourteen-inch cylinder, twenty-four-inch stroke; the stack was four feet in diameter at the top and tapered down where it bolted to the boiler to twelve inches. The engineer did not have to crane his neck out of the cab window to see around the stack, for there was no cab, and when the engineer and fireman were not engaged in other duties they were kept busy fighting fire to keep their clothing from burning. There was no pilot, the only protection being heavy pieces bolted to the bumper and extending within six inches of the track, and then a broom. This broom extended down to the rail. Mr. Thomas, the first man who had charge, concluded he could make some improvement on the front of this engine to protect stock that might come in contact with it. This improvement he called a cowcatcher. Another feature of this engine was the footboard; it extended all round the boiler about twelve inches from the side frame of the engine, and a man could pass all around the engine. After the road was completed the company purchased ten Rogers engines, all small except the famous old J. G. Marshall; this engine was hired by the contractors that built the I., B. & W., and Thomas Noble ran it. The officers of the road at the time I quit railroading and the leading engineers were: John Brough, president; John R. Cravens, vice president; Benjamin McGehan, superintendent; Jerome Prindle, roadmaster. Engineers: Robert Wands, Benjamin Smith, Joshua McOley, James Ambrose, James Folander, Samuel Idler, James Lilly, Thomas Noble, Philip Housler, James Mooney, Isaiah Hazlip, Jacob Wilson, Daniel Elmore; Thomas Wray, master mechanic; J. O. D. Lilley, foreman."

WANT MACHINISTS, NOT BOYS.

The call for machinists at the Pittsburg shops, through announcement in The Sentinel last evening, brought some good men and an army of common laborers, many of them lads not over fifteen or sixteen years of age. Master Mechanic Fitzpatrick wants experienced machinists and experienced machinists' helpers and no others need apply. This incident illustrates the importance of learning a trade and should be a lesson to the young men of the city who will soon be looking for a means of livelihood. Good mechanics are always in demand and at good wages, while the common laborer must necessarily be unemployed a good portion of the time.

PUTTING IN NEW CHECK BOARD

A new check board with a capacity for 1,000 numbers will be placed in the Pittsburg boiler shop office, at the gate where all the men employed in the locomotive and blacksmith departments of the works report when they go to work. The old board has 863 numbers and there are 898 employes who work in the shops west of Lafayette and use this board. Another for recording the presence of employes in the car shops on the east side of Lafayette street and still another at the east car shops. The shop force is the largest in the history of the works and passes the 1,400 mark.

SHIP NARROW GAUGE CARS.

The east shops of the Pennsylvania, where twenty box and twenty gondola cars for the Waynesburg and Washington narrow gauge road are being built, has commenced shipping these cars and four were sent out today. These little fellows have to be dismounted from their trucks, their bodies placed on flat cars and trucks upon gondolas, and the work of loading them is considerable, the east shops not being equipped for handling cars in this manner. The order will be rushed to completion and the last of next week will see the end of it.

MOTHER AND BABE

Sick mother—sick child! That's the way it works when a mother is nursing her infant.

Scott's Emulsion is an ideal medicine for nursing mothers. It has a direct effect on the milk. Sometimes the mother is weak; her thin milk does not make the baby grow. Scott's Emulsion changes all that. The rich cod-liver oil in Scott's Emulsion feeds the mother and gives a flow of rich, nourishing milk for the baby.

The medicine in Scott's Emulsion not only strengthens the mother but goes naturally through the milk and strengthens the child.

Nothing to harm—all for good—Scott's Emulsion.

WRECK BROUGHT HIM WEALTH.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 15.—An engineer asleep at his post, a wreck in which one man is killed, a coronial investigation, resulting in the engineer and two others being held to await the action of the grand jury, form a series of events of this week that may result in William Jackson receiving his share of a large estate. Jackson is the engineer who, by his own frank admissions, was responsible for the wreck on the Fort Wayne railroad near Haysville on Monday morning, when Maurice Burk was killed. Jackson, his fireman and a brakeman yesterday were held by the coroner's jury on charges of criminal negligence. This morning Coroner Jesse M. McGeary received a letter, dated Belleville, Ill., and signed F. Helms, in which the writer says a man by the name of Jackson, and an engineer, is being looked for by representatives of a large estate of which Jackson is entitled to a large share. The letter asks the assistance of the coroner in finding whether the Jackson who was in the wreck is the man wanted. The coroner will communicate with the engineer at once.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton pay car, which will arrive here this evening, will remain over Sunday.

W. A. Jordon, a tinner, reported for duty at the east car shops yesterday, after an absence on account of sickness.

After a painful seige of six weaks with rheumatism, Brakeman J. S. Carry has reported for duty on the Nickel Plate.

Mr. Kline, of the Grand Rapids shops at Grand Rapids, was in the city yesterday, on business with the local shop officials.

Samuel McAfee, the blacksmith, who was sick three or four days, resumed his duties at the Pittsburg shops this morning.

Night Yardmaster C. A. Stemen, of the Pittsburg, has recovered from an illness which kept him from his work three or four nights.

A special train of five cars, supposed to carry raw silk from the orient, passed through the city, over the Pittsburg, last evening, bound for New York.

Fireman Will Humphreys, who was injured in the wreck on the Wabash at Legro several weeks ago, is now able to get about quite comfortably with the aid of a crutch.

Foreman T. J. Rodabaugh's office at the Pittsburg shops has received attention at the hands of the painter and the interior walls, ceilings and furniture present a very pretty appearance today.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Croy returned from Greenville, Mich., Thursday evening. They had been looking after private business in that city. Mr. Croy was on Grand Rapids and Indiana train No. 6 and was standing in the aisle of the car putting on his overcoat when the chair car left the rails. The sudden pull backwards of the car in which he rode threw Mr. Croy down and slightly bruised his knees. Mr. Croy is employed at the east car shops.

Stuart Rehrer, of the Electric works, went to Hamilton, Ohio, this morning on business for the company.

W. Kramer has taken the position of night caller for the Pittsburg round house, vice W. Simmons, resigned.

The date of arrival of the Wabash pay car has been changed and that most welcome event will not occur until February 25. Bulletins giving the 21st as the date of arrival were posted at the shops last week.

A 150-light generator and an 85-horse power motor to the Cascade company, Tacoma, Wash., and a 12-horse power motor to Hagerstown, Md., were the shipments from the Electric works this morning.

Fred Kaiser, Wabash boilermaker, who had a wrist sprained a few days ago, went to the Peru hospital this morning to remain until he is able to work again. Henry Rehling, also a boilermaker at the same shop, is sick.

F. C. Smith and his son, Floyd E. Smith, of the east car shops, have returned from Lima, where they attended the funeral of Floyd Brown. The deceased met death in the explosion of a Lake Erie and Western locomotive boiler. He was a fireman on that road.

No. 605, of the big Atlantic type of passenger engines, now in service on the Wabash, left the shops this morning and this afternoon went to Peru to take her place in the service. The engine was stripped of the attachments of one side by a collision at Lagro.

Boilermaker D. D. Meyer had the left side of his face scalded at the Pittsburg round house last night. He was repairing a boiler which had just came in off the road and still had steam up. A stud bolt blew out, allowing a stream of water to pour upon the boilermaker.

T. J. Murphy, a brakeman, is again an employe of the Nickel Plate. He quit that road three months ago and went west, expecting to take employment there. When he reached his destination he concluded Fort Wayne was the best place and he refused to take a position there, though one was offered.

Machinist E. Zorbaugh, of the Pittsburg, is suffering from an attack of rheumatism and is confined to his home. Other shopmen who are sick are A. Gerard, Aug. Kruckeberg, G. J. Hasty, G. Buhr, W. Heine and W. Heuer. Edgar H. Lasher, of the 'smith shop, is off duty on account of an injured thumb, and F. M. Shambaugh and George Meyers are looking after private business.

RATES WITH MARCONI.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 15.—In return for a contribution from the federal government towards the erection of a Marconi telegraph station at Cape Breton for the carrying on of the trans-Atlantic wireless telegraph system, the Marconi company has agreed to give a rate 60 per cent. lower than the present cable rate. Government messages will be handled at a still lower rate.

CLERK'S WISE SUGGESTION.

"I have lately been much troubled with dyspepsia, belching and sour stomach," writes M. S. Mead, leading pharmacist of Attleboro, Mass. "I could eat hardly anything without suffering several hours. My clerk suggested I try Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which I did, with most happy results. I have had no more trouble and when one can go to eating mince pie, cheese, candy and nuts after such a time, their digestion must be pretty good. I endorse Kodol Dyspepsia Cure heartily." You don't have to diet. Eat all the good food you want but don't overload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests your food. Meyer Bros. & Co.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

Writes a Special Letter to Mrs. Pinkham Telling How She Was Cured.

The relation of woman's nerves and generative organs is very close; consequently nine tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Herein we prove conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will quickly relieve all this trouble.

MISS W. CHILDS-BLACKBURN.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I take pleasure in acknowledging the effects of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In my estimation there is no female remedy to equal it. Weakness not properly attended to, together with the close confinement at my desk brought on nervous prostration, so much so that for a year I doctored continually. I tried different remedies which only succeeded in poisoning my system, and my stomach refused food. A neighbor who had suffered with ovarian troubles and was perfectly cured, called my attention to your Vegetable Compound, and I made up my mind to give it a two months' fair trial. However, before one month had passed I was like a new woman, and after six weeks faithful use of the Compound I was in perfect health. It certainly is of great benefit to women, and I wish every poor suffering woman could have a chance to try it. Yours very truly, Miss W. CHILDS-BLACKBURN, 2022 Fifth Ave., Rock Island, Ill."

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it soothes, strengthens, heals and tones up the delicate female organism. It is a positive cure for all kinds of female complaints; that bearing down feeling, backache, displacement of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries and is invaluable during the change of life.

How Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. Borst.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When I wrote to you some time ago for advice I really thought my days were numbered. I was so ill that I could not stand on my feet for fifteen minutes at a time. I had female troubles in many of their worst forms; inflammation and ulceration of the womb; leucorrhœa; bearing down pains; headache and backache; nervous prostration. My kidneys were out of order and blood in a bad condition. Everyone, and even my doctor thought I was going into consumption. I followed your advice faithfully for six months with the result that I became a well woman, and it cost me much less than a doctor's bill. I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life."—Mrs. SAMUEL BORST, 7 Cozy Ave., Oneonta, N. Y.

The above letter shows how unerring is the advice which Mrs. Pinkham gives to women who write her about their sickness; as the advice is free and always helpful it is not strange that she advises more than one hundred thousand sick women every year. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

VARICOCELE!

A FIENDISH YOUTH

SETS SISTER'S CLOTHING ON FIRE OUT OF MALICE.

WATCHES HER BURN TO DEATH

WAS SPITEFUL BECAUSE OF PARENTAL CORRECTIONS.

A YOUNG GIRL ENDS HER LIFE

GENERAL NEWS OF THE STATE OF INDIANA.

Hammond, Ind., Feb. 15.—Willie Nowak, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nowak, of this city, deliberately set fire to the clothing of his baby sister and watched her burn to death. When the parents arose and the father, a fireman, had gone to daily labors, the mother reprimanded the boy for some trifling fault and locked both children in the kitchen while she went to a grocery store. In one corner of the kitchen was a cupboard, on the shelf of which was stored matches. The mother was absent about fifteen minutes. When she returned and opened the kitchen door the sickening smell of burning flesh almost overpowered her. On the floor lay the 15-months-old girl, writhing in pain and burned almost beyond recognition. Standing near by was her little brother watching the flames, which had begun to eat into the pine floor of the room. The boy, who is precocious and talkative, said at the inquest that he had lighted the baby's clothes. He exhibited no grief upon being shown the charred body.

PREDICTS NEELY'S ACQUITTAL.

Muncie, Ind., Feb. 15.—Clarence Russey, nephew of Charles F. W. Neely, the alleged embezzler of the Cuban postal funds, who is now on trial, said in an interview Thursday afternoon: "Things look hopeful for Neely, and his friends feel that he can not help being acquitted. The government has failed absolutely to prove anything and all the evidence thus far has been in favor of Neely. Another thing favorable to Neely is the change in public sentiment, and in the expressions of the press of Cuba and the prominent public men of the island. They have nearly all begun to realize that an error has been committed, and are nearly as anxious to prophesy a conviction as they were before the examination of witnesses began." Russey, until about three months ago, was with Neely constantly from the time of the latter's arrest, acting as his uncle's right-hand man in the conduct of Neely's affairs. For three months he has remained here, and probably will not return to Cuba unless he is needed.

PENSIONS FOR INDIANIANS.

Increase, Restoration, Reissue, etc.—James W. Nogley, McCordsville, $12; Jas. S. Wood, dead, Hillsboro, $12; Wiley Blissett, Franklin, $10; Thomas Baird, Jonesboro, $10; George W. Bradley, Birdseye, $17; James Corren, Indianapolis, $10; Geo. W. Anderson, Fowler, $17; Robert F. Watson, Runyan, $17; William T. Shepherd, New Richmond, $14; John Dimmitt, Idaville $10; James R. Scales Solvin, $12; George F. Robertson, Boonville, $10; Cyrus Pumphrey, Rugby, $17; Levi J. Fleetwood, Tipton $8; William J. Annabell, Jeffersonville, $10; William M. Ferguson, Newark, $12; Edmond L. Lane, Anderson, $14; John P. Russell, Plainville, $17.

SHORTAGE DUE TO PUMPING.

Alexandria, Ind., Feb. 15.—The people of Alexandria are interested in a case brought by the people of Newcastle against the Richmond Gas company, which is being heard at Anderson. An injunction is sought to prevent the company from operating a pumping station, which was moved from Chesterfield to Henry county. W. L. Mellington, an expert engineer, has been going over the ground, comparing the operations of large and small pumping stations, and he found that the smaller plants could not keep up the pressure when the larger ones were operated. This accounts for the shortage of gas at Anderson and Alexandria, the gas going to Chicago instead of reaching consumers here. The homes here are getting a better supply than the factories.

INDIANA GIRL KILLS HERSELF.

Hartford City, Ind., Feb. 14.—Jessie Harding, aged 16, died yesterday at her home near Liberty Center, from the effects of morphine taken with suicidal intent. Recently she had her fortune told, and, according to what relatives say, she was informed that her life was doomed to everlasting torment on earth. Brooding over this and because of a disappointment in love, the girl became despondent and committed suicide.

INVESTED IN STEELTER'S TRACT.

Marion, Ind., Feb. 15.—It has just come to light that a number of Marion men were taken in on the real estate proposition of Capt. George W. Streeter, the "squatter sovereign" of the lake-front empire of Chicago. Several months ago two real estate men came here and displayed a copy of a charter which Streeter held from President Cleveland to the land in question, they having secured a number of lots for sale to their friends. The Marion men nibbled at the offer and paid over cash for the lots. The title proves to be invalid, as the patent is a forgery. The Marion victims take some comfort in the reports that Streeter and some of his agents are under arrest, though they say nothing for publication.

RECORDS WILL BE EXAMINED.

Rushville, Ind., Feb. 15.—The county council has been called to meet in special session to vote an appropriation for the purpose of examining the county records. The county commissioners requested the auditor to call the council together and ask for an appropriation. People of all political parties favor the investigation and it is thought it will be made. Deputy Attorney General Lockhart is now examining the records of the county clerk's office, in which the original discrepancies leading to the demand for an investigation were alleged to have been found.

CONDEMNED MAN IS STOLID.

Michigan City, Ind., Feb. 15.—No change was marked the conduct of "Buck" Wheeler since he received a stay of execution until June. The condemned man maintains his customary silence and is unmoved by hope or fear. His health continues good. The prisoner has had no visitors and no letters from his relatives since the stay was granted. A letter occasionally comes from his attorneys, but his bearing indicates that he takes no interest in the contents.

GIRL TRAMPS LONG DISTANCE.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 15.—Miss Maud Taylor, of Elkhart, Ind., has reached Dowagiac, Mich., having walked across the country from Elkhart to that city, making her trip via South Bend. Miss Taylor is aged 21 years and her trip of sixty-five miles as a tramp showed unusual pluck. Miss Taylor has for over a year been located at Elkhart and because of her desire to save her money had not made a trip to her home during that time. Through misfortune, however, she lost her savings, and when notified of her sister's serious illness began her journey rather than ask charity.

ROBBERY STORY EXPLAINED.

Muncie, Ind., Feb. 15.—The sensational story of the "hold-up" and robbery of Ray Botts, a grocery clerk, Wednesday night, is probably untrue. It is believed that Botts was drunk at the time, as were two of his friends, Walter Smith and Ernest Campbell, who are now accused of robbing him. Smith and Campbe" have been arrested and say Botts was "fighting drunk" and threatened to kill them, also that he fell to the floor and they left him there. All the boys are minors and the saloonkeeper who sold them liquor has been arrested.

HOME STUDY LIBRARY.

It is scarcely possible to express in terms the value of the Home Study Library, published by the Doubleday McClure company. It opens the door to a liberal education for men and women whose earlier circumstances deprived them of the advantage of schools. Science, art, literature, mechanics and these branches of learning which are comprehensively termed "business studies," are compendiously embraced in the fifteen handsome and well-printed volumes, the matter for which was prepared under direction of one of the world's educators by eminent specialists in each subject treated. The unlettered man or woman or boy or girl who wants a liberal education and the culture of learning can acquire it at home from these books.

FAMOUS CASE REOPENED.

HEAD OF NOTRE DAME BETTER.

SLAIN BY POLICEMAN.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 15.—Albert Dempsey who was shot in the head by Patrolman Nelson last Saturday night while resisting arrest, died today at Emergency hospital. Nelson claims he shot Dempsey in self-defense after he and Frank Hines had attacked him and had resisted arrest. Hines is now under arrest. Hines' mother, who claims to have seen the shooting, says it was brutal and unnecessary. She says that the officer knocked Dempsey down with his club and then kneeling on him shot the prostrate man in the head. An inquest will be held next week.

FORCE RULES IN TRIESTE.

Trieste, Austria, Feb. 15.—Crowds throng the streets this morning, but military patrols keep the strikers and public generally moving. All the squares and public buildings are occupied by soldiers and large contingents of the military forces are in readiness for immediate action. Business is suspended. A number of those who were wounded, when the troops on the Plaza Grande fired a volley into a mob, yesterday, have since died.

TOLSTOI IS IMPROVED.

Yalta, Crimea, Feb. 15.—Count Tolstoi is somewhat improved today. His pulse is 90 and his temperature is satisfactory. The change for the worse in his condition which occurred last evening was caused by a spread of the pulmonary inflammation to the right lung. The inflammation is beginning to subside.

TITIAN PORTRAIT SOLD.

WELL KNOWN WRITER DEAD.

New York, Feb. 15.—Ella Starr, a well known contributor to newspapers and periodicals, is dead at Fishkill after an illness of several months. She was for three years editor of Frank Leslie's Young Folks and contributed to Judge and Life.

YERKES IS IMPROVING.

London, Feb. 15.—Charles T. Yerkes has been confined to his room as the result of a chill, but he has transacted business daily and is improving. Mr. Yerkes expects to be out by Monday next.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—May wheat opened ½c higher today on slightly better cables and fair buying. The tone of the pit seemed to have improved a little since yesterday's close. There was a fair improvement noted in both the cash and export business, but large northwestern receipts, a poor flour market both here and at Minneapolis, a weak St. Louis wheat market and generally favorable weather worked to some extent against the firmer condition. May eased a shade or light selling, but afterwards reacted and sold to 73⅞c. Later fluctuations were narrow around this price. Local receipts were 14 cars, 1 of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 427 cars, making a total for the three points of 441 cars, against 301 last week and 459 a year ago.

Bullish sentiment arose again after the early lull in wheat and on vague rumors of damage to French crops May was pushed upward, closing firm, ⅝@⅞c higher, at 73⅞@73¾c.

Corn was still inclined to be bearish at the opening. The southwest is becoming very bearish and Kansas City and St. Louis have been good sellers here. Cables were firmer today and May opened a shade higher to a shade lower at 62c to 61⅞c. There was almost no outside demand and cash stuff was offered more freely to large consumers and at reduced prices. May eased on selling to 61⅞@61¾c, but on reports that the St. Louis corn market was holding steady reacted again to 62⅛c. Receipts were 58 cars.

The strength at St. Louis continued to help corn here. No. 3 corn there which a fortnight ago was selling at 3½c discount under May was reported up to that option. May here sold up to 63¾c and closed firm, ⅛c higher at 62⅞@62½c.

Oats had a slow and uneventful opening, May unchanged at 42¾c. There was some response to the later firmness in corn and May sold at 43¾c, but business was so dull that prices eased again to 43⅛c and fluctuated around that figure. Receipts were 72 cars.

Provisions were very dull to start, though the tone was good on lighter receipts at the yards. May pork opened unchanged to 2½c up at $15.87½ to $15.90 and sold to $15.92½; May lard 2½@5c higher at $9.42½ to $9.45, and May ribs a shade up at $8.50.

THE CLOSE.

Prices at the close were as follows:

Wheat—Feb., 73⅝c; May, 73¾@73⅞c; July, 79c; Sept., 78½c.

Corn—Feb., 60c; May, 62⅝@62½c; July, 59⅝c; Sept., 61⅜c.

Oats—Feb., 42½c; May, 43⅞c; July, 37½c; Sept., 32c.

Pork—Feb., $15.75; May, $15.97½; July, $16.07½.

Lard—Feb., $9.35; May, $9.52½; July, $9.62½; Sept., $9.72½.

Ribs—Feb., $8.45; May, $8.65@8.67½; July, $8.65; Sept., $8.75.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Feb. 15.—The opening movement of prices was confused and irregular and the dealings were small and narrowly distributed. Metropolitan Street Railway advanced by fractional steps 1¾ over last night and Manhattan gained 1½. Brooklyn Transit declined a fraction. There were no other features of note.

Metropolitan Street Railway's advance brought out large offerings and the price broke to 8½ under yesterday's close. Other prominent stocks relapsed quite generally below last night. St. Paul, Union Pacific and Pennsylvania, losing large fractions. Manhattan lost its rise and there was also a point decline in Brooklyn Transit. New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Colorado and Southern first preferred and Associated Merchants first preferred, New York, Chicago and St. Louis second preferred fell 2½. Shortly before 11 o'clock Amalgamated Copper sparkled up 1⅝ to 69⅝ without bolstering the general market.

After some further declines the market rallied under the influence of a recovery to 170 in Metropolitan. The poor bank statement weakened the market again. Declines reached 1 to 2 points in Union Pacific, Illinois Central, Delaware and Hudson, Canada Southern, Iowa Central preferred, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, General Electric, Consolidated Gas and American Express. Metropolitan resisted the reaction and rose again strongly to 171½, and Amalgamated Copper advanced to 70½. Shorts covered and rallied the market. Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern rose 5 points on three sales. The closing was active and firm at the rally.

SWAMPED THE EXCHANGE.

During the progress of the fire last night there was a concerted rush for telephones that for a time simply tied up the exchange, and while the operators did their best to answer inquiries it was utterly impossible to furnish information to all promptly. Manager Moellering said this morning: "I wish our subscribers would remember that in case of an extensive fire there are nearly 2,000 calls to answer at once. Everybody is anxious for information, but it would be a physical impossibility for any force of operators—even if there were a hundred of them—to answer all calls promptly at a time like this. The merchant with his force of clerks can take care of only a certain number of people at once and the cases are identical. We do the best we can, but some delay in those cases is unavoidable."

YOUNG TEDDY DOING WELL.

Groton, Mass., Feb. 15.—The remarkable progress made by President Roosevelt's son in his recovery from his severe attack of pneumonia continues, and today announcement was made that last night was the most satisfactory since the sickness began. Today Dr. Warren, the Groton school physician, will dismiss his assistant and reduce his visits to one a day. Mrs. Roosevelt said that she is planning to take her boy to Washington early next week.

COMMISSION EXPIRES.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The industrial commission, created several years ago to investigate industrial problems and report on them with recommendations to congress, expired by limitation of law today. The quarters of the commission have been dismantled of most of the furniture, but a number of the commissioners, a clerk and a messenger will be here for several days longer closing up affairs.

SOCIALISTS WILL MEET.

Tomorrow the regular meeting of Central branch of the socialist party will be held in the hall at 140 Calhoun street, and as important business is to be transacted all members are requested to be present. Arrangements will be made to put a full ticket in the field for congressional and county offices, and the date for the convention will be fixed tomorrow.

A NIGHT AT THE PLAY.

"THE CHAPERONS."

The merry musical "Chaperons," the latest tuneful success, is the attraction offering at the Temple soon. Many flattering reports have been received of this gay melodic satire, which has recently closed successful engagements in the east, where "The Chaperons" followed "Florodora," and was counted a threatening rival of that piece. The production is in the care of Frank L. Perley's great singing organization and the fine cast of lyric comedy artists include a galaxy of well known entertainers, among them being Harry Conor,

ARTHUR DUNN.

Walter Jones, Jos. C. Miron, magnetic Eva Tanguay, charming Trixie Friganza, Mae Stebbins, the dancer, May Boley, Nellie Follis, Albert Farrington, English baritone, Ed Redway and Geo. K. Henery.

"ALICE OF OLD VINCENNES."

The theater will be the scene on Monday, Feb. 24, of a double introduction by Mr. Charles Frohman. First, of a practically new star, Virginia Harned; and second, of a relatively new play, "Alice of Old Vincennes."

Miss Harned's debut in this instance will be as an individual star, for she is already abundantly possessed of stellar honors, won during her long association as co-star with her distinguished husband, E. H. Sothern.

In thus branching out for herself, Miss Harned has had more in her favor than customarily falls to the lot of the average new-comer in the theatrical world, for in addition to great personal attractions and exceptional ability as an actress, she can boast of a manager of renown, a dramatist of skill and a novelist of world-wide fame, and this combination of resources is well calculated to equip her with the strongest sort of vehicle by which to attain success. Mr. Frohman has surrounded her with a splendid company and given the play a mounting that in beauty, originality and elaborateness is not exceeded by any of his other famous big productions.

Maurice Thompson's novel from which the play is taken is a literary work that at once took rank among other masterpieces of fiction as soon as it was issued and it earned no little distinction for its author.

Miss Harned was the unanimous choice of Mr. Frohman and the author, during the life of the last-named, as one and alone the only actress qualified to portray the heroine of the story.

The scene of this story, as the title implies, is in Vincennes, Indiana, and the period early in the American revolution.

"THE SECOND IN COMMAND."

Charles Frohman introduces John Drew at the Masonic Temple theater on Wednesday, March 5th, in the most popular and successful play of that actor's career, Robert Marshall's comedy, "The Second in Command." The record of this attraction, while it held sway at the Empire theater, New York, shows an unbroken series of crowded houses and the enthusiastic approval of everybody who had seen the play. "The Second in Command" is declared to be the brightest and most realistic of all the Marshall compositions that have yet been offered to New York theatergoers. Its love story is simple, sweet and wholesome and the noble men and lovely women who are brought together in its scenes recommend themselves at once to public favor. Mr. Drew's characterization of the good-natured, blundering hero who is as unfortunate in love-making as he is in other things is conceded to be the finest piece of acting he has ever done. It is styled a character that obtains immediate recognition from women theatergoers because, as Mr. Drew presents it, there is everything to recommend it. His love-making has a novel and most agreeable flavor and in these things his work is fully as effectual as in the stirring dramatic incidents at the end of the third act. It therefore looks as if John Drew and "The Second in Command" are going to make an enviable record here.

MASON AND MASON IN A NEW FARCE.

Although Mason and Mason, the new stars in the firmament of eccentric German comedy, will make their first bow together at the head of their own company this season in "Rudolph and Adolph," both are well and favorably known, as individuals, throughout the entire country. This new team is composed of Dan Mason and Charles A. Mason, who have for years been presenting types of laughable and eccentric Germans to American theater-goers. Last season Dan was the stocking importer in David Belasco's "Naughty

JOHN DREW,
As Major Bingham, in "The Second in Command."

Anthony," and for the three seasons preceding he had respectively created Von Bulow Schmidt in "The Man from Mexico," the German servant in "Mr. 'Smooth" and Count Wilhelm von Guggenheim in "Why Smith Left Home." Charles A. Mason was formerly of the team of Kelly and Mason, who have been presenting musical comedies for several years.

In "Rudolph and Adolph" the new stars have a vehicle written especially for them and contrived with the express purpose of fitting their personal peculiarities. The role entrusted to Dan Mason is that of Rudolph Dinkenspiel, a horse doctor, with a harmless penchant for the society of young and fascinating ladies. He becomes acquainted with Adolph Dinkenspiel, a ladies' tailor, played by Charles A. Mason, and purchases a half interest in his business so that he might "measure 'em round and round." The advent of the horse doctor, who cannot forget his original occupation and methods, into the establishment of the ladies' tailor gives rise to a number of entanglements which are said to be both new and very funny. There is no attempt at high art in this entertainment, which has been devised simply with the intention of furnishing amusement and driving away dull care in a legitimate and polite manner.

As in all presentations of this type songs, dances and specialties will be liberally interspersed. Mason and Mason themselves will sing three new songs written especially for them and used by no other organization. Other divertisements will be furnished by Lottie Williams Salter, Beatrice McKenzie, Lew H. Newcomb, Nellie Maskell, C. Jay Williams, the Laurence sisters, Estelle Gilbert, Gloria Alonso and Samuel Mirfield. This company will appear on Saturday matinee and night, Feb. 22, Washington's birthday.

"A RUNAWAY GIRL."

One of the surest evidences of the success and popularity of a musical comedy is the demand made by the audience for the repetition of more or less of the musical numbers that are introduced or that form a necessary part of the play. This fact has been and is nightly illustrated by the demand made by the large audiences attending the production of the international musical comedy success, "A Runaway Girl." From two to six encores are exacted of the artists singing the catchy airs of "The Sly Cigarette," "Follow the Man from Cook's," "The Boy Guessed Right," "High Society," "Not the Kind of Girl I Care About," "Soldiers in the Park," or as more popularly known "Listen to the Band," and the negro oddity, "The Goblins." These musical gems, and several others, are nightly sung in this production, and in conjunction with may graceful dances performed by both principals and chorus, and the bright wit and sparkling humor pervading the play, have served to establish "A Runaway Girl" as the cleanest, merriest and most meritorious musical comedy of the age. This exquisite comedy, with all its original music and multitudinous catchy features, will be witnessed in this city at the Temple on the evening of Friday, Feb. 21.

"A STRANGER IN A STRANGE LAND."

"Young Corbett," who comes to the Masonic Temple next Thursday, and who is just now the idol of the fistic world, will make his first appearance in this city, and the only one of the season, as his tour is necessarily a limited one. His quick and decisive defeat of the hitherto invincible Terry McGovern, the terrible, certainly entitled him to the title of the featherweight champion of the world, and the modesty of his demeanor since that has only served to increase the number of admirers which would have ordinarily come to his lot. His present appearance is in connection with the comedy farce of "A Stranger in a Strange Land," one of the most popular of the successes of a year ago at the Manhattan theater, New York. During the play he has a limited round sparring match with his traveling partner. As for the farce there are few of as high a class of merit. It is a matter of congratulation that in these days of Frenchified farces, when bedsteads and pajamas seem to be a necessary adjunct to create laughter, that an American farce constructed on legitimate lines, pure, clean and wholesome, without the shadow of suggestiveness, has scored a greater triumph than any of the imported doses. "A Stranger in a Strange Land" is the joint work of Sidney Wilmer and Walter Vincent, two American authors, who have had some success already in bringing into existence some laugh-provoking creations.

BURRELL COMEDY COMPANY.

The Vandergrift, Pa., Citizen has the following to say of the Burrill Comedy company, which commences a three-days' engagement at the Masonic Temple on Monday, with dime matinees on Tuesday and Wednesday:

"Laura Hulbert, supported by the Burrill Comedy company, opened a three-nights' engagement Thursday evening at the Casino, presenting for the first time in Vandergrift the celebrated military play, entitled, "The Deserter." The plot of the play surrounds incidents and happenings during the civil war and the play abounds in comedy as well as pathos. It has its sensational feature as well, and special scenery is used. The company is strong and fully sustains its just reputation of being one of the best of its kind on the road. The specialties were numerous and well appreciated. Miss Adelle Adams in classic poses, Miss Leslie Palmer in illustrated songs, Miss Babette Burge in songs and dances, Little Elsie in songs and Jack Spaulding in monologues, songs and imitations, were all very good and their several specialties were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience."

They will play at popular prices—ten, twenty and thirty cents—and ladies can secure best reserved seats for Monday evening for fifteen cents if they purchase them in advance.

THEATRICAL JOTTINGS.

The Chicago press are a unit in the praise of John Drew and his play. "The Second in Command." It is the first attraction that has visited that city in years in which press opinions have been so in accord.

Attractions at the Masonic Temple week after next will be as follows: Virginia Harned, in "Alice of Old Vincennes," Monday, Feb. 24; "Peck's Bad Boy," Feb. 26; Vogel & Deming's minstrels, Feb. 27, and "The Dairy Farm," March 1.

Virginia Harned, in "Alice of Old Vincennes," had a phenomenal week in Baltimore, ending with tonight. It is said that seats for the entire engagement were all sold on the opening day of the sale. Next week Miss Harned will play in Detroit and will come direct from that city to Fort Wayne.

One of the unique song hits in "The Chaperons" is a trio, entitled, "The Man Behind the Scenes," in which Harry Conor, Jos. C. Miron and Miss Trixie Frigenza, the clever commedienne, give an amusing burlesque on the mishaps which sometimes mar the stage performance.

One of the cleverest negro ditties, or more popularly known as "coon songs and dances," ever written and arranged is to be seen at each performance of "A Runaway Girl." Strange as it may appear, it was composed by a couple of Englishmen and is considered the neatest and most natural creation in that line that has been seen for years. Arthur Dunn and Miss Clara Belle Jerome execute this charming song and dance during the performance, and with the assistance of the electrical moonlight effect, make a decided hit in its rendition.

An Honest Doctor
AND
Eminent Specialist.
D. W. Tucker, A. M. M. D.
INDIANA MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE.
Many Imitators, But no Equal.

Permit us to call the attention of our readers to the important fact that there are three essential steps in the successful treatment of disease. First, a correct diagnosis; second, the selection of the proper remedies in their best possible form, and third, a thorough knowledge of knowing how to prepare these remedies and their physiological effects upon the human body, in order to effect a cure. In the three above named facts Dr. D. W. Tucker has no equal in the state of Indiana. He has treated many thousands of cases within the last Thirty Years.

If one fourth of the people that are now in the cemetery had consulted and been treated by some good Specialist in place of their family doctor, they would have lived twenty years longer. Only a Specialist, who thoroughly understands Chronic Diseases, can treat them successfully. Dr. Tucker is without doubt the ablest specialist in this state and has treated and cured more cases of Chronic and Private Diseases than all the other Specialists in this state combined.

A doctor that has restored thousands to health, and can produce undeniable proof of the fact, must be regarded with respect. This is the record of Dr. Tucker, which cannot be equaled by any other specialist in the United States. His success is the result of THIRTY YEARS of careful study, extensive research, observation and remarkable experience in the treatment and cure of thousands of chronic and private diseases of the Brain, Heart, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder, Rectum, Gleet, Impotency, Nervous Diseases, Catarrh, Piles, Varicocele, Strictures, and all private diseases of both sexes. If Dr. Tucker cannot cure you no other specialist in the United States can. He has deposited in bank ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS that he has treated more cases of chronic diseases and performed more remarkable cures than any THREE SPECIALISTS in the State of Indiana. Painless Childbirth.

Zoa Phora the Only Safe, Sure and Ever Ready Remedy in the Three Danger Periods of Woman's Life.

It Carries Women Safely Through the Terrible Ordeal of Childbirth and Afterwards Restores the Organs to Strength and Vigor of Health.

TRIAL BOTTLE MAILED FREE.

The stern agony, the awful writhing pain of childbirth is known to every woman who is a mother who did not prepare for the terrible ordeal with Zoa Phora. With the use of Zoa Phora many women testify they find the labor of bearing children very easy, the pain almost nothing, and altogether a different time during confinement and the days preceding it.

MRS. EMMA DODSON, Jerseyville, Ills.

Mrs Emma Dodson, of Jerseyville, Ills., says: "I have kept Zoa Phora in my house for twenty-one years, using it at monthly periods and preparatory to confinement. Before I used Zoa Phora I was very irregular and suffered terribly whenever I did menstruate, but by using it I became regular, and suffered very little. I have often said I had sooner go through childbirth without an attending physician than do without Zoa Phora previous to confinement. I have been the mother of five children. Before the first two came I had not heard of Zoa Phora, and suffered labor with one fifty hours before delivery. The last three births I used Zoa Phora during each pregnancy and was not in labor over four hours for any of them. I have now passed safely and comfortably through the critical time, called change of life. I suffered very little pain, because I used Zoa Phora. It is the best medicine for painful menstruation I have ever seen, and I have given it to several women, and have never known it to fail."

Zoa Phora has brought the sunshine of health into the home of many a despairing woman. It has made it possible for women to have children who never in the world could have stood the pain and suffering and laceration that must surely have followed the birth of a child in their old condition. The stories of some of the women who now praise this great medicine, Zoa Phora are truly wonderful. They tell of monthly pain and misery suffered for years. They tell of the impossibility of bearing a child for the reason that the organs were not strong enough to carry the child to the end of the time, but would miscarry, greatly endangering the life of the mother. Now they assert they have had children with scarcely a pain and with little inconvenience after the birth was over, few pains and no bad after effect.

Get a dollar bottle of Zoa Phora at the nearest drug store, or the Zoa Phora Co., Kalamazoo, Mich., will send it to you prepaid on receipt of price. It is no experiment as hundreds of grateful women testify daily. The doctor is always glad to answer questions. Do not hesitate to write for information.

We will be glad to send you a large trial bottle free upon receipt of 10c. to cover postage and packing. Address, Zoa Phora Co., Kalamazoo, Mich.

IN HIS OLD PLACE

NICKEL PLATE PREPARING FOR THE BIG ENGINES.

Joseph E. Jones, for two and a half years foreman of the Wabash tin shop, has resigned for the purpose of taking a position elsewhere. It is understood here that he has been offered a better position than the one from which he has just retired, and he will leave in a day or two for the south to look into the proffered position. Mr. Jones is an expert in his line of work and his services are in demand.

Louis Neuroth, notice of whose return to Fort Wayne was made in The Sentinel several days ago, succeeded Mr. Jones, assuming the office this morning. This position is not new to Mr. Neuroth. He filled it twenty-seven years, leaving it two or three years ago to take a similar position with the Grand Trunk road at Port Huron, Mich. Mr. Neuroth is a clever fellow, besides being a fine workman, and he makes friends wherever he goes. His parting from the "boys" at the Grand Trunk shops was made the occasion for a formal expression of regret on their part, the meeting taking place in the shops at the close of the working hours. Mr. Neuroth was presented with a pair of gold-rimmed spectacles and a pair of gold cuff buttons by the tinners and other shopmen with whom he had been associated two and a half years.

There are rumors of other changes at the Wabash shops, but if any are contemplated, The Sentinel was unable to learn their character and the names of the men affected. A change in management usually is accompanied by changes in the subordinate offices and this has already been the case at the Wabash shops to a more or less extent.

BECOMES NICKEL PLATE AGENT.

Cincinnati, Enquirer: "Wallace A. McGowan, who has been agent of the Red Line at St. Louis, has been appointed agent of the Nickel Plate line at Kansas City, succeeding Mr. Curtis, who has been appointed general western agent of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis road, with headquarters at Omaha. Mr. McGowan has a host of friends here, where he was located for many years with the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road, and later was the representative of the Lake Erie and Western."

YOUNG AND PROSPEROUS.

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Menefee Foundry company, C. M. Menefee and his sons composing the membership of the firm and C. M. Menefee, H. B. Menefee and O. F. Menefee are the directors. C. M. Menefee will officiate as president and general manager and J. W. Menefee will serve as secretary and treasurer. The shop is located on Thomas street and it gives employment to nearly forty men. The foundry was established in 1891 and its growth has been steady and substantial.

WILL BUILD TURNTABLE.

A gang of laborers from Chicago arrived in the city yesterday and immediately began getting the material for the foundation for a new and larger turntable at the Nickel Plate yards. The foundation will be constructed of concrete in its entirety, as are all bridge and building foundations now put in on that line of railway. The long-looked-for big engines are ready for delivery as soon as provision for turning them has been made.

TWO ENGINES IN COLLISION.

Pennsylvania road engine 336 and switch engine 137 had a collision at the east yards this morning and both were slightly damaged and will be out of service for several hours. The pilot was knocked off the road engine and the tank of the switch engine was overturned and battered. None of the enginemen were injured.

WAS THE GUEST OF B. R. T.

T. R. Dodge, second vice grand master of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who was the guest of the local lodge Thursday evening, left yesterday for Wabash, where he stopped over last night in the interest of the brotherhood. Mr. Dodge attended a special meeting of the order in this city while here and delivered a very interesting address, giving some statistics illustrating the rapid growth of the brotherhood. Six years ago, in 1896, the brotherhood had 20,000 members; the first of January, 1902, it had over 50,000, increasing during the period mentioned over 30,000. Its financial condition is just as prosperous and flattering as is the membership. It has been meeting its liabilities promptly and at the same time its funds have been growing steadily. While the Fort Wayne branch of the order is not the most important in a numerical sense, it is considered one of the most prosperous and will soon have 200 names on the roll. There are 190 now. At the special meeting Thursday night Charles Malcom, a Wabash switchman, and H. F. Banks, a Pennsylvania brakeman, were taken into the brotherhood, the vice grand master directing the work of initiation. The report of the men who have the sale of tickets for the annual ball in hand showed a big demand and indicates that the coming ball will be the greatest in the history of the brotherhood, which is saying a good deal. Last year over 500 tickets were sold.

EARLY RAILROADING.

J. H. Goldsborough, who now resides in Lebanon, and who was one of the first men employed on the Madison and Indianapolis road, relates a number of interesting reminiscences concerning the opening of the first road in this state. "C. S. Irish ran the first engine, and his remains are buried at Madison. The engine he ran was hook motion, and to reverse it the engineer had to use hand levers in order to get the rock shaft in proper condition to let the hook drop to its proper place. The engine had thirty-six-inch drivers, fourteen-inch cylinder, twenty-four-inch stroke; the stack was four feet in diameter at the top and tapered down where it bolted to the boiler to twelve inches. The engineer did not have to crane his neck out of the cab window to see around the stack, for there was no cab, and when the engineer and fireman were not engaged in other duties they were kept busy fighting fire to keep their clothing from burning. There was no pilot, the only protection being heavy pieces bolted to the bumper and extending within six inches of the track, and then a broom. This broom extended down to the rail. Mr. Thomas, the first man who had charge, concluded he could make some improvement on the front of this engine to protect stock that might come in contact with it. This improvement he called a cowcatcher. Another feature of this engine was the footboard; it extended all round the boiler about twelve inches from the side frame of the engine, and a man could pass all around the engine. After the road was completed the company purchased ten Rogers engines, all small except the famous old J. G. Marshall; this engine was hired by the contractors that built the I., B. & W., and Thomas Noble ran it. The officers of the road at the time I quit railroading and the leading engineers were: John Brough, president; John R. Cravens, vice president; Benjamin McGehan, superintendent; Jerome Prindle, roadmaster. Engineers: Robert Wands, Benjamin Smith, Joshua McOley, James Ambrose, James Folander, Samuel Idler, James Lilly, Thomas Noble, Philip Housler, James Mooney, Isaiah Hazlip, Jacob Wilson, Daniel Elmore; Thomas Wray, master mechanic; J. O. D. Lilley, foreman."

WANT MACHINISTS, NOT BOYS.

The call for machinists at the Pittsburg shops, through announcement in The Sentinel last evening, brought some good men and an army of common laborers, many of them lads not over fifteen or sixteen years of age. Master Mechanic Fitzpatrick wants experienced machinists and experienced machinists' helpers and no others need apply. This incident illustrates the importance of learning a trade and should be a lesson to the young men of the city who will soon be looking for a means of livelihood. Good mechanics are always in demand and at good wages, while the common laborer must necessarily be unemployed a good portion of the time.

PUTTING IN NEW CHECK BOARD

A new check board with a capacity for 1,000 numbers will be placed in the Pittsburg boiler shop office, at the gate where all the men employed in the locomotive and blacksmith departments of the works report when they go to work. The old board has 863 numbers and there are 898 employes who work in the shops west of Lafayette and use this board. Another for recording the presence of employes in the car shops on the east side of Lafayette street and still another at the east car shops. The shop force is the largest in the history of the works and passes the 1,400 mark.

SHIP NARROW GAUGE CARS.

The east shops of the Pennsylvania, where twenty box and twenty gondola cars for the Waynesburg and Washington narrow gauge road are being built, has commenced shipping these cars and four were sent out today. These little fellows have to be dismounted from their trucks, their bodies placed on flat cars and trucks upon gondolas, and the work of loading them is considerable, the east shops not being equipped for handling cars in this manner. The order will be rushed to completion and the last of next week will see the end of it.

MOTHER AND BABE

Sick mother—sick child! That's the way it works when a mother is nursing her infant.

Scott's Emulsion is an ideal medicine for nursing mothers. It has a direct effect on the milk. Sometimes the mother is weak; her thin milk does not make the baby grow. Scott's Emulsion changes all that. The rich cod-liver oil in Scott's Emulsion feeds the mother and gives a flow of rich, nourishing milk for the baby.

The medicine in Scott's Emulsion not only strengthens the mother but goes naturally through the milk and strengthens the child.

SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl street, New York

WRECK BROUGHT HIM WEALTH.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 15.—An engineer asleep at his post, a wreck in which one man is killed, a coronial investigation, resulting in the engineer and two others being held to await the action of the grand jury, form a series of events of this week that may result in William Jackson receiving his share of a large estate. Jackson is the engineer who, by his own frank admissions, was responsible for the wreck on the Fort Wayne railroad near Haysville on Monday morning, when Maurice Burk was killed. Jackson, his fireman and a brakeman yesterday were held by the coroner's jury on charges of criminal negligence. This morning Coroner Jesse M. McGeary received a letter, dated Belleville, Ill., and signed F. Helms, in which the writer says a man by the name of Jackson, and an engineer, is being looked for by representatives of a large estate of which Jackson is entitled to a large share. The letter asks the assistance of the coroner in finding whether the Jackson who was in the wreck is the man wanted. The coroner will communicate with the engineer at once.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton pay car, which will arrive here this evening, will remain over Sunday.

W. A. Jordon, a tinner, reported for duty at the east car shops yesterday, after an absence on account of sickness.

After a painful seige of six weeks with rheumatism, Brakeman J. S. Carry has reported for duty on the Nickel Plate.

Mr. Kline, of the Grand Rapids shops at Grand Rapids, was in the city yesterday, on business with the local shop officials.

Samuel McAfee, the blacksmith, who was sick three or four days, resumed his duties at the Pittsburg shops this morning.

Night Yardmaster C. A. Stemen, of the Pittsburg, has recovered from an illness which kept him from his work three or four nights.

A special train of five cars, supposed to carry raw silk from the orient, passed through the city, over the Pittsburg, last evening, bound for New York.

Fireman Will Humphreys, who was injured in the wreck on the Wabash at Lagro several weeks ago, is now able to get about quite comfortably with the aid of a crutch.

Foreman T. J. Rodabaugh's office at the Pittsburg shops has received attention at the hands of the painter and the interior walls, ceilings and furniture present a very pretty appearance today.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Croy returned from Greenville, Mich., Thursday evening. They had been looking after private business in that city. Mr. Croy was on Grand Rapids and Indiana train No. 8 and was standing in the aisle of the car putting on his overcoat when the chair car left the rails. The sudden pull backwards of the car in which he rode threw Mr. Croy down and slightly bruised his knees. Mr. Croy is employed at the east car shops.

Stuart Rehrer, of the Electric works, went to Hamilton, Ohio, this morning on business for the company.

W. Kramer has taken the position of night caller for the Pittsburg round house, vice W. Simmons, resigned.

The date of arrival of the Wabash pay car has been changed and that most welcome event will not occur until February 25. Bulletins giving the 21st as the date of arrival were posted at the shops last week.

A 150-light generator and an 85-horse power motor to the Cascade company, Tacoma, Wash., and a 12-horse power motor to Hagerstown, Md., were the shipments from the Electric works this morning.

Fred Kaiser, Wabash boilermaker, who had a wrist sprained a few days ago, went to the Peru hospital this morning to remain until he is able to work again. Henry Rehling, also a boilermaker at the same shop, is sick.

F. C. Smith and his son, Floyd E. Smith, of the east car shops, have returned from Lima, where they attended the funeral of Floyd Brown. The deceased met death in the explosion of a Lake Erie and Western locomotive boiler. He was a fireman on that road.

No. 605, of the big Atlantic type of passenger engines, now in service on the Wabash, left the shops this morning and this afternoon went to Peru to take her place in the service. The engine was stripped of the attachments of one side by a collision at Lagro.

Boilermaker D. D. Meyer had the left side of his face scalded at the Pittsburg round house last night. He was repairing a boiler which had just came in off the road and still had steam up. A stud bolt blew out, allowing a stream of water to pour upon the boilermaker.

T. J. Murphy, a brakeman, is again an employe of the Nickel Plate. He quit that road three months ago and went west, expecting to take employment there. When he reached his destination he concluded Fort Wayne was the best place and he refused to take a position there, though one was offered.

Machinist E. Zorbaugh, of the Pittsburg, is suffering from an attack of rheumatism and is confined to his home. Other shopmen who are sick are A. Gerard, Aug. Kruckeberg, G. J. Hasty, G. Buhr, W. Heine and W. Heuer. Edgar H. Lasher, of the 'smith shop, is off duty on account of an injured thumb, and F. M. Shambaugh and George Meyers are looking after private business.

RATES WITH MARCONI.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 15.—In return for a contribution from the federal government towards the erection of a Marconi telegraph station at Cape Breton for the carrying on of the trans-Atlantic wireless telegraph system, the Marconi company has agreed to give a rate 60 per cent. lower than the present cable rate. Government messages will be handled at a still lower rate.

OLERK'S WISE SUGGESTION.

"I have lately been much troubled with dyspepsia, belching and sour stomach," writes M. S. Mead, leading pharmacist of Attleboro, Mass. "I could eat hardly anything without suffering several hours. My clerk suggested I try Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which I did, with most happy results. I have had no more trouble and when one can go to eating mince pie, cheese, candy and nuts after such a time, their digestion must be pretty good. I endorse Kodol Dyspepsia Cure heartily." You don't have to diet. Eat all the good food you want but don't overload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests your food. Meyer Bros. & Co.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

Writes a Special Letter to Mrs. Pinkham Telling How She Was Cured.

The relation of woman's nerves and generative organs is very close; consequently nine tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Herein we prove conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will quickly relieve all this trouble.

MISS W. CHILDS-BLACKBURN.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I take pleasure in acknowledging the effects of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In my estimation there is no female remedy to equal it. Weakness not properly attended to, together with the close confinement at my desk brought on nervous prostration, so much so that for a year I doctored continually. I tried different remedies which only succeeded in poisoning my system, and my stomach refused food. A neighbor who had suffered with ovarian troubles and was perfectly cured, called my attention to your Vegetable Compound, and I made up my mind to give it a two months' fair trial. However, before one month had passed I was like a new woman, and after six weeks faithful use of the Compound I was in perfect health. It certainly is of great benefit to women, and I wish every poor suffering woman could have a chance to try it. Yours very truly, Miss W. Childs-Blackburn, 2022 Fifth Ave., Rock Island, Ill."

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it soothes, strengthens, heals and tones up the delicate female organism. It is a positive cure for all kinds of female complaints; that bearing down feeling, backache, displacement of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries and is invaluable during the change of life.

How Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. Borst.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—When I wrote to you some time ago for advice I really thought my days were numbered. I was so ill that I could not stand on my feet for fifteen minutes at a time. I had female troubles in many of their worst forms; inflammation and ulceration of the womb; leucorrhœa; bearing down pains; headache and backache; nervous prostration. My kidneys were out of order and blood in a bad condition. Everyone, and even my doctor thought I was going into consumption. I followed your advice faithfully for six months with the result that I became a well woman, and it cost me much less than a doctor's bill. I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life."—Mrs. Samuel Borst, 7 Cozy Ave., Oneonta, N. Y.

The above letter shows how unerring is the advice which Mrs. Pinkham gives to women who write her about their sickness; as the advice is free and always helpful it is not strange that she advises more than one hundred thousand sick women every year. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

VARICOCELE!

Have You Got It?

We Will Cure You In Five Days.

Do not waste time taking medicine, applying local applications, electric belts or suspensories. You burn your money. That kind of treatment will never cure you. Never a day passes without a number call at our office suffering from this terrible malady, Varicocele, telling us their misfortune of falling in hands of quacks; been treating with them from one to five years—spending a small fortune and now worse than before taking their treatment.

INFLUENCE

MENTAL AND MORAL.

The state of the mother during gestation may influence the whole future of the child. It is highly important that pregnant women meet the issue with calm composure and with as little pain as possible. Animals of the lower kingdom require no outside aid to undergo painless gestation and delivery of young, for they are not physically hampered or deformed by dress.

Women suffer agonies when with child, unless they make use of the discoveries of art and science that counteract the effect of dress follies. To-day in every drug store there is one liniment sold at $1 per bottle, which excels in virtue and safeness any like remedy, to be applied externally by hand once a day on the skin in the region of the uterus. It is not a drug for you to swallow. It is Mother's Friend, so named because it has never failed to give comfort and ease to any woman who ever used it in motherhood.

DROPPING IN THE THROAT.

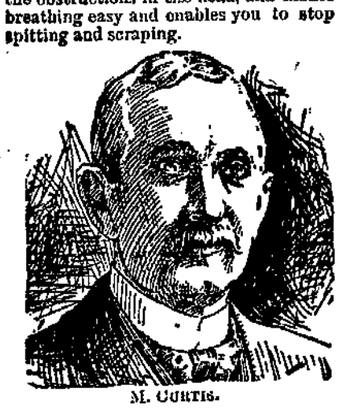
Blood Wine Heals the Diseased Membranes—a Modern Treatment Endorsed by all Physicians.

When catarrh of the head gets to a place where the discharge runs down the nasal passages and drops into the throat it has reached the danger point.

If you wait until it goes that far don't let it go any further—for the next place it attacks is the bronchial tubes and the lungs. Catarrh undoubtedly causes more consumption than anything else, and like consumption it must be treated through the blood. Local applications at best can only serve to work out the discharges. They don't get at the root of the trouble, and sometimes, quite often, in fact, they irritate the inflamed outer surfaces and aggravate the disease. "Blood Wine" passes into the blood and purifies it.

The poisonous matters, which keeps the membranes of the head and respiratory organs, are filtered, passed out of the system and the diseased parts healed, to stay healed. It will stop the dropping in the throat and all discharges, sweeten the breath, relieve the irritation of the nasal passages, throat and windpipe. It overcomes the burning, smarting sensation in the eyes. It removes the obstructions in the head, and makes breathing easy and enables you to stop spitting and scraping.



M. CURTIS.

One of the many people who has been thoroughly cured of catarrh, and owes it to "Blood Wine," is Mr. M. Curtis, a prominent manufacturer and contractor of Boston, who lives on Waters Avenue, Everett, Mass., and he says:

"I have been completely cured of catarrh. This is an awful climate for it; most everyone is affected by it more or less, and I had it for years. It grew on me and was plainly ruining my health, making me thin, nervous, sleepless and with no appetite. I tried "Blood Wine" because its theory of treating catarrh seemed feasible. One bottle improved me, and four more bottles cured me. I still keep it in the house and wouldn't do without it."

"Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle, but you can sample it free of charge at Pellens & Polster's drug store.

Mrs. John Yount and Stephen Williams Draw Money From Bank and Depart Together.

John Yount, a well-to-do farmer residing six miles southeast of Warsaw, is experiencing troubles of a domestic character entirely out of the ordinary, says the Warsaw Times.

Mr. Yount is past 70 years of age and is married to his fifth wife, formerly Miss Jessie Titsworth, a good-looking young lady of 24 years. Winter and spring were joined in wedlock two or three years ago, and it seems everything about the Yount home got along swimmingly until William, 18 years old, and the son of Mr. Yount by a former marriage, appeared on the scene a few days ago. The warm attachment of the young man for his young stepmother was evidently reciprocal, for on Tuesday last Yount, junior, eloped with his father's wife, taking along with them $450, which Yount perceived belonged to him, but which was deposited in a Warsaw bank in the wife's name. It is said the eloping couple was last seen driving west of Warsaw, and it is now thought that the "young folks" are in the vicinity of Winamac, where Mrs. Yount has relatives.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of both of them on the charge of larceny—not wife-stealing—but the taking of the harness on the horse they drove. Some time ago Mr. Yount had a warrant sworn out for the arrest of his son, charging him with the theft of $260, money that was paid the former by his young wife's grandmother on his agreeing to support the old lady the balance of her life. The son left for parts unknown and escaped apprehension. Not long ago the young man returned home, and it was through the pleadings of both his father and fair stepmother that Sheriff Smith refrained from serving the warrant. By many it was thought that William, the son, was falsely accused. However the old grandmother—the old lady who was to receive support for the balance of her days in exchange for the sum turned over to her granddaughter and the latter's husband—is now an inmate of the county infirmary, because she was without funds, her $250 having disappeared. Mr. Yount's domestic affairs may certainly be described as being in a sad plight.

BASE BALL NOTES.

Frank Hulseman, the Lajoie of the Southern league, has notified Manager McPhee, of Cincinnati, that he guesses he won't play in Cincinnati this year. He has received $200 advance money and has not returned any of it.

George Tobeau will probably lease the old National league grounds at Louisville, and has secured an option on a very desirable lot near the center of the city.

FORT WAYNE MEN TO SPEAK.

The members of Monroeville lodge, No. 293, I. O. O. F., are making elaborate arrangements for the dedicatory services of their new hall which will take place Tuesday, Feb. 25, 1902. In connection with the regular services, which will be conducted by Lieutenant Governor Gilbert, of Indiana, and District Deputy Grand Master Alexander Johnson there will be degree work by teams of visiting lodges that have been invited and will be present. The public addresses will be made by the lieutenant governor and district deputy.

WERE OLD RESIDENTS.

Death has claimed two well-known ladies who resided for many years in the eastern part of the county. Mrs. Lawler, wife of the late Stephen Lawler, of Monroeville, died Monday at the age of 75. Mrs. George Reynolds, three miles east of Monroeville, died Friday at the age of 65 years, 7 months and 11 days.

IN NORTHERN INDIANA

Russell R. Leonard, former postmaster of North Manchester, is dead.

Kokomo will have a city market and public hall, the latter seating 3,000 persons.

The Northern Indiana conference of the M. E. church will meet at Marion April 16.

Daniel R. Ball, who was formerly in the grain business at Silver Lake, Kosciusko county, died suddenly at Juniata, Neb.

Retail grocers at Wabash have organized the Wabash Delivery company with $1,600 capital stock, and will undertake co-operative delivery of goods about the city.

Mrs. J. T. Stewart, of Peru, who was so severely burned some weeks since by a gasoline explosion, mistaking the fluid found in a basin for water and placing it on the stove, died of her injuries.

A patent to 160 acres of land in Jay county, dated March 15, 1837, and bearing the signature of Martin Van Buren, president, by M. Van Buren, secretary, has just been recorded at Portland.

The city council of Huntington created a new ward at its recent meeting by dividing the Third ward, an overgrown district, and making a fourth, and at the same time selected and confirmed two new members for the same.

Samuel Bucher, 60 years of age and very well known, dropped dead in his dooryard at Huntington Friday morning. Heart disease is presumed to have been the cause. Bucher had been blind for many years.

Webb Bros. will rebuild a new opera house at Peru as soon as they dispose of five hundred tickets at $10 each, good for any five shows to be given in the house. About 200 tickets are sold to date.

A sensation was on at Goshen when it was learned that Robert Hale, a negro, had secured a license to wed Mamie Kassell, a white girl of 17. Hale figured in a prominent murder trial at Royal Oak, Mich., recently.

John B. Drake, one of Goshen's most prominent citizens, died yesterday of a complication of diseases. He was nearly 76 years of age and had resided in Goshen over forty years. He leaves two daughters and a son.

The Standard Oil company has, it is said, met defeat in its fight with the Independent company at Kendallville, and has decided not to waste its time and money in any further attempt to control the oil trade of that city.

From reports received by State Statistician Johnson, wheat in Whitley and DeKalb counties is in bad condition, and the prospects are that the crop in both counties will be small. Mr. Johnson says thus far the month of February has been favorable to the wheat crop.

Teeters & Little, of Garrett, have filed a suit for $10,000 damages against the Incandescent Light and Stove Co., an Ohio corporation, on account of the big explosion in the plaintiffs' hardware store in Garrett last July in which their hardware stock was practically ruined.

Peru will solve the failing natural gas problem by the installation of a hot water heating system. Leading citizens have formed a company, visited a number of plants already in existence, and will shortly apply for a franchise from the city council.

In the suit brought by Mrs. Bridget Roach, of Huntington, against Mrs. Revarre, known as Kil-so-quah, the 90-year-old Miami squaw, for possession of 120 acres of land, the jury held that the defendant held a life interest in forty acres, but confirmed the plaintiff's title to the land in fee.

The Elkhart city council has ordered that the question of building a municipal water works system be submitted to the voters at the coming city election. It is alleged that the water company is charging exorbitant rates and is rendering poor service, and the question will probably be made a local issue.

An unusual spectacle was witnessed in the circuit court at Laporte in the trial of the Henning divorce case by the appearance of ten children, ranging in age from the youth of 12 years to the eldest son of 32 years, to give evidence of a sensational character against the father on behalf of the mother to whom the decree of legal separation was granted.

Noah Showalter, of Butler, was visited by three of his brothers this week. Seldom do as many men as old as they are get together for a reunion. Peter Showalter, of Lagrange, is 85 years old; Noah is 81, John is 78 and Abram Showalter, of Onekanna, Mich., is 68. They are all able to get around and walk to Butler and back.

Christian Heitzel, a pioneer of Noble county, died this week at his home near Diamond lake at the age of 80 years. Heitzell was a member of the famous band of "Regulators" which was successful in ridding that county of blacklegs in the late 50's, and is said to be the man who placed the rope about the neck of Gregory MacDougal, one of the leaders of the desperadoes, who was hung by the vigilance committee in those days. MacDougal's remains are buried in a cemetery north of Rome City.

PREVENTS AND BREAKS UP

GRIP

A spontaneous epidemic of Grip has broken out all over the country. From the East, West, North and South come reports of prominent people who are victims of the Grip—actors' and actresses' places are being filled by understudies, speakers disappoint their audiences, preachers their congregations. Society leaders' hearts are made sad, and their drawing-rooms depleted by regrets from stricken guests. And yet there is an infallible preventive and cure by which you can keep your social and business engagements—only carry in your pocket and take a few pellets occasionally of Dr. Humphreys' Celebrated Specific "SEVENTY-SEVEN" ("77"), and you will be immune from Grip and Colds. THE SECRET OF FLUFFY HAIR.

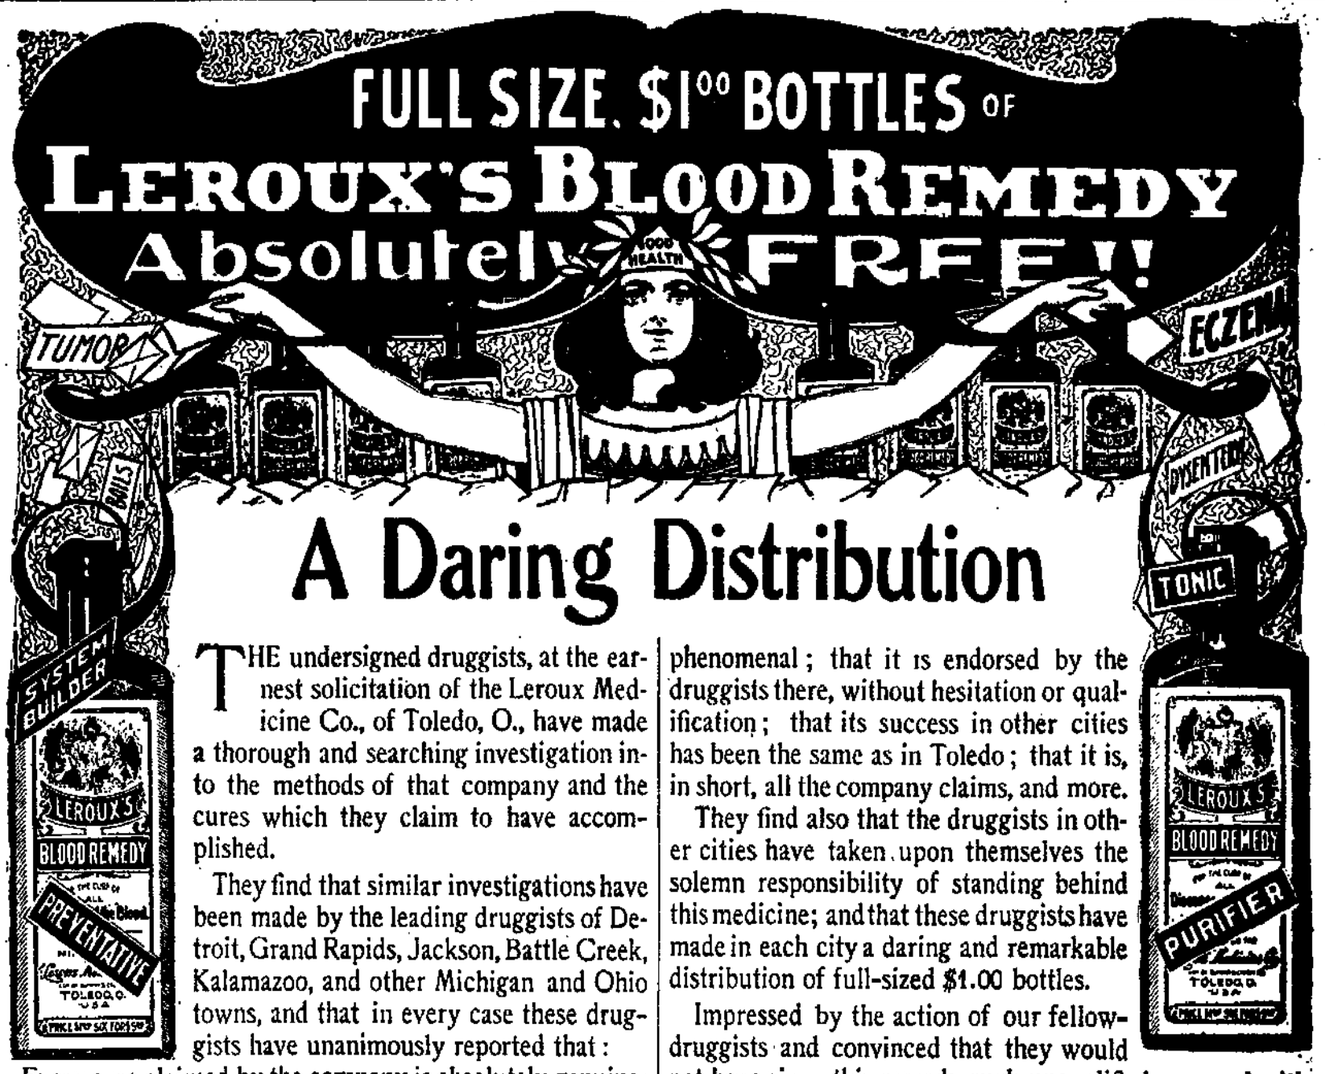
Naturally every woman is anxious to have fluffy hair since aureoles are in fashion, but not all are able to accomplish it. After all, massage will not give the desired quality, and other devices are resorted to by those who are anxious to appear well coiffured. One simple method is the brushing of the hair every night with a solution of bay rum and rose water. Most of the nostrums sold in the shops for keeping hair in curl or waves, if not injurious, are merely elementary mixtures, such as sugar and gum arabic dissolved in water. A simple curling fluid may be made of three and a half to four ounces of gum arabic dissolved in a half pint of distilled water, into which eau de cologne or lavender water is dropped until the cloudiness disappears, when the clear portion is strained off and bottled for use.

A Parisan hair dresser gave to a Philadelphia woman, who is one of his best customers when she is in Paris, the recipe for the following solution, which is used in his establishment for giving the hair a fluffy, wavy appearance: Salt of tartar, one dram; powdered cochineal, one-half dram; one fluid dram each of liquor of ammonia and esprit of roses; glycerine, one-quarter of an ounce; one and one-half fluid ounces of rectified spirits, and eighteen ounces of distilled water. According to his formula, this was left to dissolve for a week, being regularly shaken up and filtered before bottling for use. When the hair is moistened with the mixture, loosely adjusted and allowed to dry, a very charming effect is obtained.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

THE SIAMESE MINISTER.

For the first time in history there is a Siamese minister permanently stationed in Washington. Heretofore the envoy to the British court from Siam has been ex-officio minister to the United States, but now the land of the white elephant has sent a representative especially to Uncle Sam. His title is "His Excellency Phya Akharajvaradhara," but his actual name is not divulged, as Siamese customs forbid the general use of a nobleman's name. His immediate family may handle it with impunity, but the outside world is supposed to be content with referring to the individual merely by title. Phya, it may be said, means marquis. The remainder of the formidable title not even the marquis' secretary—who is an Englishman named Loftus—can translate satisfactorily.

The Siamese minister resides at the Arlington, and so far has not mingled much in society. He is about 45 years old, and always appears in public wearing a gorgeous uniform covered with gold lace.—Washington Letter.



A Daring Distribution

THE undersigned druggists, at the earnest solicitation of the Leroux Medicine Co., of Toledo, O., have made a thorough and searching investigation into the methods of that company and the cures which they claim to have accomplished.

They find that similar investigations have been made by the leading druggists of Detroit, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, and other Michigan and Ohio towns, and that in every case these druggists have unanimously reported that:

Every cure claimed by the company is absolutely genuine; that the medicine has accomplished the most amazing results in its home city; that its sales in the home city have been phenomenal; that it is endorsed by the druggists there, without hesitation or qualification; that its success in other cities has been the same as in Toledo; that it is, in short, all the company claims, and more.

They find also that the druggists in other cities have taken upon themselves the solemn responsibility of standing behind this medicine; and that these druggists have made in each city a daring and remarkable distribution of full-sized $1.00 bottles.

Impressed by the action of our fellow-druggists and convinced that they would not have given this remedy such unqualified approval without positive knowledge of its merits, we have decided to follow their example and distribute free of charge

Leroux's Blood Remedy.

Distribution by Meyer Bros. & Co., on TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 18.

The druggists named below hereby invite every person suffering from any form of blood trouble; any person who is run down, discouraged and in need of a powerful tonic; any person who has sought relief in other remedies and failed to find it, to cut out the certificate printed herewith, fill out the blank lines and present it at the store on the date given. We take this responsibility upon ourselves because we have positive knowledge that this remarkable remedy produces almost immediate results, and we are positive that the immense sales that are sure to follow will more than compensate us for the expenditure involved. Signed:

MEYER BROS. & CO.

A Lurking Danger

TO FORT WAYNE PEOPLE.

Prof. A. Keller, of 157 Wells street, says: "Kidney trouble with me was not of a few days' standing, but had been bothering me for a long time, and I had tried many different remedies without getting much relief. As I was reading our paper one day I happened to notice an article about Doan's Kidney Pills, so I went to Meyer Bros. & Co.'s drug store and got a box. Before I began taking them I had a very bad headache, dizzy spells and my feet and back swelled. As soon as I began the use of Doan's Kidney Pills I could feel that the symptoms were growing less, and from day to day I kept improving until I had taken all of the box. I was then stronger and my health was better than it had been in months."

THE RESULTS OF A SHOOTING.

New York, Feb. 14.—Philemon Crelin, of Milburn, N. J., and his daughter, Mrs. Mary Ferguson, whom he shot before turning the revolver upon himself, were still alive at the Memorial hospital at Orange, N. J., today, but the woman's condition was said to be critical. Crelin was thought to have good chance of recovery. He rested quietly during the night and was in fair condition.

CURES RHEUMATISM AND CATARRH AFTER ALL ELSE FAILS—COSTS NOTHING TO TRY.

To cure the most desperate rheumatism or catarrh take Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) the wonder of the age. Cures when all else fails. It kills the poison in the blood and gives a pure, healthy blood supply, stopping all gnawing, shooting aches and pains in the bones, joints, back, and reduces all swellings. Hawking, spitting, dropping in the throat, offensive breath and catarrh, irritations of the mucous membranes quickly disappear, thus making a perfect, permanent cure of the worst rheumatism or deep-seated catarrh. B. B. B. especially advised for old, obstinate cases. Druggists, $1. Trial treatment free and prepaid by writing Dr. Gillam, 213 Mitchell St., Atlanta, Ga. TO THE SICK AND AFFLICTED.

WHO ARE SUFFERING from any cause and cannot get well, consult the eminent specialist, DR. CHARLES ALBERT ZIMMERMAN. There's probably no physician or specialist in Fort Wayne or elsewhere who is curing more chronic, obstinate lingering diseases and cancers than he is.

A NEW TESTIMONIAL EVERY WEEK.

A REAL PHYSICAL RESURRECTION.

Dr. C. A. Zimmerman: Respected Sir.—For humanity's sake I write the following certificate of a cure effected in me by your special treatment. I have been a great sufferer from disease of the heart and dyspepsia for ten years. For four years I have been trying the finest physicians in this place, and every remedy my friends could think of, but to no purpose. Eight months ago I commenced treatment at your Sanitarium. Two months' treatment cured me, and today I am well. Yes, dear friends, who are suffering from chronic disease, give Dr. Zimmerman a trial. If a tedius task you find it, persevere and be patient. Better take time for treatment than to spend a life-time of sickness and suffering as I have done. In fact, I have passed from death into life; a real physical resurrection. MARY J. CHALFANT. Why Don't You Seek Relief?

A really healthy woman has little pain or discomfort at the menstrual period. No woman needs to have any. Wine of Cardui will relieve all those smarting menstrual pains and dragging head, back and side aches caused by falling of the womb and irregular menses.

March 29, 1900, Mrs. W. H. Jones, of Cameron, Mo., wrote the following to The Chattanooga Medicine Company: "I ask you for advice for the treatment of my complaint. I hear a great many women in my condition are cured by Wine of Cardui, so I send for the medicine." The medicine was sent with plain directions regarding treatment required, and August 31, 1900, she wrote again: "Perhaps you will remember Mrs. W. H. Jones who wrote to you six months ago asking for advice which you so kindly gave her. I never will be able to thank you enough for it. I suffered terribly at my monthly periods for three years. I would sometimes go for seven months with no flow at all. Now I have my health back again and am expecting to be confined in January. I cannot praise your medicine enough."

has brought permanent relief to 1,000,000 women who suffered every month. It makes the menstrual organs strong and healthy and gives women relief from the terrible aches and pains that blight so many homes. The only thing necessary is to seek relief—to go to a drug store and get a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui and take the medicine in the privacy of your own home.

Greenwood, La., October 14, 1900.

I have been very sick for some time. I was taken with a severe pain in my side and could not get any relief until I tried a bottle of Wine of Cardui. Before I had taken all of it I was relieved. I feel it my duty to say that you have a wonderful medicine. Mrs. M. A. YOUNT.

THE ERA OF BURNINC MONEY

BONFIRES ON EVERY CORNER OF NTW YORK'S FIFTH AVENUE—FORTUNES BEING MADE.

A lady, and a very pretty lady she was, good to look at from the crown of her head to the soles of her feet, entered the shop. A demure saleswoman, faultlessly got up in black, met the lady at the threshold. They greeted each other pleasantly and then conversed for a few minutes in low tones. The clock had ticked off seven and a half minutes when the lady and the saleswoman approached the front of the shop where I was standing. What followed, says Paul Latzke in the Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post, could not escape me.

"We are very much obliged to you, indeed, Mrs. Blank."

"I am sure the obligation is on my part," was the gracious response, "for a prettier gown I have rarely seen in my life. You don't know how pleased I am at securing it."

"Thank you, indeed, for your good opinion. Good morning."

"Good morning."

The pretty lady had reached the door, which was held open by a page in buttons, when she suddenly seemed to remember something.

"By the way," she said, "I forgot to ask the price of the gown. How much is it?"

"Seventeen hundred dollars," was the calm answer.

"Isn't that rather high?" suggested the lady, as the ordinary woman might have suggested that peaches at 60 cents a basket were high.

"No, I think not," replied the saleswoman, as demure as ever, and also apparently looking at the transaction as the most commonplace thing in the world. "You know it's an exclusive design and the very latest importation. Then the fur trimming——"

"Yes, I suppose that's true; I had forgotten it. All right; be sure and get it around early."

And the thing was over. A dress costing $1,700 had been bought by this woman as freely as the average maid would have bought a handkerchief. It hadn't even occurred to her to ask the price, except as an afterthought.

And that is the whole tone in New York today. It is the Era of Burning Money. There are bonfires on every corner of Fifth avenue, from Twenty-third street to Forty-second, and they are being fed with greenbacks at a rate that would have made the ancients, fabled for their luxury, stare and write themselves down novices. In the jeweler's, the florist's, the furnisher's; everywhere it is the same. Ask any tradesman in the fashionable district and he will tell you that his sales have increased 50 per cent during the last eighteen months, and that his prices have gone up in proportion.

On a misty, rainy morning I was standing in a jeweler's store on Fifth avenue. The place would not have made more than a fair-sized bed room in the home of a prosperous country merchant. Business was evidently dull.

"Trade isn't rushing?" I suggested to the proprietor.

"Oh, no; not this morning," he answered cheerfully; "the ladies are not fond of coming out in wet weather even in carriages."

"And expenses go on?"

"Yes; but who minds expenses when times are what they are today? We pay an annual rental of $7,000 for this place. A few years ago it would have gone begging at $3,000. At this moment, if I should indicate to the landlord that I consider the rent too high, he would rent it over my head inside of an hour at an increase of anywhere from 15 to 50 per cent. It is practically impossible to find a street store location on Fifth avenue today, and even the upper floors are held at figures that would make people stare. A building with a 25-foot front will bring, in a year's rent for a single upper story, more money than one would get for the outright sale of the ordinary store property in many cities. It is simply a question of what landlords have the conscience to ask. Would-be tenants are clamoring at their doorsteps."

This is literally true. There is a piece of unimproved property near Thirty-second street on Fifth avenue on which stands an old-fashioned dwelling house, one of the few that remain in that section. It has a frontage of 25 feet and a depth of less than a hundred. It is owned by a wealthy tailor who bought it some years ago on speculation for $45,000. Today he holds it at $200,000. He has declined an offer of $13,000 a year for ground rent, or more than $500 a front foot. He wants $15,000, and he will get it, and in addition will get a rental equal to 10 per cent per annum for all improvements. As the old building will have to be torn down and a new one erected for business purposes, at an expense of perhaps $40,000, this means that the property will bring, in rents, when improved, $19,000 a year under a ten years' lease, or an assured income of $190,000 on an investment of less than $65,000.

There have been some great stock booms during the past years in Wall street, but even they were not more spectacular than this marvelous real estate boom. Values have not alone doubled, but trebled and quadrupled in places. A hundred stories could be told of men who started out with a "shoe string," and who, through good fortune backed by some foresight, have become millionaires.

The Thirty-fourth street boom began when it was announced that two large department stores had secured the entire Broadway fronts from Thirty-third to Thirty-fifth street, running back well into the block. Shortly afterward rumors began to spread that the Pennsylvania railroad was going to put a huge terminal station somewhere in the same neighborhood. This sent values up like skyrockets. When the official announcement was made the other day that the Pennsylvania depot was to occupy all the space between Seventh and Tenth avenues, from Thirty-second to Thirty-fourth street, and that the Long Island railroad was going to have an underground terminal at the same place, those who had sold, even at the enhanced values, groaned aloud at their misfortune.

A 25-foot lot with an ordinary old-fashioned dwelling house, on Thirty-fourth street near the corner of Eighth avenue—that is, two long blocks from Broadway—was purchased seventeen years ago for $15,000. In the interval there were long periods when it did not pay 2 per cent on the investment. Three days before Christmas this piece of property was sold for $42,000, and the ink was hardly dry on the title deeds when the old holders received an offer of $48,000. They tore their hair with rage, and then set to work to get the property back, if possible, at something near the figure at which they had sold, in order to take on the other purchaser. Through a third party they approached the holder to whom they had transferred with an offer of $44,000, showing a clear profit of $2,000 in two hours on a real estate proposition that, ordinarily, would have been a dead proposition for a couple of years. The man laughed at them. "Why," he said, "as soon as I could get down-town with the title deeds I sold that piece of property for $50,000, and I've got the cash in bank for it now."

HAPPY CHILDHOOD.

The mother who wants respect, and only that, from her children will do well to keep them at a distance, and tolerate neither familiarities nor a frank disclosure of their ideas and fancies. But the mother who values affection, who appreciates the beauty of a close attachment between herself and her younger selves, and aims to establish relation that time and absence will never diminish, must choose over the formality of an unalterably civil intercourse the good-comradeship that sometimes takes amiably some of the criticism it inflicts, says the Woman's Home Companion. There are many conscientious fathers and mothers who make themselves and their children miserable by taking youthful foibles too seriously. It is an innate propensity of a child possessed of the average good health and spirits to make older people laugh with him; not at him, but at the things that seem amusing to his own sense. And the mother who has the blithe and ready humor to enter into his fun becomes his most fascinating companion.

He heeds her rebukes and bends to her correction without ill feeling, where sternness would arouse his pride and ire, for he is assured that she is ready to share all his innocent pranks, and that her disapproval has no foundation in impatience or injustice.

ENJOINED FROM BAPTISM.

Flora Bender, of Frederick, Md., "got religion," as they sometimes say down in that region, and wanted to be baptized. The preacher was willing, but as in her case baptism would mean immersion in a neighboring creek, her parents objected. Miss Flora insisted, though warned that she was not strong enough to stand such an ordeal. Then her parents got out an injunction restraining her until the water shall be of a more congenial temperature.—Chicago Chronicle.

NEW WAR ON RAGTIME.

Chicago musicians of the higher class—those who have engagements with the Thomas orchestra, theater orchestras and concert companies—are discussing a plan of forming a new organization and seceding from the Chicago Federation of Musicians. The reason is the feeling that inferior musicians who play for dances and for money, rather than art's sake, make up the body of the federation. The others want some distinction between the men who play ragtime and think it is music and those who are called upon to interpret the difficult compositions of Wagner, Verdi, Mascagni and Gounod. There are 2,000 union musicians in Chicago, and of these 400 or 500 are said to be in sympathy with the movement.—Chicago Journal.

MR. CARNEGIE'S GIFT ABUSED.

From a speech delivered by Principal Story at the annual conference of the students' councils of Scottish universities, it appears that Mr. Carnegie's recent gift is being abused. The donor intended to give poor students a free education. So far the scheme has been an unqualified success. The advantages have, however, been utilized by other and less needy students, who can well afford to pay the fees. Principal Story, in referring to the matter, said that the best remedy was the creation of a healthy public opinion among undergraduates. If this were formed there would be no more complaint as to the abuse of Mr. Carnegie's gift by people for whom it was not intended.—London Express.

THE COMING MAN A GIANT

"Strange men, far different from those now living, will walk the earth in centuries to come. They will be a race of bradny, four-toed giants," says Henry L. Bruner, head of the biology department of Butler university.

The future man, he declares, will be a being in whom strange transformations shall have taken place; a being in which brain is master, ruling a body much larger than the body of the present man; a body which has lost its floating ribs, its vermiform appendix and its little toes, and in which many other changes have taken place.

"The chest and the upper and lower limbs of the coming man will be larger," prophesies Professor Bruner. "And the future man will be much taller than his brother of today.

"The limbs of the savage are smaller than those of the civilized man. Many artists fail utterly in their attempts to depict the anatomy of the primitive man. They place upon him limbs based on the anatomy of Greek art. The legs of the average man today are better than those of the average man in the days of the great Greek sculptors.

"The future man will live longer. Within a few generations old age will not fall upon men until the century mark is reached. Communicable disease will have been brought under complete control.

"Insects which carry disease will have been exterminated. It is probable that the number of man's ribs will be reduced by the complete loss of the floating ribs; and perhaps also by degeneration at the upper end of the thorax.

"The human foot, which has come from a grasping organ, such as we find in some apes, to a mere ambulatory appendage, will probably suffer the loss of the fifth toes, and the man of the future will become a four-toed animal.

"The future man will not die of appendicitis; even at the present time, in people of sixty years of age, the appendix is closed in more than 50 per cent of the cases observed.

"I believe that the ultra blonde and ultra brunette type will constantly decline. Uniformity of the color of the eyes and hair, however, will never be reached.

"The man of the future will have superior teeth and hair. The lives of savages are shortened by the early decay of their teeth. There was more baldness in the days of nightcaps than there is now.

"Thought-saving machinery will relieve the future man of much of his present routine of brain work. Mathematical calculations and all such drudgery will be performed by machine, and the thought thus saved will be expended in other pursuits.

"The memory of the future man will be of greater range, but less acute as to useless detail.

"The sex of the future man will be pre-determinable. For a time there will be a preponderance of one sex and then of another."

HALF-WATER MILK FOR PARIS.

The campaign directed against Parisian milkmen who dilute their milk continues to be carried on with much vigor. One such tradesman was fined 30 francs for selling milk diluted with water to the extent of 27 per cent. Another was sent to prison for two months and ordered to pay a fine of 50 francs. In this case there was 48 per cent. of water in the samples, from which the cream had also been taken to the extent of 77 per cent. In connection with this question a cotemporary states that a dishonest milkman can make as much as 40 francs a day.—Paris Messenger.

THE X-RAY FOR CANCER

A Treatment for the Dread Malady That Has Been Attended by Marked Success.

(New York Herald.)

Seldom has such interest been aroused among physicians as was today by an article dealing with skin cancer and its treatment by the X-rays by Dr. Charles Warren Allen, which was printed in the current issue of the Medical Record.

In his paper, which was read at a meeting of the New York Post-Graduate Clinical society, Dr. Allen tells of the disease and theories of physicians as to cancer and its origin, and after referring to his observation of the gratifying results outlined by Dr. William Allen Pusey, of Chicago, in several cases of carcinoma of the skin, in which the X-ray treatment had been used, he says he was led to adopt it himself, and adds:

"I have thus far treated six cases of epithelioma—one upon the chin, two upon the nose, one upon the finger, one upon the forehead and one upon the cheek. Four were recurrent cases and one was primary. One disappeared from observation; the others have done well and might be considered cured, but are still taking ray treatment, and I trust will continue to do so for some months.

"Besides these cases I have observed others and have seen several times in consultation a man with an extensive recurrence, in whose case the X-ray had been practically the only form of treatment applied. This extensive growth has decreased nearly half in size and the general condition has improved, encouraging us to persevere in the treatment.

"The question as to how the rays act is as interesting as it is difficult to answer. I think, however, it may be stated that the belief held by some that it was necessary to produce a so-called 'burn' is erroneous. I have witnessed definite beneficial effects without any sign of such irritation. Pusey has demonstrated that a cure can be effected without any suspicion of this effect and I have seen it in my own cases.

"If this were not so the caustics already in successful use would scarcely warrant us in introducing another much more slowly acting cautery. Experiments so far have seemed to show that the bactericidal influence of the ray light is slight, though Rieder has recently found that in culture tube experiments bacterial life seems to be checked.

"Now, as to the general application of the rays only general rules can be made. As we possess no satisfactory way of measuring the intensity of the light, and as we never know surely the susceptibility of the individual, it is wise to be cautious in several directions. The first sittings should be short, with the tube not too close. The parts other than those to be operated upon should in all cases be protected.

"I employ various devices—a bandbox of pasteboard cut out to accommodate the parts and covered with extra thick tinfoil containing a large percentage of lead, or, better perhaps, a thick lead mask put on over a gauze mask and bound to the parts. These I ground by running a wire to the chandelier to carry off the electricity. I have also suggested a funnel-shaped metallic cone, into the flare of which the active area of the tube is inserted, especially for mouth, throat, uterine and rectal work. It has been advised to cover exposed parts with vaseline.

"It is well after the first sitting to wait a week before proceeding with daily applications, and the time of exposure can be gradually lengthened. If signs of dermatitis or decided erythema show themselves suspend treatment until these effects have subsided.

"As to the distance of the tube from the part treated, we must be governed by the patient's susceptibility, length of treatment already carried out, length of each exposure, hardness or softness of tube, nature and size of the diseased area and the operator's confidence born of experience. Hopkins advises a distance of 12 to 30 inches, while Pusey says about two inches for skin cancer work. Between these limits operators in general vary the distance from one or another consideration. Most of my work has been done at rather close range—three to five inches.

"Coming to the question, 'What are the dangers?' I may say I believe them to be overestimated. I saw some years ago several ulcerations from skiagraphy (usually after long exposure and without a protecting shield), and have since had numerous cases of loss of hair, dermatitis and persistent skin and nail changes brought to my notice, but almost always due to instantaneous exposure. I think these cases are growing fewer, in spite of the much more extensive use of X-rays. Unquestionably much damage might be done by the method in incompetent hands, and quacks may bring it into some disrepute, but the public's present fears of the rays should be allayed rather than intensified by the cautions so freely given."

CHILEAN NAVY LOOKS ENGLISH

The vessels of the Chilian fleet, with the exception of the French built Captain Prat, might pass for British me-of-war. The Chilian sailors are fine looking, intelligent men. Chile is well prepared for a struggle for sea supremacy with the Argentine republic, having enormous coal supplies of the best grade stored in the Magellan straits and in the West Patagonian channels. In case of war between those countries one or the other of the opposing fleets would doubtless try to hold the Magellan straits and there any general fleet engagement might be expected to take place.

COURT MARTIALED FOR CAUSE.

Among the strict regulations of the German military code is one which forbids anybody to present himself before a recruiting officer with a cane in his hand. Some weeks ago a reservist so far forgot himself as to enter the office of a recruiting sergeant-major carrying his walking stick. For this heinous offense the unfortunate reservist was promptly court martialed and sentenced to ten weeks' imprisonment for insubordination.—New York Tribune.

SMALLPOX PREVENTIVE

The sisters in charge of St. Joseph's Female Orphan asylum, at Seventh and Spruce streets, are in receipt of many letters daily from persons who seek information concerning the preparation which is believed by the Sisters to be a preventive against smallpox and all other contagious diseases, says the Philadelphia North American. A few physicians are among the inquirers, a small proportion of these having decided to try the medicine.

"These drugs have been in use by us for sixty years," said one of the Sisters. "In all that time we have not had one case of smallpox in our institution. The prescription was obtained by Mother Gongaza more than sixty years ago from a minister in Germantown. He got it from a doctor in Paris, who had used it with great success during an epidemic of smallpox there.

"The prescription is one grain solid extract digitalis, one grain sulphate of zinc, one-half teaspoonful of sugar, four ounces of water. Dissolve the digitalis and the zinc separately, then compound the prescription.

"It is of the utmost importance that the solid extract of digitalis be used. Some druggists say there is no such thing, and use the liquid preparation. This is valueless. It does not produce the same results.

"The dose is one teaspoonful every hour for twelve consecutive hours for an adult. For an infant, ten drops for the same length of time, and for children under 10 years, one-half teaspoonful hourly for twelve hours.

"We usually repeat this treatment once a month when smallpox is epidemic. It is the best medicine, we think, in cases of smallpox. The face may be bathed with it, thus preventing scars. I know of one case in which a man sent for the medicine, as his wife had smallpax. She took it all night, the eruptions having almost disappeared in the morning.

"The digitalis kills the germs of contagious disease that may be in the system. The zinc purifies the blood. Some doctors object to the digitalis because it acts on the heart. Of course, the preparation must be taken with care, as the medicines are powerful.

"Some people complain that it makes them sick. This is because their systems are not in good condition.

"We are not opposed to vaccination. You can vaccinate as often as you please. It will be useless, however, if you have taken this medicine. The vaccination will not 'take.'

"We have 130 children here now. When one is brought we give her the medicine promptly. Although they come from all over the city, we never have a contagious disease within our doors."

THIEF STOPPED TO ROB.

The most enterprising of our local highwaymen was the one who stopped to rob a woman the other night when the police were close on his track and within sight. The event occurred in the neighborhood of Washington park. The thug had committed several robberies, an alarm was raised and a sprinting policeman was pursuing him. In his flight, however, he met a woman, choked her and grabbed her pocketbook, containing $6, accomplishing it all while his pursuer gained only a few feet on him. He then ran into the park, dodged behind some shrubbery and escaped. It was a nervy effort.—Chicago Chronicle.

The custom in France of posting on the dead walls of every commune throughout the country the speeches of ministers is to be discontinued. Every time it is done it costs the government $60,000.

SHE SELLS CROWN FOR GOLD

QUEEN DRAGA, OF SERVIA, WILL FORCE KING ALEXANDER TO ABDICATE HIS THRONE.

The king of Servia is said to be abdicating. Is it Queen Draga's doing? Those who know her well, who have watched her closely as she mounted step by step to her present position of regal consort, will tell you that Draga Mashin worships two gods, the god of power and the god of gold. And the last, says the London Mail, has always come first. With the coffers of the Russian czar open before her a crown and a kingdom will sink into insignificance. She was weary long ago of the stupid clown known as Alexander Obrenovics, who would wait hours before her house to catch a glimpse of her, weary of him as a lover long before he made her a queen.

She was made lady-in-waiting to Queen Natalie, of Servia, because Natalie believed her to be loyal to Russia and a faithful friend. At the same time Milan counted her chief among the court dames who had sworn allegiance to Austria's interests in Servia. After Milan had spent his wife's Russian dowry and had abdicated in favor of his infant son he passed his days in nursing the Austrian influence in his native country from the tables of the Paris boulevards. Many a delicate political mission did he entrust to Mme. Mashin—for gold. Milan did not pay his tailor, he did not pay his debts of honor; but the Servian courtiers say he always paid Mme. Draga. Had he considered himself less charming in her eyes, and paid her more, Servia might today be going to Austria instead of to Russia.

Draga was at Biarritz with Queen Natalie when King Alexander first saw her. That was seven years ago; he was 17 and she was well into her thirties, the widow of an army officer and an experienced woman of the world. When he entered the room to greet his mother he encountered the flashing dark eyes of the fascinating lady-in-waiting staring boldly and steadily at him. He saw nothing in the room but those eyes, paid attention to no one but Draga, and upon that day he became her willing slave.

When she returned to Belgrade from Biarritz her power over the boy king was already recognized. Queen Natalie allowed it, mindful of Russia. Milan fostered it, delighted at the prospect of knowing his son's movements through such a trusty source and influencing his mind for Austria. And Mme. Mashin quietly and skillfully maneuvered, not for Natalie or Milan, neither for Russia nor Servia, but always for herself.

In less than a year her hand was shown in Alexander's first coup d'etat. He had not yet attained his majority, and his kingdom was governed by three regents. These dignitaries were feasting one night with him when the room was suddenly barricaded, the king announced that the authority of the regents was ended, and they were kept prisoners until he had been formally proclaimed before the army. After that no one dared ignore the existence of Draga Mashin in political affairs.

Her palace near the royal Konak was as splendid as any in Belgrade. There the court flocked for gaiety; there the Russian and Austrian diplomats held secret conferences in turn, each trying to pay more than the other. There the king often mingled with the guests, speaking to no one but Draga, throwing confetti to no one else, and frowning darkly upon anyone who attempted a word with her.

Mme. Mashin was never counted a beauty; she is dark enough to be almost swarthy, and in repose her face is cunning and treacherous. But her fascination has seldom been doubted; she is a bewitching talker, and while talking becomes a beauty. She is tall and slender, and beautifully formed, of the Oriental type, with masses of soft black hair and liquid eyes full of subtle flattery.

She had a regal taste for gems, and even in those days carried a king's ransom in the jewels upon her hands. Well born—as Servian birth is counted—well educated and an accomplished linguist, speaking French, Russian, German and English with ease, she has always been a social leader in Servia and useful to the throne.

The Servian people and court wanted their king to marry. After his mother and father had unsuccessfully begged the hand of many a pretty princess they were willing for him to marry a commoner. But they never thought of his marrying Mme. Mashin—they would have opposed that. Alexander, however did not consult them, nor even his own ministers or his council of state. One fine morning in July, 1900, the people of Belgrade awoke to discover that the king's second coup d'etat had taken place during the night. Upon the walls of the city was a long proclamation signed by the royal hand, in which he made known his betrothal to Draga Mashin, a daughter of the Servian people, whose home would be a pattern to all Servian homes, and who would bring happiness to the country, as did the wife of his grandfather, also from the people.

Absolutely no Servian official seems to have known of the proclamation beforehand. The capital was in a turmoil of excitement, cabinet ministers gathered in agitated meeting, the council of state assembled to declare against the proposed marriage; the president of the Skupshtina and the Metropolitan, the head of the Servian church, went down upon their knees before the king and begged him to be wise. There were threats among the people, and Mme. Draga's house had to be carefully guarded. The king ignored all entreaties, and drove boldly through the streets every day in an open carriage with his future queen by his side.

It was significant and not unexpected that the czar of Russia was the first and only sovereign who congratulated Alexander and Draga upon their marriage. When an heir to the throne was expected it was the czar who was to be the godfather. When the 10 cradles were taken away from the royal palace at Belgrade the largest and finest among them had been sent by the czar. When Queen Draga was declared innocent of attempting to deceive her husband by substituting the child of her sister, Mme. Petrovics, it was said, "The Russian ambassador and the czar have been very friendly and sympathetic in the matter."

Draga has worn her crown for a year and a half longer than the diplomats in Servia thought she would. In the meantime, she has had costly presents, many magnificent jewels, and much gold from the czar. But the Russian statesmen seem to have concluded that Draga has worn her crown long enough, and the czar has become tired of choosing jewels to suit her fancy. They have been haggling over the price of Servia. But the bargain has apparently been made at last. If so it will be shown in Alexander's abdication.

AMERICAN RAILROADS.

At the close of the civil war there was 35,000 miles of railroad in the United States, of which 4,200 were in Ohio, 3,000 in Illinois, 2,000 in Pennsylvania, 2,700 in New York, 2,100 in Indiana and 1,400 in Georgia. There was at that time less than 50 miles of railroad in Michigan and Oregon, less than 100 miles each in California and Arkansas, less than 50 miles in Kansas and less than 500 in Texas.

The present length of American railroads is 190,000 miles and four states have among them more railroad mileage than the whole country had at the close of the civil war. These four states are Illinois, the railroad mileage of which is 10,800; Pennsylvania, with 10,200; Texas with 10,000, and Ohio with 8,800 miles. Kansas has now a railroad mileage of 8,800, 600 miles more than the state of New York. Oregon, from a very small beginning, has 1,600, but falls behind other Pacific coast states in that respect, California having 5,500 and Washington 3,000.

Only two states of the union have less than 500 miles of railroad. Delaware with 351 and Rhode Island with 225. Minnesota has 6,500 and Wisconsin the same. Vermont and Nevada, the former a small state, with a large population, the latter a large state with a small population, have less than 1,000 miles of railroad each, and Oklahoma, with 750 miles, is far in advance of the District of Columbia, with only 30.

Railroad building in the United States has been somewhat suspended in very recent years, except as a means of extending existing lines or of building spurs or feeders to them. In the celerity and cheapness of railroad building the United States stands at the head of all countries. In 1891, 4,518 miles of railways were built.—New York Sun.

JUDGE ON WITNESS STAND.

A rather unusual thing occurred in the York county court the other day, says the Philadelphia Press, when liquor licenses were under consideration. An application for a license at York Haven was about evenly balanced with recommendations and remonstrances. About one-half the population were sure the license was needed and the other half was equally certain it was not. Judge Bittinger was on the bench, and his associate, Judge Stewart, took the stand as a witness against the granting of the license. The testimony of Judge Stewart apparently turned the scale and justified Judge Bittinger, for the license was refused.

HOW TO AVOID SMALLPOX

The Kind of Clothing That is the Best Protection From the Contagion.

"What shall I wear to avoid smallpox?" is the pressing question of the hour.

Medical advice is short and to the point. Wear smooth-faced outer clothing that holds as little dust as possible, for it is in floating dust that the danger of contagion lies. For underclothing wear flannel. It promotes circulation in the skin and surface muscles and prevents chills. As a chilled body is highly susceptible to contagion, flannel underclothing alone will preserve the wearer from infection when he would otherwise inevitably fall a victim.

The dress which the hospital authorities in London compel persons visiting smallpox patients to wear consists of a long white Holland overall, reaching from the neck to the ankles, and buttoning tightly round the wrists and neck. The moment this garment is discarded it is disinfected. Doctors themselves rely almost entirely upon the protection afforded by antiseptics, but though they say that no particular dress is an absolute safeguard, attention to these simple hints is calculated to lessen the risk.

The medical point of view in regard to the prevailing fashions is, however, interesting apart from smallpox, especially in connection with other diseases that are rife at the present time of the year.

Dress ought to be designed mainly for warmth, but, as a matter of fact, many men and all women sacrifice everything to ornament.

To begin with the head. That member of our anatomy, having a warm natural covering and being exceptionally well supplied with blood, needs scarcely any artificial covering except in excessively hot or bitterly cold weather. And as the scalp perspires freely and requires continuous renewal of air, any headgear worn should be porous. But men cover it with a hard, impervious top hat, weighing six ounces or half a pound. And this they wear in broiling July as well as in freezing January. The evil results are numerous. The hard and rigid brim naturally compresses the arteries and veins, hindering the flow of blood to the scalp, and since there is no ventilation, the air inside becomes damp, hot and impure. No scalp can continue in a healthy state under these circumstances and so most top-hatted heads are more or less bald. The proper head-covering in winter should be soft, not rigid, and well ventilated. That is to say, it should have several inlets for fresh air at the sides and a fairly large outlet at the top. In summer the straw hat of the American type is the only correct headwear from a health point of view.

All collars are a hygienic abomination. The neck is always in motion and continually changing its shape. Hence it should either be quite uncovered, or have a soft, flexible covering which would adapt itself to requirements. Our stiff collars constrict the veins and prevent the used-up blood from returning freely from the brain. They chafe the skin and irritate the glands which are so numerous in the neck. These glands have a very important function to perform in removing waste products from the brain. Consequently, when they are inflamed the brain suffers. Anyone who wishes to have a clear head should wear the lowest of collars.

In the region of the tie, again, we utterly disregard health for appearance. Just underneath are the delicate bronchial tubes and the apices of the lungs, which require to be warmly covered. But fashion decrees that we must cut a piece out of our waistcoat and coat in that important spot. Result: bronchitis, pneumonia, consumption, coughs and colds. To do the sensible thing we ought either to wear waistcoats buttoning up to the neck (and very becoming they are) or substitute a broad and really warm scarf for the little piece of ribbon commonly used.

Although men are not open to the charge of tight lacing, they generally wear their clothing too tight around the lower part of the body. One of the laws of healthy dress is that free movement of the body must not be interfered with. But it is not an easy matter for a man who aims at being well dressed to stoop and lace his boots or even to bend over a table to write. This certainly should not be the case, for not only is it uncomfortable, but very often dangerous.

In foot covering we sin most deeply against the principles of hygiene. The single fact that the foot is not allowed to come flat on the ground compels the whole spinal column to alter its natural shape, with serious consequences.

But if men are foolish, women are worse. Their hair, that should be evenly spread over the scalp, is tied in a bundle over one spot, unduly heating that particular part. One day they wear heavy hats that crush the blood vessels and the next tiny bonnets that give no shade to the eyes.

The upper part of their chest is scarcely at all protected from the cold, their waists are covered with a dozen thicknesses of clothing, the blood vessels and nerves of their arms are squeezed in tight sleeves, their hands are compressed in tighter gloves, and their feet are crushed out of all shape in boots several inches too small. A great anatomist who has inspected over 5,000 women's feet declares he has not once met with a pair shaped as nature made them. As for the corset, a physician, who shall be nameless, says that not all the famines, pestilences and wars of the world have done so much injury to the human race as this instrument.

AN EPOCH-MAKING INCIDENT.

It would hardly be suspected, by following the daily journals, that the first month of the year had been signalized in one of the ancient countries of the old world by an incident of an epoch-making character. You will look in vain in the over-ample pages of the journalism of the month for a line concerning the Olympian session of the learned academies of the Scandinavian states to award the huge crowns provided for in the testament of the dynamiteur, Nobel. You will find columns anent the lap dogs of the duchess this and the countess that; the length of the robes prescribed by the stout Edward of Britain for the dames who are to resplendize his coronation; you will find exhaustive innuendo anent the flirts and debaucheries of patrician reprobates, but never a line of the "coronation" of the six of the elect in the feasts of genius. And yet the story is vividly interesting, even sensational in the sense of stimulating that piquancy we call human interest. Instead of devoting his millions to the accretion of enormous funds to colleges and universities, more or less circumscribed in their usefulness, as the very rich folk do in this country, Nobel, the Swedish Fortunatus, prescribed in his will that the income of $11,000,000 should be devoted to awarding annual prizes to six different "illustrations" in the domain of mind—to the most important discovery in physical science; to the most useful invention; to the discoverer of the most useful addition to chemical science; to the author who adds the most important fact in physiology; to the writer who contributes the most remarkable volume to idealism; and finally to the man who carries farthest the effort to civilize the world by potentializing the forces of peace.—The Era.

GET UNSOPHISTICATED MILK.

"Unsophisticated milk" was delivered at many residences in London yesterday. This is a new term, coined after hard labor by a puzzled borough medical officer to describe the inner workings of a milk dealer's conscience and his occasional lapses into virtue. "Sophisticated milk" is that judicious combination of lacteal fluid with water or chemicals, or both, made with such regularity after the products of the country dairies have been delivered in London each morning.

Every housewife knows, to her sorrow, what "the sophistication of milk" means. The thin, watery fluid so often misnamed "milk" has started more than one deadly feud between the man who drives the cart and the woman who pays the bills. But, strange to say, there is little or no dilution of milk on Sundays. Whether the industrious dealer bears in mind one of the Ten Commandments relating to the Sabbath, or whether he is too lazy to add the usual measure of chalk and water is undecided.

The fact remains that the long-suffering customer stands one chance in seven each week of getting fairly pure milk. For instance, yesterday week only 5.4 per cent. of the milk sold in Islington was adulterated, whereas the weekday percentage is 17.2.—London Express.

A NIGHT ALARM.

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the brassy cough of croup, which sounds like the children's death knell and it means death unless something is done quickly. Foley's Honey and Tar never fails to give instant relief and quickly cures the worst forms of croup. Mrs. P. L. Cordier, of Mannington, Ky., writes: "My three-year-old girl had a severe case of croup; the doctor said she could not live. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar; the first dose gave quick relief and saved her life." Refuse substitutes. Sold by Dreier & Bro. and Pellens & Polster.

Harry R. Fisher, of St. Louis, owns a chair supposed to have been made in 1809 by Abraham Lincoln's mother and used by the president when he was a boy. The chair is about thirty inches high and entirely of hickory.

Dyspepsia is permanently cured by Dr. Kay's Renovator. Guaranteed to be a specific also for corrupt blood, liver and kidneys. At druggists. Write for positive proof. Free medical advice, sample and book. Dr. B. J. Kay, Saratoga, N. Y.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

LESSON VII., FIRST QUARTER OF INTERNATIONAL SERIES

—COMMENT BY REV. D. M. STEARNS.

Lesson for Sunday, Feb. 16, 1902.
Text—Acts v., 25-42.
(Copyright, 1901, by American Press Association.)

25. "Behold, the men whom ye put in prison are standing in the temple and teaching the people." This was the message which was brought to the high priest, council and senate of the children of Israel as they waited to receive the prisoners whom they had arrested the evening before. Multitudes of men and women were believing, and multitudes of sick and demon possessed people not only in Jerusalem, but also from the cities roundabout, were hailed. The work was going so grandly that the high priest and Sadducees simply could not stand it and so put the apostles in prison. God, whose they were and whom they served, sent an angel by night and released them from prison and sent them to the temple to continue their ministry, and there they are found teaching, instead of in the prison under the power of the authorities. They belonged to God.

26-28. "Behold, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine and intend to bring this man's blood upon us." The high priest reminds them that they had been forbidden to teach in the name of Jesus and then adds this word, unintentionally giving good testimony to their zeal, but evidently forgetting that the people had cried, "His blood be on us and on our children." (Matt. xxvii., 25).

29-32. "We ought to obey God rather than men." Thus replied Peter and again accused them to their faces of being the murderers of Jesus, whom God raised from the dead and exalted with His right hand to be a Prince and a Savior to give repentance and forgiveness of sins even to such as they were. That it is not possible to please God and to please the world lying in the wicked one is seen in Gal. i., 10; Luke xvi., 13; Jas. iv., 4. These apostles were in conscious partnership with the Holy Spirit, who was in them, and He, the Spirit, was the speaker through their lips, even as Jesus had said, "It is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father which speaketh in you." (Matt. x, 20).

33. "When they heard that, they were cut to the heart and took counsel to slay them." Not only was the blood of Jesus upon them, but they were ready to bring upon themselves the blood of the apostles also. Before they killed Jesus they desired to kill Lazarus, whom Jesus raised from the dead (John xii., 10). The truth of God when not meekly received makes manifest that "the carnal mind is enmity against God" (Rom. viii., 7).

34, 35. "Ye men of Israel, take heed to yourselves what ye intend to do as touching these men." The apostles, being sent out of the council for a little while, Gamaliel, a learned and honorable member, at whose feet Saul of Tarsus had been educated (chapter xxii, 3), thus begins to address his brethren. He seems to have had something of the spirit of Joseph and Nicodemus, who also were at one time members of the council (Mark xv, 43; John vii, 50). We do not know that he ever received Jesus as the Christ, but from the wisdom and spirit of this address and on the supposition that Saul would seek the welfare of his teacher we may hope that he did.

36, 37. "Before these days rose up Theudas, boasting himself to be somebody." He quoted two cases of deceivers who for a time had quite a following, but in each case the leaders perished, and their followers were dispersed. The mark of a deceiver is that "he boasts himself to be somebody," while a true follower of the Lord seeks to glorify God only. The antichrist shall do according to his own will and shall exalt himself and magnify himself (Dan. xi. 36), but the Lord Jesus Christ sought neither His own will nor His own glory (John vi, 38; viii, 50), and Paul, the great apostle, determined to know nothing but "Jesus Christ and Him crucified," his mottoes being, "Not I, but Christ," "Not I, but the grace of God." (1 Cor. ii, 2; xv, 10; Gal. ii, 20).

38. "If this counsel or this work be of men, it will come to naught." He may have remembered these words, "The Lord bringeth the counsel of the heathen to naught; He maketh the devices of the people of none effect." (Ps. xxxiii, 10; see also Isa. viii, 9, 10, for very strong words in this connection). It is a great comfort to the true believer to know that they that war against him shall be as nothing and as a thing of naught and that no weapon formed against him can prosper (Isa. xli, 12; liv, 17).

39. "If it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it, lest haply ye be found even to fight against God." It is written that "every purpose of the Lord shall be performed," and "The Lord of Hosts hath sworn, saying, Surely as I have thought, so shall it come to pass, and as I have purposed, so shall it stand," and, again, "The counsel of the Lord standeth forever, the thoughts of His heart to all generations" (Jer. li., 29; Isa. xlv., 24; Ps. xxxiii., 11).

40. "They commanded that they should not speak in the name of Jesus." With the repetition of this ungodly and rebellious command they are beaten and let go. How the devil hates that name at which every knee shall yet bow and concerning which every tongue shall yet confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father! (Phil. ii., 10, 11.) Jesus had told His disciples that they would be delivered up to councils and be scourged and brought before governors and kings for His sake (Matt. x., 17, 18).

41. "Rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for His name." What a glorious reality is the Lord Jesus to those who can take such treatment, not only without resentment, but even joyfully! Backs scourged and bleeding, full of pain physically, but full of joy inwardly—how great is the grace of God! They were already tasting that which Paul was afterward told concerning the great things he must suffer for Christ's sake (chapter ix., 16).

42. "And daily in the temple and in every house they ceased not to teach and preach Jesus Christ." Thus they obeyed God rather than man and were ready for the next beating or imprisonment for so doing whenever God might see fit to let it come. As Peter and John said, they could not help doing it; like Jeremiah, when tempted to speak no more in His name, they had such a burning fire within them that they were weary if they did not speak; or, like Elihu, they felt that they would burst if they did not speak (Acts iv., 20; Jer. xx., 9; Job xxxii., 18-20).

YOUNG AND SMALL.

The baby member of the house is Representative Lever, of South Carolina. He is only twenty-seven years of age and looks twenty. He was private secretary of the late Representative Stokes, and when the latter died was voted by a grateful constituency into the vacant seat.

Every day at 11:45 o'clock Bert Kennedy, assistant doorkeeper, warns all persons not entitled to the floor to vacate, "the rules of the house requiring the same." For three days Kennedy saw a small boy sitting at a desk and coolly disregarding the official summons to retire. He threw his piping, penetrating voice in the direction of the lad, but without effect. On the third day Kennedy told his troubles to Amos Cummings.

"If that boy don't get out of here before 12 o'clock I'll throw him out," said Kennedy.

"What boy?" asked Cummings.

"Sitting over there," replied Kennedy, pointing in Lever's direction.

"I wouldn't throw him out," said Cummings.

"Why not?" inquired Kennedy.

"Because," remarked Cummings, "you might lose your job. He's a member of the house."

Speaking of little men, the new congressman from New York who defeated Perry Belmont could be hidden away in a gripsack.

Viewed from the gallery, Mr. Lessler seems like a blade of grass. He is certainly less than five feet high, weighs about sixty pounds and his arms are like pipe stems. He wears boys' shoes and a boy's hat. Under his hat, however, are brains entirely out of proportion to his size. Everybody agrees that he has plenty of ability.

"Alexander Stephens was the smallest man in congress," says Mr. Lessler, "but he was also one of the greatest men. There is hope for me."—Washington Post.

COMES NEAR BEING TYPICAL.

Here is a letter received by the managing editor of a metropolitan newspaper. It isn't a typical one, however, and for that reason it is worth printing, if for no other reason than to show to what an extent some people misjudge their calling:

"Dear Sir: Ever since I have attained the age when one begins to mark out a path which will lead him through a successful earthly career it has been the goal of my ambition to win glory, honor and renown by becoming a master of letters as well as to obtain oratorical prominence.

"I love the murmuring brooks, the rippling streams and the twitter of the birds in the trees. I love the swaying boughs, the rustling leaves, the bubbling springs, and, in fact, everything necessary to complete nature's beautiful panorama.

"Thoughts of the beauties of nature, of a love for humanity, truth and honesty and animosity for the corrupt politician and the suppression of liberty-loving people has given me the inspiration to speak and write of the doctrines to which I adhere.

"I now appeal to your generosity and apply for any position that will enable me to contribute something toward the completion of your columns."

"I feel sorry for the writer of that letter," said the general utility man about the office where it was received, "because he has ability and is likely to misdirect it. He should be a farmer or a politician. Down in some hay pasture he could find all the beauties of nature he talks about—the bubbling brooks, the swaying boughs, the twittering birds and the rest. Or as a politician taking the stump for some candidate with little or no show he could find ample opening for his oratorical preference. A newspaper office isn't the place for either; there is no room there for anything but the stern realities of life. This man's animosity for the corrupt politician, as he puts it, might help some, although just now the council gangsters are a hopeless minority, and reform work there doesn't seem necessary. He might turn his attention to the general assembly at Springfield, however."—Chicago Evening Post.

WOLESLEY AND MELBA.

Field Marshal Lord Wolseley, hero of campaigns, has met defeat in an engagement of wits. He has been vanquished by a woman. The victor in the little dinner table tilt was Mme. Melba, and the scene of the occurrence the house of a member of the British aristocracy.

Mme. Melba at this dinner was seated at the right of Lord Wolseley, who was at the right of the hostess of the evening. Lord Wolseley at the beginning of the dinner asked of the hostess:

"Who is the lady at my right?"

"Why, that is Mme. Melba."

"Who is this Mme. Melba?"

"Is it possible that your lordship does not know the great singer?"

"Oh, yes. Born in Australia, I believe." And with that the general applied himself to the course then served. After a few minutes he turned to the prima donna, greeted her pleasantly, and said:

"You are an Australian, I believe, madame? I know a great deal about your country. My brother lives in Melbourne."

"And pray, sir, what is the name of your brother?" the singer naively inquired.

"Goodness! Why, his name is the same as mine—Wolseley," answered the surprised officer.

"Who is Wolseley?" I do not recall that name," Mme. Melba explained.

"Why I am General Wolseley," replied the astonished officer.

"Wolseley? Wolseley? Wolseley?" whispered the singer, as if appearing to refresh her memory. And then the General applied himself again to the food. He had learned his lesson.—London Correspondence Philadelphia North American.

THE GOING-TO-THEATER FACE.

Will someone please explain the "going-to-theater face" of the average New Yorker? The question is suggested by a long experience in lobbies while the auditors are passing into the houses for the evening performances. The writer stood for nearly an hour engaged in the seemingly hopeless task of discovering "the cheerful theatre-goer." But in they poured, men and women, each and every one with firm set jaw, gloomy brow and look of despair. Perhaps it is because the long distances traveled on crowded cars and the thought of an equally uncomfortable home-going makes a night at the theater seem just a bit like work to the residents of this narrow isle.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

For the Children

THE BOY GIANT HAS A BAD TOOTHACHE

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY CAROLINE WETHERELL.

Ah Grim had a toothache severe.
It caused him to act rather queer;
In the woods quite alone
He'd retire to moan
With a blanket tied under his ear.
Ah Grim had a keeper named Jack;
Expedients ne'er did he lack.
Said he, "Come, my boy,
The folks you annoy;
Let's have the bad tooth out—ker-smack!"

So away to the dentist's they hied.
He spoke in a tone dignified:
"The tooth must come out,
But as I'm far from stout,
'Twill take twenty dentists beside."
The dentists at last were all found,
And, a rope to the tooth being bound,
They all gave a jerk.
Grim yelled like a Turk,
For they yanked out a tooth that was sound.

The Magic Wand.

This is a game which needs two confederates, whom we will call A and B. A explains the game to the company, or, rather, pretends to do so. After lingering for a moment B goes out of the room and shuts the door.

Then A, standing among the guests, waves a wand (a walking stick will do) horizontally over their heads, saying solemnly and in a low voice, "The wand passes." "Let it pass," answers B from outside. Again A waves the wand and after several passes brings it to a standstill over somebody's head, crying as he does so, "The wand rests." "Over ——," cries B, mentioning the name of one of the company.

Then he enters the room to inquire if he is right. Of course he is, but every one is much astonished and wants to know how he managed it, and the trick is performed many times without any one guessing how it is done. The secret is simply that A and B agree that the wand shall rest on the person who speaks last as B goes out of the room.

School Savings Banks.

There are 3,588 school savings banks in the United States, with 63,567 depositors. Since the work was begun $876,099 has been deposited by the school children, the amount of the deposits at the close of last year being $355,000. In one county—Montgomery county, Va.—the pupils have deposited in about ten years no less than $175,300. In Atlantic City, N. J., the deposits during the last school year were $6,376. Many schools are doing a great work in thus inculcating lessons of economy and thrift.

Skating Time.

Jolly skating weather
And a zero breeze;
All start together;
Hurry or you'll freeze!
Light as a feather
Circling about the trees,
We children care not whether
Our antics the whole world sees.
We're loose from schoolroom tether,
Not minding our q's and p's!
So tighten your straps of leather
And have all the fun you please!
—H. Jinks.

WHAT THE BARTENDER SEES

A Panorama of Human Nature Adrift.

(Chicago Chronicle.)

You look at him and order your drink.

You know what you think of him, and you think you know what he thinks of you.

Did you ever stop to think of all the strange human beings besides yourself that pass before him?

He stands there as a sentinel, business man, detective, waiter, general entertainer and host for the homeless.

In comes a young man, rather early in the day.

He is a little tired—up too late the night before. He takes a cocktail. He tells the bartender that he does not believe in cocktails. He never takes them, in fact. "The bitters in the cocktail will eat a hole through a thin handkerchief—pretty bad effect on your stomach, eh?" and so on.

Out goes the young man with the cocktail inside of him.

And the bartender knows that that young man, with his fine reasonings and his belief in himself, is the confirmed drunkard of year after next. He has seen the beginning of many such cocktail philosophers and the ending of the same.

The way not to be a drunkard is never to taste spirits. The bartender knows that. But his customers do not know it.

At another hour of the day there comes in the older man. This one is the fresh-faced, young oldish man.

He has small gray side whiskers. He shows several people—whom he does not know—his book of commutation tickets.

He changes his mind suddenly from whisky to lemonade. The bartender prepares the lemon slowly, and the man changes his mind back to whisky.

Then he tries to look more dignified than the two younger men with him. In the midst of the effort he begins to sing "The Heart Bowed Down With Weight of Woe," and he tells the bartender "that is from 'The Bohemian Girl.'"

He sings many other selections, occasionally forgetting his dignity, and occasionally remembering that he is the head of a most respectable home—partly paid for.

The wise man on the outside of the bar suggests that the oldish man will get into trouble. But the bartender says:

"No, he will go home all right. But he won't sing all the way there. About the time he gets home he'll realize what money he has spent, and you would not like to be his wife. It won't be any songs that she'll get."

The bartender knows that the oldish man—about fifty-one or two—has escaped being a drunkard by mere accident, and that he has not quite escaped yet.

A little hard luck, too much trouble, and he'll lose his balance, forget that there is lemonade, and take to whisky permanently.

At the far end of the bar there is the man who comes in slowly and passes his hand over his face nervously. The bartender asks no question, but pushes out a bottle of everyday whisky and a small glass of water.

The whisky goes down. A shiver follows the whisky and a very little of the water follows the shiver. The man goes out with his arms close to his sides, his gait shuffling and his head hanging.

It has taken him less than three minutes to buy, swallow and pay for a liberal dose of poison.

Says the bartender:

"That fellow had a good business once. Doesn't look it, does he? Jim over there used to work for him. But he couldn't let it alone."

The "it" mentioned is whisky.

Outside in the cold that man, who couldn't let it alone, is shuffling his way against the bitter wind. And even in his poor sodden brain reform and wisdom are striving to be heard.

His soul and body are sunk far below par. His vitality is gone, never to return.

The whisky, with its shiver that tells of a shock to the heart, lifts him up for a second.

He has a little false strength of mind and brain, and that strength is used to mumble good resolutions.

He thinks he will stop drinking. He thinks he could easily get money backing if he gave up drinking for good. He feels and really believes that he will stop drinking.

Perhaps he goes home and for the hundredth time makes a poor woman believe him, and makes her weep once more for joy, as she has wept many times from sorrow.

But the bartender knows that that man's day has gone, and that Niagara river could turn back as easily as he could remount the swift stream that is sweeping him to destruction.

Five men come in together. Each asks of all the others:

"What are you going to have?"

The bartender spreads out his hands on the edge of the bar—attentive and prepared to work quickly.

Every man insists on "buying" something to drink in his turn. Each takes what the others insist on giving him.

Each thinks that he is hospitable.

But the bartender knows that those men belong to the Great American Association for the Manufacture of Drunkards through "treating."

Each of those men might perhaps take his glass of beer, or even something worse, with relative safety. But as stupidly as stampeded animals pushing each over a precipice, each insists on buying poison in his turn. And every one spends his money to make every other one, if possible, a hard-drinking and a wasted man.

You, Mr. Reader, have seen all these types and many others, have you not?

Why did you see them? What reason had you for seeing them?

The bartender stands studying the procession to destruction because he must make his living in that way. He is a sort of clean-aproned Charon on a whisky Styx, ferrying the multitude to perdition on the other side of the river. But what is your business there?

The drink swallowed at the bar braces you, does it? If you think you need a drink, you really need sleep, or better nourishment, or you need to live more sensibly. Drink will not give you what you need. It may for a moment make your nerves cease tormenting you. It may do in your system for an hour what opium does in the Chinese for a whole day. But if it lifts you up high, it drops you down hard.

And remember:

There is no such thing as moderate drinking at a bar.

You think you can take your occasional drink safely and philosophize about the procession that passes the bartender.

But the bartender knows that you are no different from the others. They all began as you are beginning. They all, in the early stages, despised their own forerunners.

They were once as you are, and the bartender knows that the chances are all in favor of your being eventually like one of them.

The bartender's procession is a sad one, and you who still think yourself safe are the saddest atom in the line, for you are there without sufficient excuse.

It is a long procession, and its end is far off.

It is born of the fact that life is dull, competition is keen, and ambition so often ends in sawdust failure.

A better chance for strugglers, a more generous reward for hard work, better organization of social life, solution of the great unsolved problem of real civilization, will end the bartender's procession.

Meanwhile, keep out of it if you can. And be glad if it can be suspended, temporarily at least, on Sundays.

NOT A CLERICAL PHRASE.

A gentleman prominent in one of the state departments had occasion recently to visit New York. Upon his way back he was seated at dinner opposite a gentleman whom, by the cut of his frock, his white tie and general appearance, he took to be a clergyman. The waiter entered with the dinner ordered by the supposed clergyman. He was a pompous darky, with a pronounced strut and dignity to give away.

Just then the train rounded a curve and before the waiter could get off his dignity the tray was tipped a little and a bottle of salad oil fell into the "clergyman's" soup, breaking the dish and spattering soup and all over his clothes, white tie and gray whiskers. The clerical gentleman exhibited all the external appearance of having an apoplectic fit, but before he could say a word the waiter gathered up the table cloth with all its contents and was out of sight in a minute. The clergyman turned to the Albanian and emphatically remarked:

"My G—, ain't he the limit!"

LANGUAGE OF ANIMALS

Barnyard Fowls Talk a Great Deal—A Man Who Understands Them.

"You should be kind to dumb animals," said Johnnie's aunt, reprovingly.

"Dumb!" repeated Johnnie, "you ought to have heard our cat yell when sister rucked on her tail the other day."

Mr. Nelson Wood, an English scientist, has made a life-long study of the language of birds, and he can not only understand what many of the feathered creatures are saying, but he can also express things to them which they understand. He has many interesting things to tell about the birds "he has met." The creatures of the air, so he says, talk the least; turkeys, chickens and such feathered creatures, as they do not fly so much, talk the most. The explanation of this is natural. The birds who do not fly are always in more danger and they have many notes of warning. Language among them, of course, as it must have been among primitive man, is but an expression of the simplest needs. Danger, hunger, warning, pleasure and such sensations are the first emotions expressed. To illustrate the various calls which a turkey has, Mr. Wood cites a note for overhead danger, another for danger on the ground, a third for a hawk in the distance, another of complaint when being driven, a different call in open meadow from that in bushes, a special signal at night, as well as a special kind of note used in ordinary conversation. Chickens have even more modes of expression. A hen has three distinct songs, one when seeking her nest, another for calling her mate and a third for crooning to herself or in the search for food. The rooster has several distinct notes, and Mr. Wood claims that some of these the ordinary person never observes. There is one, a low, fine whistle which the rooster uses sometimes on a dark day when going to roost, but when the rooster really begins to carry on an extensive conversation is when he meets another chanticleer in battle. It ranges all the way from a defiant chuckle which invites the other fellow to fight as surely as the proverbial chip on a boy's shoulder to a feminine croon which means fear and a desire to retire. Perhaps of all birds, the parrot is most intelligent. We have been accustomed to think of the parrot as simply a mimic, but Mr. Wood claims to have known many that actually understood the words they were saying. One of his parrot friends always saluted him with "Good morning" early in the day, and "Good night" in the evening. So many impossible stories are told of parrots' intelligence that it is difficult to consider these birds as seriously intelligent, yet there is no doubt as to this point. The ability of crows to smell gunpowder a long distance off has always been claimed for them, and those who have studied the birds to any extent easily recognize varying caws, showing fear, warning or affection as the case may be. That our feathered friends are able to express pleasure everyone knows. The cheerful lilt of the songsters is only one way in which they show their joy of living in such a good world as ours.

We have much to learn from the birds and beasts, and when we are able to understand their languages we shall doubtless hear of many things now unknown to us.

SMOKING IN CHURCH.

Smoking in church is a Dutch custom. Dutchmen are such inveterate smokers that one of them is rarely seen without his pipe. He finds himself unable to deprive himself of the indulgence, even for the short period of a church service. A similar practice exists in several churches in South America. Smoking in churches in Great Britain is said to have been prevalent at the end of the sixteenth and the beginning of the seventeenth century.

At one time smoking was carried to such an excess in Seville cathedral that the chapter applied to the pope for power to repress the abuse. Urban VIII., yielding to their wish, issued a bull, which was promulgated January 30, 1642.

In Wales smoking in church was indulged in as late as 1850. In one church the communion table stood in the aisle, and the farmers were in the habit of putting their hats upon it, and when the service began they lighted their pipes and smoked, without any thought of irreverence in the act.—Youth's Companion.

DICKENS' PICTURES.

A most interesting Dickens discovery has just been made at Watford, Herts. The most curious circumstance is that the articles in question were discovered several years ago and cast aside as being of no value, says the London Daily Mail.

Since Charles Dickns died at Gads Hill in 1879 everything that could possibly be written about him has been written, every photograph, painting, sketch and print has been produced, until the whole thing was thought to be exhausted. Several years ago Mr. H. E. Smith was at the shop of Mr. G. L. Lea, photographic printer at Watford. Casually picking up a time-worn bundle of papers, he said to Mr. Lea, "What are these?" The later replied, "Oh, only some Dickens things," and nothing more was said.

The years rolled by and a few months ago Mr. Smith purchased Mr. Lea's business. One day, while going through an accumulation of stock, old and new, he came across a packet carefully tied up in dust-covered paper and labeled, "Dickens negatives." On bringing these to light he found the photographs which have now astonished the literary world. Five of them were submitted to Literature, with the result that a special "Dickens number" of that journal has been brought out with the portraits reproduced therein.

BEFORE AND AFTER CURE.

Dr. S. Wier Mitchell, the eminent specialist, tells a story that illustrates a phase of human nature that is very frequently brought into prominent notice. He says:

"A very wealthy man from the west came to consult me about an attack of vertigo. He said that he had just returned from a trip to Europe, where he had consulted eminent specialists, but that they had failed to afford him any permanent relief. 'A physician in London,' he said, 'asked me why I did not make an attempt to be cured nearer home. I thought on my way out west I would step over to see you.'

"'Has any physician you have visited looked into your ears?' I asked.

"'No,' was his reply.

"I made an examination of his ears, removed some wax and a substance that appeared to be hardened remnants of cotton wool. I sent him away then and told him to come again in a day or two. He did so.

"'Well,' he exclaimed, 'I am cured. How much do I owe you?'

"'About $50,' I replied.

"As he drew a check he asked: 'Did you know when you first examined my ears that you could cure me?'

"When I told him that I had a very fair conviction that I could, he said: 'Well, you are a blanked fool. You should have said to me: "I think I can cure you and I will do so for $10,000. No cure, no pay." You would have got your money without a murmur.'

"'Oh,' I said, 'if you feel that way about it there are several little charities in which I am interested, and—'

"'No, no,' he interrupted, 'that is not business. I have my cure and you have the price you asked. The transaction is closed.'"

THERE WAS NO DISTURBANCE.

A policeman in Brooklyn was sauntering along Myrtle avenue the other night at 11 o'clock, saw a woman who had a club in her hand about to enter a saloon and he stepped forward and said:

"Madam, you are mistaken in the door. That is a saloon."

"I know it and have made no mistake," she said.

"So you want to go in there, eh?"

"I do."

"And what is the club for?"

"To assist me man Thomas to get started for home. I always have to come for him with a club at about this hour."

"But there must be no row in there," cautioned the officer.

"Not a bit of it, sir. You stand right here and see how she goes off. Thomas understands me and I understand him."

The woman entered the place and the officer stood outside to watch proceedings. In about a minute the whack! whack! whack! of a club striking somebody on the back was heard and five seconds later the door was opened and a man landed in the street at two jumps and took to his heels.

"Was that your Thomas?" asked the officer as the woman appeared swinging her club.

"It was, sir. I told you there would be no row. I just walked up to him and gave him three whacks across his back and a cuff on his ear and he'll be home and have the kettle boiling before I'm half way there!"

SAVED HER CHILD'S LIFE.

"In three weeks our chubby little boy was changed by Pneumonia almost to a skeleton," writes Mrs. W. Watkins, of Pleasant City, O. "A terrible cough set in, that, in spite of a good doctor's treatment for several weeks, grew worse every day. We then used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was soon sound and well. We are sure this grand medicine saved his life." PAPAL TOMB PREPARED.

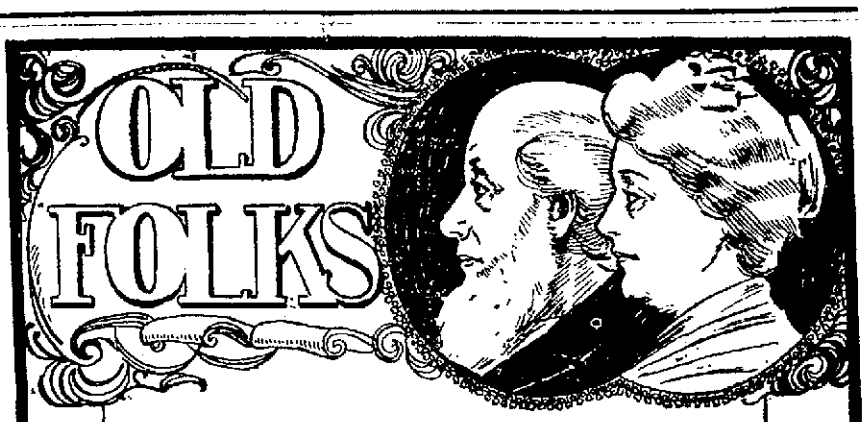
A Rome dispatch to the New York Evening Post says that the Pope is making his funeral plans. He has settled all arrangements for his funeral down to the remotest details. A monumental tomb is ready. It is the work of the sculptor Giuseppe Luchetti, and has cost 300,000 lire, which has all been paid. The dispatch adds that the Pope leaves very little to his relatives in his will. He recently divided among them his purely personal estate.

According to experiments conducted by H. Janssen on Mont Blanc, it is not necessary to erect poles for stringing telephone and telegraph wires in snow-covered countries. If the snow is several inches thick it serves as a good insulator; the wires can simply be laid down and be ready for transmission of messages.

Germany has imported as much as $10,000,000 worth of apples in one year and $2,500,000 worth of pears.



Old age is not a question of years but a question of vitality. There are young people of seventy-five and old people of sixty. The difference between these young-old people and old-young people is a difference of vital force. Where does this vital force come from? How is it produced? How may it be preserved? The answer is that all physical vitality comes from food properly digested and assimilated. Food fills but does not feed unless the processes of digestion and assimilation are thoroughly performed. It is from the nutrition extracted from food that physical vitality is produced. It is quite possible to eat heartily and yet lack vitality because the nutrition in the food is not extracted. This happens when there is disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Then the food is imperfectly digested and the nutritive values are largely lost. The consequence of this loss of nutrition in general is physical weakness and in old age it is the forerunner of senile decay. Strength then in youth or old age is only a question of sufficient food which is properly digested and assimilated. If vital strength is produced from food under these conditions, it is evident that this vital strength may be preserved while the stomach and its associated organs are kept in a healthy condition.

It is imperfect digestion and loss of nutrition caused by disease of the stomach and the other organs of digestion and nutrition, to which in general loss of vitality may be attributed.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition in young or old. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, from which alone the body receives its strength and by which it preserves its vitality.

"When I wrote you for advice, I was feeling very miserable with not simply one ailment but a general debility," writes Mrs. Martha Jones, of Claremont, Surry Co., Va. "I purchased a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' and also one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and a bottle of 'Pellets.' I soon began to improve and continued taking them until I was feeling so well I discontinued. That was last spring, and I continued feeling as well as could be expected of an old lady seventy-three years of age. I have so much faith in your medicine; I feel that the number of my days has been prolonged by taking it. I recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines every chance I get. I think there is no medicine equal to yours for old people. It makes their declining days easy and cheerful. I would say to the aged especially, take Dr. Pierce's medicines, they will help and cure also."

"I was a sufferer from chronic diarrhea for five years," writes Mrs. Mary M. Aaron, of Rolla, Phelps Co., Mo. "I tried different remedies which would give me relief for a short time only. My trouble would return as bad as ever. I consulted you in July, 1900, and by your advice commenced using Dr. Pierce's remedies. I took two bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' three vials of the 'Pellets,' and some of the 'Extract of Smart-Weed,' as you advised. I have not had any return of my trouble since using your medicines. Am now seventy-one years old, and I never had anything to relieve me so quick. I think Dr. Pierce's medicines the greatest on earth. My thanks to you for your advice and thanks to Almighty God for restoring me to health through your hands."

One of the consequences of partly digested food is the clogging of the system and corruption of the blood by the accumulation of waste material. In such a condition some outbreak of impure blood is quite liable to take place, and the lack of vital force resulting from loss of nutrition makes disease a hard thing to fight under such conditions. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery not only cures diseases of the stomach, but it purifies and enriches the blood, eliminating from it the poisons which produce disease.

"Three years ago my husband was taken sick," writes Mrs. C. S. Towle, of San Ardo, Monterey Co., California. "He had three carbuncles. Two on back of the neck and one was in region of kidneys. It was six inches in diameter and he had the best doctor we could get. He attended him two months and then said he could do no more for him; that he had so little vitality there was nothing to build on; that a change might do him good. The children insisted on his going away, but I said no, if he must die, he should die here in our own home, but if he could be raised from that bed of sickness I could do it with Dr. Pierce's medicines. We bought one bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and a vial of Dr. Pierce's Pellets. My husband had not been able to sit up, even to have his bed made. When he had taken one bottle of the medicine he could sit up and go out of doors, and when seven had been taken he was in better health than for five years previously. He is now seventy years old, and can do a good day's work."

As a tonic for old people there is no medicine superior to "Golden Medical Discovery." It strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood, and so gives new life and new strength.

A NIGHT AT THE PLAY.

"THE CHAPERONS."

The merry musical "Chaperons," the latest tuneful success, is the attraction offering at the Temple soon. Many flattering reports have been received of this gay melodic satire, which has recently closed successful engagements in the east, where "The Chaperons" followed "Florodora," and was counted a threatening rival of that piece. The production is in the care of Frank L. Perley's great singing organization and the fine cast of lyric comedy artists include a galaxy of well known entertainers, among them being Harry Conor,

ARTHUR DUNN,
As Flipper, in "A Runaway Girl."

"ALICE OF OLD VINCENNES."

The theater will be the scene on Monday, Feb. 24, of a double introduction by Mr. Charles Frohman. First, of a practically new star, Virginia Harned; and second, of a relatively new play, "Alice of Old Vincennes."

Miss Harned's debut in this instance will be as an individual star, for she is already abundantly possessed of stellar honors, won during her long association as co-star with her distinguished husband, E. H. Sothern.

In thus branching out for herself, Miss Harned has had more in her favor than customarily falls to the lot of the average new-comer in the theatrical world, for in addition to great personal attractions and exceptional ability as an actress, she can boast of a manager of renown, a dramatist of skill and a novelist of world-wide fame, and this combination of resources is well calculated to equip her with the strongest sort of vehicle by which to attain success. Mr. Frohman has surrounded her with a splendid company and given the play a mounting that in beauty, originality and elaborateness is not exceeded by any of his other famous big productions.

Maurice Thompson's novel from which the play is taken is a literary work that at once took rank among other masterpieces of fiction as soon as it was issued and it earned no little distinction for its author.

Miss Harned was the unanimous choice of Mr. Frohman and the author, during the life of the last-named, as one and alone the only actress qualified to portray the heroine of the story.

The scene of this story, as the title implies, is in Vincennes, Indiana, and the period early in the American revolution.

"THE SECOND IN COMMAND."

Charles Frohman introduces John Drew at the Masonic Temple theater on Wednesday, March 5th, in the most popular and successful play of that actor's career, Robert Marshall's comedy, "The Second in Command." The record of this attraction, while it held sway at the Empire theater, New York, shows an unbroken series of crowded houses and the enthusiastic approval of everybody who had seen the play. "The Second in Command" is declared to be the brightest and most realistic of all the Marshall compositions that have yet been offered to New York theatergoers. Its love story is simple, sweet and wholesome and the noble men and lovely women who are brought together in its scenes recommend themselves at once to public favor. Mr. Drew's characterization of the good-natured, blundering hero who is as unfortunate in love-making as he is in other things is conceded to be the finest piece of acting he has ever done. It is styled a character that obtains immediate recognition from women theatergoers because, as Mr. Drew presents it, there is everything to recommend it. His love-making has a novel and most agreeable flavor and in these things his work is fully as effectual as in the stirring dramatic incidents at the end of the third act. It therefore looks as if John Drew and "The Second in Command" are going to make an enviable record here.

MASON AND MASON IN A NEW FARCE.

Although Mason and Mason, the new stars in the firmament of eccentric German comedy, will make their first bow together at the head of their own company this season in "Rudolph and Adolph," both are well and favorably known, as individuals, throughout the entire country. This new team is composed of Dan Mason and Charles A. Mason, who have for years been presenting types of laughable and eccentric Germans to American theater-goers. Last season Dan was the stocking importer in David Belasco's "Naughty

JOHN DREW,

Anthony," and for the three seasons preceding he had respectively created Von Bulow Schmidt in "The Man from Mexico," the German servant in "Mr. Smooth" and Count Wilhelm von Guggenheim in "Why Smith Left Home." Charles A. Mason was formerly of the team of Kelly and Mason, who have been presenting musical comedies for several years.

In "Rudolph and Adolph" the new stars have a vehicle written especially for them and contrived with the express purpose of fitting their personal peculiarities. The role entrusted to Dan Mason is that of Rudolph Dinkenspiel, a horse doctor, with a harmless penchant for the society of young and fascinating ladies. He becomes acquainted with Adolph Dinkenspiel, a ladies' tailor, played by Charles A. Mason, and purchases a half interest in his business so that he might "measure 'em round and round." The advent of the horse doctor, who cannot forget his original occupation and methods, into the establishment of the ladies' tailor gives rise to a number of entanglements which are said to be both new and very funny. There is no attempt at high art in this entertainment, which has been devised simply with the intention of furnishing amusement and driving away dull care in a legitimate and polite manner.

As in all presentations of this type songs, dances and specialties will be liberally interpolated. Mason and Mason themselves will sing three new songs written especially for them and used by no other organization. Other divertisements will be furnished by Lottie Williams Salter, Beatrice McKenzie, Low H. Newcomb, Nellie Maskell, C. Jay Williams, the Laurence sisters, Estelle Gilbert, Gloria Alonzo and Samuel Mitchell. This company will appear on Saturday matinee and night, Feb. 22, Washington's birthday.

"A RUNAWAY GIRL."

One of the surest evidences of the success and popularity of a musical comedy is the demand made by the audience for the repetition of more or less of the musical numbers that are introduced or that form a necessary part of the play. This fact has been and is nightly illustrated by the demand made by the large audiences attending the production of the international musical comedy success, "A Runaway Girl." From two to six encores are exacted of the artists singing the catchy airs of "The Sly Cigarette," "Follow the Man from Cook's," "The Boy Guessed Right," "High Society," "Not the Kind of Girl I Care About," "Soldiers in the Park," or as more popularly known "Listen to the Band," and the negro oddity, "The Goblins." These musical gems, and several others, are nightly sung in this production, and in conjunction with many graceful dances performed by both principals and chorus, and the bright wit and sparkling humor pervading the play, have served to establish "A Runaway Girl" as the cleanest, merriest and most meritorious musical comedy of the age. This exquisite comedy, with all its original music and multitudinous catchy features, will be witnessed in this city at the Temple on the evening of Friday, Feb. 21.

"A STRANGER IN A STRANGE LAND."

"Young Corbett," who comes to the Masonic Temple next Thursday, and who is just now the idol of the fistic world, will make his first appearance in this city, and the only one of the season, as his tour is necessarily a limited one. His quick and decisive defeat of the hitherto invincible Terry McGovern, the terrible, certainly entitled him to the title of the featherweight champion of the world, and the modesty of his demeanor since that has only served to increase the number of admirers which would have ordinarily come to his lot. His present appearance is in connection with the comedy farce of "A Stranger in a Strange Land," one of the most popular of the successes of a year ago at the Manhattan theater, New York. During the play he has a limited round sparring match with his traveling partner. As for the farce there are few of as high a class of merit. It is a matter of congratulation that in these days of Frenchified farces, when bedsteads and pajamas seem to be a necessary adjunct to create laughter, that an American farce constructed on legitimate lines, pure, clean and wholesome, without the shadow of suggestiveness, has scored a greater triumph than any of the imported doses. "A Stranger in a Strange Land" is the joint work of Sidney Wilmer and Walter Vincent, two American authors, who have had some success already in bringing into existence some laugh-provoking creations.

BURRILL COMEDY COMPANY.

The Vandergrift, Pa., Citizen has the following to say of the Burrill Comedy company, which commences a three-days' engagement at the Masonic Temple on Monday, with dime matinees on Tuesday and Wednesday:

"Laura Hulbert, supported by the Burrill Comedy company, opened a three-nights' engagement Thursday evening at the Casino, presenting for the first time in Vandergrift the celebrated military play, entitled, "The Deserter." The plot of the play surrounds incidents and happenings during the civil war and the play abounds in comedy as well as pathos. It has its sensational feature as well, and special scenery is used. The company is strong and fully sustains its just reputation of being one of the best of its kind on the road. The specialties were numerous and well appreciated. Miss Adelle Adams in classic poses, Miss Leslie Palmer in illustrated songs, Miss Babette Burge in songs and dances, Little Elsie in songs and Jack Spaulding in monologues, songs and imitations, were all very good and their several specialties were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience."

They will play at popular prices—ten, twenty and thirty cents—and ladies can secure best reserved seats for Monday evening for fifteen cents if they purchase them in advance.

THEATRICAL JOTTINGS.

The Chicago press are a unit in the praise of John Drew and his play, "The Second in Command." It is the first attraction that has visited that city in years in which press opinions have been so in accord.

Attractions at the Masonic Temple week after next will be as follows: Virginia Harned, in "Alice of Old Vincennes," Monday, Feb. 24; "Peck's Bad Boy," Feb. 26; Vogel & Deming's minstrels, Feb. 27, and "The Dairy Farm," March 1.

Virginia Harned, in "Alice of Old Vincennes," had a phenomenal week in Baltimore, ending with tonight. It is said that seats for the entire engagement were all sold on the opening day of the sale. Next week Miss Harned will play in Detroit and will come direct from that city to Fort Wayne.

One of the unique song hits in "The Chaperons" is a trio, entitled, "The Man Behind the Scenes," in which Harry Conor, Jos. C. Miron and Miss Trixie Frigenza, the clever commedienne, give an amusing burlesque on the mishaps which sometimes mar the stage performance.

One of the cleverest negro ditties, or more popularly known as "coon songs and dances," ever written and arranged is to be seen at each performance of "A Runaway Girl." Strange as it may appear, it was composed by a couple of Englishmen and is considered the neatest and most natural creation in that line that has been seen for years. Arthur Dunn and Miss Clara Belle Jerome execute this charming song and dance during the performance, and with the assistance of the electrical moonlight effect, make a decided hit in its rendition.

AND
D. W. Tucker, A. M. M. D.
INDIANA MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE.
Many Imitators, But no Equal.
Permit us to call the attention of our readers to the important fact that there are three essential steps in the successful treatment of disease. First, a correct diagnosis; second, the selection of the proper remedies in their best possible form, and third, a thorough knowledge of knowing how to prepare these remedies and their physiological effects upon the human body, in order to effect a cure. In the three above named facts Dr. D. W. Tucker has no equal in the state of Indiana. He has treated many thousands of cases within the last Thirty Years.
If one fourth of the people that are now in the cemetery had consulted and been treated by some good Specialist in place of their family doctor, they would have lived twenty years longer. Only a Specialist, who thoroughly understands Chronic Diseases, can treat them successfully. Dr. Tucker is without doubt the ablest specialist in this state and has treated and cured more cases of Chronic and Private Diseases than all the other Specialists in this state combined.
A doctor that has restored thousands to health, and can produce undeniable proof of the fact, must be regarded with respect. This is the record of Dr. Tucker, which cannot be equaled by any other specialist in the United States. His success is the result of THIRTY YEARS of careful study, extensive research, observation and remarkable experience in the treatment and cure of thousands of chronic and private diseases of the Brain, Heart, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder, Rectum, Gleet, Impotency, Nervous Diseases, Catarrh, Piles, Varicocele, Strictures, and all private diseases of both sexes. If Dr. Tucker cannot cure you no other specialist in the United States can. He has deposited in bank ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS that he has treated more cases of chronic diseases and performed more remarkable cures than any THREE SPECIALISTS in the State of Indiana. He will not deceive you, and guarantees to cure every case he takes for treatment. He is vouched for by the best banks and citizens of the state.
The only Master Specialist in the State of Indiana can be found only at the Indiana Medical and Surgical Institute, at No. 10 West Wayne street. Call or address,

INFLUENCE

The state of the mother during gestation may influence the whole future of the child. It is highly important that pregnant women meet the issue with calm composure and with as little pain as possible. Animals of the lower kingdom require no outside aid to undergo painless gestation and delivery of young, for they are not physically hampered or deformed by dress.

Women suffer agonies when with child, unless they make use of the discoveries of art and science that counteract the effect of dress follies. To-day in every drug store there is one liniment sold at $1 per bottle, which excels in virtue and safeness any like remedy, to be applied externally by hand once a day on the skin in the region of the uterus. It is not a drug for you to swallow. It is Mother's Friend, so named because it has never failed to give comfort and ease to any woman who ever used it in motherhood.

DROPPING IN THE THROAT.

When catarrh of the head gets to a place where the discharge runs down the nasal passages and drops into the throat it has reached the danger point.

If you wait until it goes that far don't let it go any further—for the next place it attacks is the bronchial tubes and the lungs. Catarrh undoubtedly causes more consumption than anything else, and like consumption it must be treated through the blood. Local applications at best can only serve to work out the discharges. They don't get at the root of the trouble, and sometimes, quite often, in fact, they irritate the inflamed outer surfaces and aggravate the disease. "Blood Wine" passes into the blood and purifies it.

The poisonous matters, which keeps the membranes of the head and respiratory organs, are filtered, passed out of the system and the diseased parts healed, to stay healed. It will stop the dropping in the throat and all discharges, sweeten the breath, relieve the irritation of the nasal passages, throat and windpipe. It overcomes the burning, smarting sensation in the eyes. It removes the obstructions in the head, and makes breathing easy and enables you to stop spitting and scraping.

M. CURTIS.

One of the many people who has been thoroughly cured of catarrh, and owes it to "Blood Wine," is Mr. M. Curtis, a prominent manufacturer and contractor of Boston, who lives on Waters Avenue, Everett, Mass., and he says:

"I have been completely cured of catarrh. This is an awful climate for it; most everyone is affected by it more or less, and I had it for years. It grew on me and was plainly ruining my health, making me thin, nervous, sleepless and with no appetite. I tried "Blood Wine" because its theory of treating catarrh seemed feasible. One bottle improved me, and four more bottles cured me. I still keep it in the house and wouldn't do without it."

"Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle, but you can sample it free of charge at Pellens & Bolster's drug store.

John Yount, a well-to-do farmer residing six miles southeast of Warsaw, is experiencing troubles of a domestic character entirely out of the ordinary, says the Warsaw Times.

Mr. Yount is past 70 years of age and is married to his fifth wife, formerly Miss Jessie Titsworth, a good-looking young lady of 24 years. Winter and spring were joined in wedlock two or three years ago, and it seems everything about the Yount home got along swimmingly until William, 18 years old, and the son of Mr. Yount by a former marriage, appeared on the scene a few days ago. The warm attachment of the young man for his young stepmother was evidently reciprocal, for on Tuesday last Yount, junior, eloped with his father's wife, taking along with them $450, which Yount perevers belonged to him, but which was deposited in a Warsaw bank in the wife's name. It is said the eloping couple was last seen driving west of Warsaw, and it is now thought that the "young folks" are in the vicinity of Winamac, where Mrs. Yount has relatives.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of both of them on the charge of larceny—not wife-stealing—but the taking of the harness on the horse they drove. Some time ago Mr. Yount had a warrant sworn out for the arrest of his son, charging him with the theft of $250, money that was paid the former by his young wife's grandmother on his agreeing to support the old lady the balance of her life. The sum left for parts unknown and escaped apprehension. Not long ago the young man returned home, and it was through the pleadings of both his father and fair stepmother that sheriff Smith refrained from serving the warrant. By many it was thought that William, the son, was falsely accused. However the old grandmother—the old lady who was to receive support for the balance of her days in exchange for the sum turned over to her granddaughter and the latter's husband—is now an inmate of the county infirmary, because she was without funds, her $250 having disappeared. Mr. Yount's domestic affairs may certainly be described as being in a sad plight.

BASE BALL NOTES.

Frank Huiseman, the Lajoie of the Southern league, has notified Manager McPhee, of Cincinnati, that he guesses he won't play in Cincinnati this year. He has received $200 advance money and has not returned any of it.

George Tebeau will probably lease the old National league grounds at Louisville, and has secured an option on a very desirable lot near the center of the city.

FORT WAYNE MEN TO SPEAK.

The members of Monroeville lodge, No. 253, I. O. O. F., are making elaborate arrangements for the dedicatory services of their new hall which will take place Tuesday, Feb. 25, 1902. In connection with the regular services, which will be conducted by Lieutenant Governor Gilbert, of Indiana, and District Deputy Grand Master Alexander Johnson there will be degree work by teams of visiting lodges that have been invited and will be present. The public addresses will be made by the lieutenant governor and district deputy.

WERE OLD RESIDENTS.

Death has claimed two well-known ladies who resided for many years in the eastern part of the county. Mrs. Lawlor, wife of the late Stephen Lawler, of Monroeville, died Monday at the age of 75. Mrs. George Reynolds, three miles east of Monroeville, died Friday at the age of 65 years, 7 months and 11 days.

IN NORTHERN INDIANA

Russell R. Leonard, former postmaster of North Manchester, is dead.

Kokomo will have a city market and public hall, the latter seating 3,000 persons.

The Northern Indiana conference of the M. E. church will meet at Marion April 16.

Hiram and Caroline Houk, of DeKalb county, have been divorced after forty years of married life.

Daniel R. Ball, who was formerly in the grain business at Silver Lake, Kosciusko county, died suddenly at Juniata, Neb.

Retail grocers at Wabash have organized the Wabash Delivery company with $1,600 capital stock, and will undertake co-operative delivery of goods about the city.

Mrs. J. T. Stewart, of Peru, who was so severely burned some weeks since by a gasoline explosion, mistaking the fluid found in a basin for water and placing it on the stove, died of her injuries.

A patent to 160 acres of land in Jay county, dated March 15, 1837, and bearing the signature of Martin Van Buren, president, by M. Van Buren, secretary, has just been recorded at Portland.

The city council of Huntington created a new ward at its recent meeting by dividing the Third ward, an overgrown district, and making a fourth, and at the same time selected and confirmed two new members for the same.

Samuel Bucher, 69 years of age and very well known, dropped dead in his dooryard at Huntington Friday morning. Heart disease is presumed to have been the cause. Bucher had been blind for many years.

Webb Bros. will rebuild a new opera house at Peru as soon as they dispose of five hundred tickets at $10 each, good for any five shows to be given in the house. About 200 tickets are sold to date.

A sensation was on at Goshen when it was learned that Robert Hale, a negro, had secured a license to wed Mamie Kassell a white girl of 17. Hale figured in a prominent murder trial at Royal Oak, Mich., recently.

John B. Drake, one of Goshen's most prominent citizens, died yesterday of a complication of diseases. He was nearly 75 years of age and had resided in Goshen over forty years. He leaves two daughters and a son.

The Standard Oil company has, it is said, met defeat in its fight with the Independent company at Kendallville, and has decided not to waste its time and money in any further attempt to control the oil trade of that city.

From reports received by State Statistician Johnson, wheat in Whitley and DeKalb counties is in bad condition, and the prospects are that the crop in both counties will be small. Mr. Johnson says thus far the month of February has been favorable to the wheat crop.

Teeters & Little, of Garrett, have filed a suit for $10,000 damages against the Incandescent Light and Stove Co., an Ohio corporation, on account of the big explosion in the plaintiffs' hardware store in Garrett last July in which their hardware stock was practically ruined.

Peru will solve the failing natural gas problem by the installation of a hot water heating system. Leading citizens have formed a company, visited a number of plants already in existence, and will shortly apply for a franchise from the city council.

In the suit brought by Mrs. Bridget Roach, of Huntington, against Mrs. Revarre, known as Hi-se-quah, the 90-year-old Miami squaw, for possession of 120 acres of land, the jury held that the defendant held a life interest in forty acres, but confirmed the plaintiff's title to the land in fee.

The Elkhart city council has ordered that the question of building a municipal water works system be submitted to the voters at the coming city election. It is alleged that the water company is charging exorbitant rates and is rendering poor service, and the question will probably be made a local issue.

An unusual spectacle was witnessed in the circuit court at Laporte in the trial of the Henning divorce case by the appearance of ten children, ranging in age from the youth of 18 years to the eldest son of 32 years, to give evidence of a sensational character against the father on behalf of the mother to whom the decree of legal separation was granted.

Noah Showalter, of Butler, was visited by three of his brothers this week. Seldom do as many men as old as they are get together for a reunion. Peter Showalter, of Lagrange, is 85 years old; Noah is 81, John is 73 and Abram Showalter, of Onekanna, Mich., is 66. They are all able to get around and walk to Butler and back.

Christian Holtzel, a pioneer of Noble county, died this week at his home near Diamond lake at the age of 80 years. Helfzell was a member of the famous band of "Regulators" which was successful in ridding that county of blacklegs in the late 50's, and is said to be the man who placed the rope about the neck of Gregory MacDougal, one of the leaders of the desperadoes, who was hung by the vigilance committee in those days. MacDougal's remains are buried in a cemetery north of Rome City.

THE SECRET OF FLUFFY HAIR.

Naturally every woman is anxious to have fluffy hair since aureoles are in fashion, but not all are able to accomplish it. After all, massage will not give the desired quality, and other devices are resorted to by those who are anxious to appear well coiffured. One simple method is the brushing of the hair every night with a solution of bay rum and rose water. Most of the nostrums sold in the shops for keeping hair in curl or waves, if not injurious, are merely elementary mixtures, such as sugar and gum arabic dissolved in water. A simple curling fluid may be made of three and a half to four ounces of gum arabic dissolved in a half pint of distilled water, into which eau de cologne or lavender water is dropped until the cloudiness disappears, when the clear portion is strained off and bottled for use.

A Parisan hair dresser gave to a Philadelphia woman, who is one of his best customers when she is in Paris, the recipe for the following solution, which is used in his establishment for giving the hair a fluffy, wavy appearance: Salt of tartar, one dram; powdered cochineal, one-half dram; one fluid dram each of liquor of ammonia and esprit of roses; glycerine, one-quarter of an ounce; one and one-half fluid ounces of rectified spirits, and eighteen ounces of distilled water. According to his formula, this was left to dissolve for a week, being regularly shaken up and filtered before bottling for use. When the hair is moistened with the mixture, loosely adjusted and allowed to dry, a very charming effect is obtained.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

THE SIAMESE MINISTER.

For the first time in history there is a Siamese minister permanently stationed in Washington. Heretofore the envoy to the British court from Siam has been ex-officio minister to the United States, but now the land of the white elephant has sent a representative especially to Uncle Sam. His title is "His Excellency Phya Akharajvaradhara," but his actual name is not divulged, as Siamese customs forbid the general use of a nobleman's name. His immediate family may handle it with impunity, but the outside world is supposed to be content with referring to the individual merely by title. Phya, it may be said, means marquis. The remainder of the formidable title not even the marquis' secretary—who is an Englishman named Loftus—can translate satisfactorily.

The Siamese minister resides at the Arlington, and so far has not mingled much in society. He is about 45 years old, and always appears in public wearing a gorgeous uniform covered with gold lace.—Washington Letter.

GRIP

A spontaneous epidemic of Grip has broken out all over the country. From the East, West, North and South come reports of prominent people who are victims of the Grip—actors' and actresses' places are being filled by understudies, speakers disappoint their audiences, preachers their congregations. Society leaders' hearts are made sad, and their drawing-rooms depleted by regrets from stricken guests. And yet there is an infallible preventive and cure by which you can keep your social and business engagements—only carry in your pocket and take a few pellets occasionally of Dr. Humphreys' Celebrated Specific "SEVENTY-SEVEN" ("77"), and you will be immune from Grip and Colds. A Daring Distribution

THE undersigned druggists, at the earnest solicitation of the Leroux Medicine Co., of Toledo, O., have made a thorough and searching investigation into the methods of that company and the cures which they claim to have accomplished.

They find that similar investigations have been made by the leading druggists of Detroit, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, and other Michigan and Ohio towns, and that in every case these druggists have unanimously reported that:

Every cure claimed by the company is absolutely genuine; that the medicine has accomplished the most amazing results in its home city; that its sales in the home city have been phenomenal; that it is endorsed by the druggists there, without hesitation or qualification; that its success in other cities has been the same as in Toledo; that it is, in short, all the company claims, and more.

They find also that the druggists in other cities have taken upon themselves the solemn responsibility of standing behind this medicine; and that these druggists have made in each city a daring and remarkable distribution of full-sized $1.00 bottles.

Impressed by the action of our fellow-druggists and convinced that they would not have given this remedy such unqualified approval without positive knowledge of its merits, we have decided to follow their example and distribute free of charge

Leroux's Blood Remedy.

Distribution by Meyer Bros. & Co., on TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 18.

The druggists named below hereby invite every person suffering from any form of blood trouble; any person who is run down, discouraged and in need of a powerful tonic; any person who has sought relief in other remedies and failed to find it, to cut out the certificate printed herewith, fill out the blank lines and present it at the store on the date given. We take this responsibility upon ourselves because we have positive knowledge that this remarkable remedy produces almost immediate results, and we are positive that the immense sales that are sure to follow will more than compensate us for the expenditure involved. Signed:

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

A GLOW OF GLADNESS GIVEN TO PASSAGES OF LIFE SOMETIMES THOUGHT TO BE GLOOMY.

Washington, D. C., February 9.—In this subject Dr. Talmage puts a glow of gladness and triumph upon passages of life that are usually thought to be somewhat gloomy. Text. Zechariah xiv., 7.: "At evening time it shall be light."

While "night" in all languages is the symbol of gloom and suffering, it is often really cheerful, bright, and impressive. I speak not of such nights as come down with no star pouring light from above or silvered wave tossing up light from beneath —murky, hurtling portentous, but such as you often see when the pomp and magnificence of heaven turn out on night parade; and it seems as though the song which the morning stars began so long ago were chiming yet among the constellations and the sons of God were shouting for joy. Such nights the sailor blesses from the forecastle, and the trapper on vast prairie, and the belated traveler by the roadside, and the soldier from the tent, earthly hosts gazing upon heavenly, and shepherds guarding their flocks afield, while angel hands above them set the silver bells a ringing: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace; good will toward men."

What a solemn and glorious thing is night in the wilderness! Night among the mountains! Night on the ocean! Fragrant night among tropical groves! Flashing night amid arctic severities! Calm night on Roman Campagna! Awful night among the Cordilleras! Glorious night and sea after the tempest! Thank God for the night! The moon and the stars which rule it are lighthouses on the coast, toward which I hope we are all sailing, and blind mariners are we if with so many beaming, burning, flaming glories to guide us we cannot find our way into the harbor.

LIGHT AT EVENTIDE.

My text may well suggest that as the natural evening is often luminous, so it shall be light in the evening of our sorrows—or old age—of the world's history—of the Christian life. "At eventime it shall be light."

This prophecy will be fulfilled in the evening of Christian sorrow. For a long time it is broad daylight. The sun rides high. Innumerable activities go ahead with a thousand feet, and work with a thousand arms, and the pickax struck a mine and the battery made a discovery, and the investment yielded its 20 per cent. and the book came to its twentieth edition, and the farm quadrupled in value; and sudden fortune hoisted to high position, and children were praised, and friends without number swarmed into the family hive, and prosperity sang in the music and stepped in the dance, and glowed in the wine, and ate at the banquet, and all the gods of music and ease and gratification gathered around this Jupiter holding in his hands so many thunderbolts of power. But every sun must set, and the brightest day must have its twilight. Suddenly the sky was overcast. The fountain dried up. The song hushed. The wolf broke into the family fold and carried off the best lamb. A deep howl of woe came crashing down through the joyous symphonies. At one rough twang of the hand of disaster, the harpstrings all broke. Down went the strong business firm! Away went long-established credit! Up flew a flock of calamities! The new book would not sell! A patent could not be secured for the invention. Stocks sank like lead. The insurance company exploded. "How much," says the sheriff, "will you bid for this piano? How much for this library? How much for this family picture? How much? Will you let it go at less than half price? Going—going—gone!" Will the grace of God hold one up in such circumstances? What have become of the great multitude of God's children, who have been pounded of the flail, and crushed under the wheel, and trampled under the hoof? Did they lie down in the dust, weeping, wailing and gnashing their teeth? Did they, when they were afflicted like Job, curse God, and want to die? When the rod of fatherly chastisement struck them did they strike back? Because they found one bitter cup on the table of God's supply, did they upset the whole table? Did they kneel down at their empty money vault and say: "All my treasures are gone? Did they stand by the grave of their dead, saying: "There never will be a resurrection?"

OVERTAKEN BY PROMISES.

Did they bemoan their thwarted plans and say, "The stocks are down—would to God I were dead?" Did the night of their disaster come upon them moonless, starless, dank and howling, smothering and choking their life out? No! No! At eventime it was light. The swift promise overtook them. The eternal constellations, from their circuit about God's throne, poured down an infinite luster. Under their shining the billows of trouble took on crests and plumes of gold and jasper and amethyst and flame. All the trees of life rustled in the midsummer air of God's love. The night-blooming assurances of Christ's sympathy filled all the atmosphere with heaven. The soul at every step seemed to start up from its feet bright-winged joys, warbling heavenward. "It is good that I have been afflicted," cried David. "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away," exclaimed Job. "Sorrowful, yet always rejoicing," says St. Paul. "And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes," exclaims John, in apocalyptic vision. At eventime it was light. Light from the cross! Light from the promise! Light from the throne! Streaming, joyous, outgushing, everlasting light!

Again, the text shall find fulfillment in the time of old age. It is a grand thing to be young, to have the sight clear, and the hearing acute, and the step elastic, and all our pulses marching on to the drumming of a stout heart. Mid-life and old age will be denied many of us, but youth—we all know what that is. Those wrinkles were not always on your brow. That snow was not always on your head. That brawny muscle did not always bunch your arm. You have not always worn spectacles. Grave and dignified as you now are, you once went coasting down the hillside, or threw off your hat for the race, or sent the ball flying sky-high. But youth will not always last. It stays only long enough to give us exuberant spirits, and broad shoulders for burden-carrying, and an arm with which to battle our way through difficulties. Life's path, if you follow it long enough will come under frowning crag and cross trembling causeway. Blessed old age, if you let it come naturally. You cannot hide it. You may try to cover the wrinkles, but you cannot cover the wrinkles. If the time has come for you to be old, be not ashamed to be old. The grandest things in all the universe are old. Old mountains, old rivers, old seas, old stars and an old eternity. Then do not be ashamed to be old, unless you are older than the mountains and older than the stars.

HONOR TO THE AGED.

How men and women will lie! They say they are 40, but they are 60. They say they are 20, but they are 30. They say they are 60, but they are 80. Glorious old age, if found in the way of righteousness! How beautiful the old age of Jacob, leaning on the top of his staff; of John Quincy Adams, falling with the harness on; of Washington Irving, sitting pen in hand, amid the scenes himself had made classical; of John Angell James, to the last proclaiming the gospel to the masses of Birmingham; of Theodore Frelinghuysen, down to feebleness and emaciation, devoting his illustrious faculties to the kingdom of God. At eventide it was light!

See that you do honor to the aged. A philosopher stood at the corner of the street day after day, saying to the passers-by: "You will be an old man; you will be an old man," "You will be an old woman; you will be an old woman." People thought that he was crazy. I do not think that he was. Smooth the way for that mother's feet; they have not many more steps to take. Steady those tottering limbs; they will soon be at rest. Plow not up that face with any more wrinkles; trouble and care have marked it full enough. Thrust no thorn into that old heart; it will soon cease to beat. "The eye that mocketh its father, and refuseth to obey its mother, the ravens of the valley shall pick it out, and the young eagles shall eat it." The bright morning and hot noonday of life have passed with many. It is 4 o'clock! 5 o'clock! 6 o'clock! The shadows fall longer and thicker, and faster. Seven o'clock! 8 o'clock! The sun has dipped below the horizon; the warmth has gone out of the air. Nine o'clock! 10 o'clock! The heavy dews are falling; the activities of life's day are all hushed; it is time to go to bed. Eleven o'clock! 12 o'clock! The patriarch sleeps, the blessed sleep, the cool sleep, the long sleep. Heaven's messengers of light have kindled bonfires of victory all over the heavens. At eventime it is light. Light!

CHURCH'S LATTER DAY.

Again. My text shall find fulfillment in the latter day of the church. Only a few missionaries, a few churches, a few good men, compared with the institutions leprous and putrefied. It is early yet in the history of everything good. Civilization and Christianity are just getting out of the cradle. The light of martyr stakes, flashing all up and down the sky, is but the flaming of the morning, but when the evening of the world shall come, glory to God's conquering truth, it shall be light. War's sword clanging back in the scabbard; intemperance buried under ten thousand broken decanters; the world's impurity turning its brow heavenward for the benediction. "Blessed are the pure in heart;" the last vestige of selfishness submerged in heaven-descending charities and China worshiping Dr. Abeel's Savior; all India believing in Henry Martyn's Bible; aboriginal superstition acknowledging David Brainerd's piety; human bondage delivered through Thomas Clarkson's Christianity; vagrancy coming back from its pollution at the call of Elizabeth Fry's Redeemer; the mountains coming down; the valleys going up; "holiness" inscribed on horse's bell, and silkworm's thread, and brown thrasher's wing, and shell's tinge, and manufacturer's shuttle, and chemist's laboratory, and king's scepter, and nation's Magna Charta. Not a hospital, for there are no wounds; not an asylum, for there are no orphans; not a prison, for there are no criminals; not an almshouse, for there are no paupers; not a tear, for there are no sorrows. The long dirge of earth's lamentation has ended in the triumphal march of redeemed empires, the forests harping it on vine-strung branches, the water chanting it among the gorges, the thunders drumming it among the hills, the ocean giving it forth with its organs, trade winds touching the keys, and Euroclydon's foot on the pedal. I want to see Florence Nightingale when the last saber wound has stopped hurting; I want to see William Penn when the last Indian has been civilized; I want to see John Huss when the last flame of persecution has been extinguished; I want to see John Bunyan after the last pilgrim has come to the gate of the celestial city; above all, I want to see Jesus after the last saint has his throne and has begun to sing his triumph.

You have watched the calmness and the glory of the evening hour. The laborers have come from the field. The heavens are glowing with an indescribable effulgence, as though the sun in departing had forgotten to shut the gate after it. All the beauty of cloud and leaf swim in the lake. For a star in the sky, a star in the water; heaven above and heaven beneath. Not a leaf rustling, or a bee humming, or a grasshopper chirping. Silence in the meadow; silence among the hills. Thus bright and beautiful shall be the evening of the world. The glory of heaven fills all the scene with love, joy and peace. At eventide it is light! Light!

Finally, my text shall find fulfillment at the end of the Christian life. You know how short a winter's day is, and how little work you can do. Now, my friends, life is a short winter's day. The sun rises at 8 and sets at 4. The birth angel and the death angel fly only a little way apart. Baptism and burial are near together. With one hand the mother rocks the cradle, and with the other she touches the grave.

I went into the house of one of my parishioners on Thanksgiving day. The little child of the household was bright and glad, and with it I bounded up and down the hall. Christmas came, and the light of that household had perished. We stood, with black book, reading over the grave, "Ashes to ashes, dust to dust."

But I hurl away this darkness. I cannot have you weep. Thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory, at eventide it shall be light! I have seen many Christians die. I never saw any of them die in darkness. What if the billows of death do rise above our girdle, who does not love to bathe? What though other lights do go out in the blast, what do we want of them when all the gates of glory swing open before us, and from a myriad voices, a myriad harps, a myriad thrones, a myriad palaces, there dash upon us "Hosannah! Hosannah!" "Throw back the shutters and let the sun in," said dying Scoville McCullum, one of my Sabbath school boys. "Threw back the shutters and let the sun in." You can see Paul putting on robes and wings of ascension as he exclaims: "I have fought the good fight; I have finished my course; I have kept the faith."

OF JOYS TO COME.

Hugh McKail went to one side of the scaffold of martyrdom and cried: "Farewell sun, moon and stars. Farewell all earthly delights!" Then went to the other side of the scaffold and cried: "Welcome, God and Father! Welcome, sweet Jesus Christ, the mediator of the covenant! Welcome death! Welcome glory!" A minister of Christ, in Philadelphia, dying, said in his last moments: "I move into the light!" They did not go down doubting, and fearing, and shrivering, but their battle cry rang through all the caverns of the sepulcher, and was echoed back from all the thrones of heaven! "O death! where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?" Sing, my soul, of joys to come.

I saw a beautiful being wandering up and down the earth. She touched the aged, and they became young. She touched the poor and they became rich. I said: "Who is this beautiful being wandering up and down the earth?" They told me that her name was Death. What a strange thrill of joy when the palsied Christian begins to use his arm again! When the blind Christian begins to see again! When the deaf Christian begins to hear again! When the poor pilgrim puts his feet on such pavement, and joins in such company, and has a free seat in such a great temple! Hungry men no more to hunger; thirsty men no more to thirst; weeping men no more to weep; dying men no more to die. Gather up all sweet words, all jubilant expressions, all rapturous exclamations; bring them to me and I will pour upon them this stupendous theme of the soul's disenthrallment! Oh! the joy of the spirit as it shall mount up toward the throne of God, shouting Free! Free! Your eye has gazed upon the garniture of earth and heaven; but eye hath not seen it. Your ear has caught harmonies uncounted and indescribable—caught them from harp's trill; and bird's carol, and waterfall's dash, and ocean's doxology, but ear hath not heard it. How did those blessed ones get up into the light? What hammer knocked off their chains? What loom wove their robes of light? Who gave them wings? Ah! eternity is not long enough to tell it; seraphim have not capacity enough to realize it—the marvels of redeeming love! Let the palms wave; let the crowns glitter; let the anthems ascend; let the trees of Lebanon clap their hands —they cannot tell the half of it, Archangel before the throne, thou failest! Sing on, praise on, ye hosts of the glorified; and if with your scepters you cannot reach it, and with your songs you cannot express it, then let all the myriads of the saved unite in the exclamation, "Jesus! Jesus! Jesus!"

AT HEAVEN'S GATE.

There will be a password at the gate of heaven. A great multitude come up and knock at the gate. The gate-keeper says, "The password." They say, "We have no password. We were great on earth, and now we come up to be great in heaven." A voice from within answers, "I never knew you." Another group come up to the gate of heaven and knock. The gate-keeper says, "The password." They say, "We have no password. We did a great many noble things on earth. We endowed colleges and took care of the poor." The voice from within says, "I never knew you." Another group come up to the gate of heaven and knock. The gate-keeper says, "The password." They answer: "We were wanderers from God, and deserve to die; but we heard the voice of Jesus—" Ay! Ay!" says the gate-keeper. "That is the password! Lift up your heads, ye everlasting gates, and let these people come in." They go in and surround the throne, jubilant forever!

Ah! do you wonder that the last hours of the Christian on earth are illuminated by thoughts of the coming glory? Light in the evening. The medicines may be bitter. The pain may be sharp. The parting may be heartrending. Yet, light in the evening. As all the stars of the night sink their anchors of pearl in lake, in river and sea, so the waves of Jordan shall be illuminated with the down-flashing of the glory to come. The dying soul looks up at the constellations. "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear?" "The lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall lead them to living fountains of water, and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes."

Close the eyes of the departed one; earth would seem tame to its enchanted vision. Fold the hands; life's work is ended. Veil the face; it has been transfigured.

Mr. Toplady, in his dying hour, said "Light." Coming nearer the expiring moment, he exclaimed, with illuminated countenance, "Light!" In the last instant of his breathing he lifted up his hands and cried, "Light! Light!"

Thank God for light in the evening!

A DIPLOMATIC ANSWER.

On one occasion Lord Palmerston was "heckled" by an audience which demanded to know whether he would vote for a certain measure. With an appearance of the utmost frankness the speaker fronted the audience. "I will," he began. Loud cheers from the conservatives. "Not." Yells from the opposition, consternation in the other party. "Tell you," calmly resumed the speaker, amid general laughter and good feeling.

POPULATION GROWING.

There has been, says the London Telegraph, a good deal of outcry of late over the alleged depopulation of France, but the result of the census taken on March 24, 1901, is decidedly reassuring. It shows a total of 38,961,945 inhabitants in France and Corsica. In 1896, when the previous census was taken, the figure was 38,517,332, so that during the period of five years there has been an increase of 444,613. In point of fact, the result of this last census is even better than this, as when the number of soldiers and sailors who were serving abroad last spring, in China and elsewhere amounting to 69,168, is added, a grand total of 39,031,113 is reached.

The official report dwells with natural complacency on this improvement, but, on the other hand, it frankly points out one of two matters which will supply material for rather anxious reflection. The population, it sets forth, has only augmented in a limited number of departments, while elsewhere it has actually decreased. Only 25, indeed, show what may be called a really satisfactory record, and among them are included the Seine, the Seine-Inferieure, the Seine-et-Oise, the Nord, the Pas de Calais, the Alpes Maritimes, the Bouches du Rhone and the Gironde. It is explained in this report that the reason of the decrease of the population in the great majority of the departments is the growing attraction which the large centers exercise. Thus, the population of Paris has increased by 177,234. During the past 20 years it has grown by over 725,000, and in the suburbs of the capital there has also been a marked increase. In 1896 there were twelve towns in France each with more than 100,000 inhabitants. Now there are 15.

CURIOS OF HAWAII.

Old natives who have put in the past twelve months fishing, and who are now flocking to town, tell many interesting and curious stories of the habits of the inhabitants of the great deep, which have come under their immediate notice, says the Honolulu Commercial-Advertiser.

One hardy fisherman from the windward side of Hawaii told a number of friends yesterday that there was a species of eels where he lived which emerged from the water on moonlight evenings when the dew was on the grass and entered thickets for the purpose of pursuing mice, lizards and such small deer. He said that it was simply wonderful to witness the way that such an eel would squirm down a mouse hole and catch the little rodent.

Asked as to how he first made the discovery of this remarkable anquillid, the old man said that one night he was walking home and tripped over what he thought was a branch of a tree. Investigation showed it to be a meandering eel. He stated that the eels cannot go a-walking unless there be dew on the ground. Otherwise they get clogged up with dust and dirt. The species of eel mentioned is greyish white in color, with dark spots.

Another anecdote recently brought in from the sea-marge relates to a species of squid which climbs the lauhala trees in search of the himano flowers, of which it is passionately fond.

The man who is responsible for the tree-climbing cephaloid also tells of sea-horses in his district which, to his certain knowledge, jump from rock to rock like accomplished steeplechasers.

BUNKO MEN'S MISTAKE.

"If people would take the trouble to post themselves as to the name and function of each and every branch of the government service, it might in the long run prove the means of saving them considerable money," said the director of the bureau of engraving and printing to the Washington Post, while discussing the subject of green goods.

"The green goods men are rather active just at present, and, as a result, a good many green goods letters are finding their way to my desk from people, mostly farmers, who are shrewd enough not to invest until they have found out more about the matter. These letters are the same old green goods circulars, and start off by saying that the writer was formerly and for years an employe of this bureau, and that he is, therefore, thoroughly familiar with all our methods.

"Now the funny part of the whole matter is that the green goods operators do not themselves know the correct name for this institution, and in none of their circulars does the correct name ever appear. They call it the bureau of engraving, the department of stamping, etc., but never by its right name, and if people were posted, and knew the right name of every branch of the government service they would be able to see at a glance that the claims of these fellows as to having worked here for years were false. If such were the case, the green goods men would not make the mistake of calling this bureau by other than its right name."

Rheumatism CURED

After 30 Years' Suffering.

"I had Rheumatism in my right knee for 30 years; sometimes better, sometimes worse, until finally it moved up into my hip and across my back, until I could hardly get about to do anything. The doctor said it was Sciatica, and nothing did me any good until I used Drefs' Gout and Rheumatic Pills. Now I can say I am as nearly without pain as any man of my age in the country. I am nearly 75 years of age and can walk 10 miles in 3 hours without being much fatigued." James Goetz, Dunkirk, N. Y.

CARL DUNDER

He Relates His Experience With a Phonograph . . . . .

Copyright, 1898. By CHARLES B. LEWIS.

It vhas my son Shake who comes by me one day und says:

"Fadder, vhen you vhas dead we shall grief for you und be awful sorry."

Vhell, dot vhas all right, und she brings tears to my eyes. Shake vhas a good boy, und if he likes to go by a horse-race I don't say nottings. By und by he says:

"When you haf been dead one tousand years we like to hear your voice again. You don't come back to us from der grafe, but if we hear your voice it makes us feel tickled"

"How vhas dot?" I says.

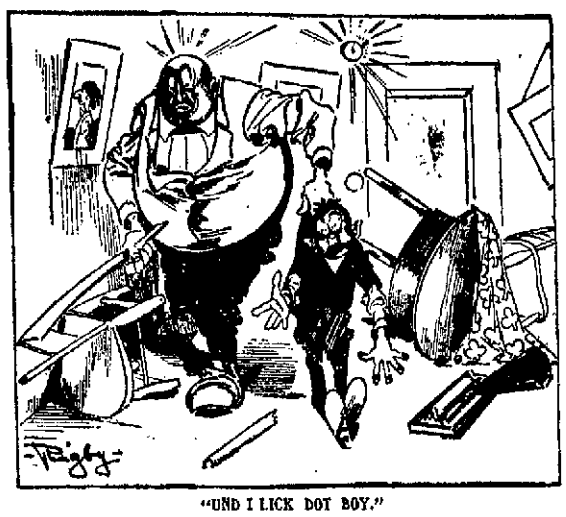
"It vhas dot phonograph," says Shake. "Don't you know, fadder, dot if you talk or sing into dot phonograph she keeps your voice one tousand years. It vhas wonderful."

I don't belief her, of course, but I go down town mit Shake und he shows me all about it. It vhas a big surprise on me. I speak in dot phonograph und by und by he speaks back to me. It seems to me like some ghosts, und I vhas afraid of her, but Shake laughs und jumps around und says she vhas all K. O., und so I tells dot man to send a machine oop to my house. He vhas glad to do so, und he says if I don't haf more fun dan mit seven goats he don't charge a cent. Shake knows how to work dot phonograph und when we get her home I sit down for two hours und sing und talk. Dot vhas all laid oop, und I vhas glad. My friendt, Hans Schmidt, he comes in und talks, too, und der oldt woman talks, und my friend, Peter Kleinfeldt, he sings und speaks. In two days my son Shake he comes to me und says:

"Fadder, if we vhas in der swim we must give a phonograph party. Dot vhas all der style shust now."

"How vhas he?" I says.

"She vhas to show off dot phonograph. I work him all right, und eafryody shall hear all dot singing und talking. I like to see if it vhas all right before you vhas dead."



"UND I LICK DOT BOY."

Vhell, dot seems all right to me, und so we haf some ice cream und beer und pretzels, und more ash twenty peoples vhas invited. Eaferybody feels good, und Shake stands out like a little man und oxplains all about her. It vhas der greatest machine on earth. He vhas bigger ash Napoleon or Christopher Columbus. If des Spanish haf dot machine at Manila Dewey vhas gone oop in two minutes. If Blanco haf him in Havana we shall not take Cuba in one hoonered years. Shake makes it all so nice dot if he ask me to go und see a boxing match I gif him two dollars for a front seat. When he don't speak any more he says:

"We shall now listen to dot song of 'Der Sweet By Und By,' ash sung by my fadder two days ago. I like to haf eaferybody keep still und shed some tears."

Shake stands back und der machine goes off, und in ten seconds my hair stands oop. It vhas some songe dot I neffer heard. It vhas all about how I met some young woman by der moonlight under der cider-mill, und how my heart vhas breaking if she don't fly avhay mit me. Und vhen she ends oop dot song makes me say dot my old woman vhas cross-eyed und bald-headed und I like her to fall down a well. Eaferybody looks at me, und can't make him out, und der old woman says she vhill see me later about dot moonlight business. I try to stop Shake, but he goes ahead und says:

"We shall now listen to another song by dot same fadder. She vhas called: 'Dose Harbor Lights Vhas Burning.' If anybody vhas crying when she vhas finished it vhas all right!"

Dot machine goes again, und dot song vhas all about an old sport who put his last dollar on a game of poker, und though he held three aces he vhas bluffed out by a man mit only a pair of tens. Eaferbody turns und looks at me again, und Mrs. Dunder falls to crying und says it vhas better if I hang myself in der woodshed. I can't see how she vhas, und I wave my hand at Shake to stop her, but he only smiles und says:

"May be dot singing vhas enough for one evening. I shall now let dot machine speak to you."

Und dot speaking almost knocked me out. Dot machine yells und whoops und swears like some pirates; it makes me call names on myself. it makes me swear at her old woman und der preacher, und it makes me say dat my good friendt, Hans Schmidt, vhas a gay old sport, a masher und a bik. It makes me pitch into Peter Littlefield und call him a thief, und it winds me oop by saying dot Sing-Sing vhas by home. I vhas so mad I like to go eafer und kick dot machine all to pieces, but my friendt, Hans Schmidt, he stops me und says:

"You vhill sit down some more! If you vhas some villains in disguise der poublic like to know about her!"

Und den Shake he puts in und says dot he hears me speak a poem into dot machine at 12 o'clock at night, und he vhill now bring him out to eaferybody. It vhas true dot I speak a poem. He vhas called "Bingen On Der Rhine," und it vhas my favorite. I haf tears in my eyes ash I speak him. It vhas all right to haf him come out like I talk, but she don't it. It vhas like some drunken mans standing on der corner und yelling und swearing und mixing things all eop. Dot machine speaks sooch awful language dot eaferbody turns pale, und vhen I calls to Shake to stop her my friendt, Hans Schmidt, wafes his hand to me und says:

"Carl Dunder, you keep quiet! I vhas your friendt for 14 years, und it vhas a wonder you don't cut my throat for two shillings! Keep it oop, Shake!"

Und Shake vhas so tickled he can't stand still. Dot phonograph makes fun of my old womans, und of Hans Schmidt und Peter Kleinfeldt—und all my friendts. It sings "Yankee Doodle" for dot "Sweet By und By," und it makes me swear und blow around und be a bad man. By und by he says:

"Hello, you Dutch duffers, how you vhas. Maybe you shall go home before I kick you out!"

Eaferybody goes right avhay, und my old woman falls down und wants to die. Shake, he like to go avhay, too, but I catch him by der neck und say:

"My son, I vhill now speak some more into dot phonograph. She vhas a wonderful machine. I like to speak to her dot I have a son Shake."

"Yes, fadder."

"It vhas all some shokes, fadder."

"Yes, I know. I speak to dot machine und say it vhas all some shokes. You vhas a shoker und dot machine vhas a shoker. It vhas, ha! ha! ha!"

"How you mean, fadder?"

"Shust like dis, my son," und I lick dot boy till somebody rings der bell fur fire, und den I throw dot machine out in der alley und go copstairs und say to Mrs. Dunder:

"Vhell, vhen I vhas dead one tousand years you don't hear my voice und feel tickled. Dot machine vhas a liar. Shake vhas a rascal, und if somebody comes around here mit a fire-escape or a burglar alarm I vhill kill him so quick dot he don't speak two words!"

Bicycle Worth a Fortune.

A gun factory in Vienna, Austria, is said to have the distinction of making the costliest bicycle in the world. The owner of the "wheel" of fabulous value is a South African diamond king, who has agreed to pay $275,000 for the remarkable machine. The South African millionaire was so impressed with the beauty of the frame when it was on exhibition at the last Vienna exposition that he bought it and ordered it set with precious stones. The bicycle is to be a present to his wife on her next birthday. It is a mass of jewels, chiefly diamonds.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

HIS DECISION.

Young Man Who Was Drifting Into Dissipated Habits Heeds a Timely Warning.

Twenty-five years ago a young man was sent as a special clerk from Milford, Mass., to Chicago. He was placed in a responsible position, and soon made the acquaintance of many other young men to whom Chicago was a commercial Mecca.

The new clerk was a pleasant fellow, and had a taste for social life; but situated as he was, the social life had to be such as he could make for himself, and that was, not unnaturally, the free and easy comradeship of other clerks. Almost without realizing it, he found himself gradually drifting into dissipation. It was a social drink here, a quiet game of cards there, and always a cigar in the mouth. Every moment that was not spent in business or in bed was given to things which at the time seemed to him innocent enough, but which were really undermining his manhood.

After he had been in Chicago a month or two, he met an old classmate of his from his home town. A few evenings later he found himself in his friend's room.

"Look here, old fellow," said the friend. "I want to have a straight talk with you."

"Go ahead," said the other, pleasantly.

"I will. Now what have you got out here in Chicago? A clerkship will a chance. What does the chance depend on? Education and friends. What is your education? Nothing but a high school training, and most of that forgotten. Who are your friends? Young men who flash other people's money. Now what are you going to do? Run to seed and end worse than you began, or fit yourself for a useful future?

"If you wish to fit yourself, join an evening school, study part of the time out of working hours, and spend your Sundays as you ought to spend them. Purify your life, broaden your understanding, and you will make something of yourself. But if you prefer to stay as you are, take another drink, pass around the cigars and be a 'jolly good fellow' with the boys."

The young clerk thought it over. His cigar went out and dropped from between his fingers. He saw two futures—one full of ease but ending in failure, the other fraught with hardship but leading to success. He knew the choice was his. "I thank you, old fellow," he said, at length. "I needed it."

At the end of a week the clerk was a member of an evening class and had selected his church. He gave up drinking, smoking, cards and clubs, and began to use the public library and to get back something of his old-time interest in books. He was surprised to see that he had dropped out of his vapid life as easily as he entered it. Nobody tried to drag him back, nobody seemed to miss him. In less than six months his opportunity came, and he seized it. Ten years later he was a rich man.

To-day he is loved and respected by all who know him. His benevolences have made the grass greener and the sky bluer to hundreds of poor souls; yet few even of those for whom he has done the most know him either by sight or by name, for he is as unostentatious as he is generous.

"Who would give a thought to me to-day if I had made the wrong decision?" he said, a little while ago. That is a question which every young man can well afford to ask himself. There is only one answer to it.—Youth's Companion.

Due to Alcoholism.

Europe is discovering that crime is increasing there far more rapidly among the young than among the adults. At the fifth congress of criminal anthropology, recently held in Amsterdam, the startling fact was brought out that there are six times as many murders committed by young men between the ages of 16 and 20 as by adults between 20 and 35. The cause is charged to the increase of alcoholism. Put beside this fact the other that in the United States 30,872 persons died at the hands of homicides in the five years ended in 1900 and America's problem will gain new significance. No European country, except Italy, approaches this record of slaughter in proportion to population.

German People Aroused.

The German people are becoming thoroughly aroused over the destruction being wrought in that country by alcoholic drinks. The university authorities complain that their students are becoming stupid, and something must be done to stay the tide of beer drinking. A recent writer has discovered that nearly all the crimes are committed while under the influence of drink. The emperor is investigating the influence of beer upon the German workingman.

WHOLE NATION IS AROUSED.

France Shows Unusual Interest and Activity in the Movement for Temperance.

During the last few years, in which there has been a noticeable subsidence in the temperance agitation in this country, the movement has been showing new strength in Continental Europe. M. d'Oriol, who follows closely moral and religious movements in France, states that until five years ago the only systematic attempt to check the progress of alcoholism in France was that made by the Protestant Society of the Blue Cross. The work of this society was distinctively religious, and its method was to appeal for total abstinence upon religious grounds. Inasmuch, however, as the Protestant church in France is not only weak in numbers but weaker still in social prestige, the Blue Cross movement could not be said to enjoy a really national influence. In 1895, however, there was established the Anti-Alcoholic League, having at its head men of scientific distinction, and working along lines approved by most of the more serious people in France. It does not demand total abstinence of its members, except from the use of distilled liquors, but it conducts an agitation against the evils of the increasing use of intoxicants, and establishes in various localities clubs with reading-rooms, billiard-rooms, gardens, and gymnasia, and with restaurants in which no alcoholic liquor whatever is sold. Following the example of this league, other societies of a similar nature have been founded which are carrying on an educational work and providing wholesome places of recreation for the people. But all this educational work conducted by private societies is of narrow influence compared with the support given the movement by the department of education of the general government, which, says M. d'Oriol, has caused anti-alcoholic teaching to be given as a part of the regular course in all the public schools. This work of the educational department of the French government has been seconded by an order from the war department prohibiting the sale of distilled liquors in the army and navy. Inasmuch as a national government rarely takes action along moral lines except in response to an irresistible demand from the people, the steps taken by the French government show that the temperance movement has already become a serious factor in the moral life of France.—Outlook.

TEMPERATE BY CONSENT.

Union County, Ga., Where Whisky Could Not Be Obtained, Even for a Snake Bite.

Who can name a county which, without making "prohibition" an issue or legally forbidding liquor-selling, has not for 30 years contained a saloon? A correspondent of the Atlanta Constitution, on the track of a gold-mining "boom," professes to have found such an one—Union county, Ga.

"If you were snake-bitten," said a prominent citizen to me the other day at the county seat, "I believe you could not get a drop of liquor in the town to save your life."

In this county 75 per cent. of the people own their homes. In the county seat only one family does not own its own home. There is not a dollar of bonds on the county, and with the tax rate three times larger this year than usual, the total state and county tax amounts to only $4.15 on $100.

Union county lies among the mountains of the Blue Ridge. The courthouse is 40 miles north of Gainesville, about 100 miles on an air-line north of Atlanta, and about ten miles south of the tennessee line. The quickest way to reach Blairsville, the county seat of Union county, from Atlanta is to go to Blueridge on the Atlanta, Knoxville & Northern railway, and drive across the country 26 miles along the beautiful valleys and over the mountains.

I was told by a number of reputable citizens that there are many people in the county who have never seen a railroad. The eastern part of the county is probably 40 miles from the nearest station in one direction, and 50 miles in the other.

FACTS.

The whisky trust paid out $1,941,368 in dividends during last year—more than double the amount of the year before.

The city of Manchester enjoys the doubtful reputation of having more public houses than any other municipality in the United States.

The Jerry McAuley mission in New York had last year an attendance of 40,000 people at its meetings. Many of these are homeless men and drunkards.

An Anti-Profanity league has been organized for the suppression of America's most popular sin, that of blasphemy. Rev. Roland D. Sawyer, of Hanson, Mass., is the general secretary.

F. W. Jacobs, of Blackwell, Okla., who was adjudged insane just before Christmas, was at one time a good lawyer with a fine practice. His insanity was caused by the excessive use of intoxicants.

LESSONS OF THE PAVEMENT.

Even the curious, or the purely scientific man, as he walks along our streets with head and eyes down, may see at his feet objects of singular interest; here he will see a red flagstone covered with the ripple marks of a shallow Triassic sea; there he will notice one pitted with little holes, the fossil imprints of a Jura Trias primeval hail storm, when the red mud flats lay at low tide exposed to the pattering of the icy pellets. On the same slab he may perhaps note the tiny footprints left by some small crustacean as his horny feet crept over the muddy flats. On another slab he may see a parallel line of hand-like prints left by the feet of some slow-crawling lizard or saurian, and between them, the line made by the dragging tail of the animal. These footprints, quite common in Denver flagging stones, are from the size of a finger nail to that of a man's hand, and are quite as wonderful as those which make the Connecticut sand stones so classical with their "footprints on the sands of time" made by lizards that squatted or crawled on all fours or stood erect and hopped along like birds, leaving often impressions singularly bird-like in character.—Mines and Minerals.

OUSTS VENTRILOQUY.

Contrivances have been invented and patented for the production of ventriloquial sounds on the stage by means of a telephone, says a London paper. The receiver is placed in the mouth of the dummy figure and the voice heard is not that of the performer immediately behind the footlights, but that of a person behind the scenes. Ventriloquists have varied their performances of late by the introduction of stuffed pigs, horses, dogs and other animals, which appear to join in the "conversation." In those instances the telephonic method greatly assists in producing good effects.

A THOUSAND DOLLARS THROWN AWAY.

Mr. W. W. Baker, of Plainview, Neb., writes: "My wife had lung trouble for over fifteen years. We tried a number of doctors and spent over a thousand dollars without any relief. She was very low and I lost all hope, when a friend suggested trying Foley's Honey and Tar, which I did, and thanks be to this great remedy, it saved her life. She is stronger and enjoys better health than she has ever known in ten years. We shall never be without Foley's Honey and Tar and would ask those afflicted to try it." Sold by Dreier & Bro. and Pellens & Polster.

The Roman Catholic cathedral in London, now in course of erection, is 360 feet long and 156 feet wide. Apart from the site it has already cost $750,000. The material used is red brick, with Portland stone courses, and its Oriental decorative features suggest a mosque rather than a cathedral.

A LEGACY OF THE GRIP

Is often a run-down system. Weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys often follow an attack of this wretched disease. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the splendid tonic, blood purifier and regulator of Stomach, Liver and Kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nerves, build up the system and restore to health and good spirits after an attack of Grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50c. A Lurking Danger

TO FORT WAYNE PEOPLE.

Most backache pains are kidney ills.

Prof. A. Keller, of 157 Wells street, says: "Kidney trouble with me was not of a few days' standing, but had been bothering me for a long time, and I had tried many different remedies without getting much relief. As I was reading our paper one day I happened to notice an article about Doan's Kidney Pills, so I went to Meyer Bros. & Co.'s drug store and got a box. Before I began taking them I had a very bad headache, dizzy spells and my feet and back swelled. As soon as I began the use of Doan's Kidney Pills I could feel that the symptoms were growing less, and from day to day I kept improving until I had taken all of the box. I was then stronger and my health was better than it had been in months."

THE RESULTS OF A SHOOTING.

New York, Feb. 14.—Philemon Crelin, of Milburn, N. J., and his daughter, Mrs. Mary Ferguson, whom he shot before turning the revolver upon himself, were still alive at the Memorial hospital at Orange, N. J., today, but the woman's condition was said to be critical. Crelin was thought to have good chance of recovery. He rested quietly during the night and was in fair condition.

TO THE SICK AND AFFLICTED.

WHO ARE SUFFERING from any cause and cannot get well, consult the eminent specialist, DR. CHARLES ALBERT ZIMMERMAN. There's probably no physician or specialist in Fort Wayne or elsewhere who is curing more chronic, obstinate lingering diseases and cancers than he is.

A REAL PHYSICAL RESURRECTION.

Dr. C. A. Zimmerman: Respected Sir.—For humanity's sake I write the following certificate of a cure effected in me by your special treatment. I have been a great sufferer from disease of the heart and dyspepsia for ten years. For four years I have been trying the finest physicians in this place, and every remedy my friends could think of, but to no purpose. Eight months ago I commenced treatment at your Sanitarium. Two months' treatment cured me, and today I am well. Yes, dear friends, who are suffering from chronic disease, give Dr. Zimmerman a trial. If a failure tank you find it, persevere and be patient. Better take time for treatment than to spend a life-time of sickness and suffering as I have done. In fact, I have passed from death into life; a real physical resurrection. MARY J. CHALFANT, Bluffton, Ind.

Why Don't You Seek Relief?

A really healthy woman has little pain or discomfort at the menstrual period. No woman needs to have any. Wine of Cardui will relieve all those smarting menstrual pains and dragging head, back and side aches caused by falling of the womb and irregular menses.

March 29, 1900, Mrs. W. H. Jones, of Cameron, Mo., wrote the following to The Chattanooga Medicine Company: "I ask you for advice for the treatment of my complaint. I hear a great many women in my condition are cured by Wine of Cardui, so I send for the medicine." The medicine was sent with plain directions regarding treatment required, and August 31, 1900, she wrote again: "Perhaps you will remember Mrs. W. H. Jones who wrote to you six months ago asking for advice which you so kindly gave her. I never will be able to thank you enough for it. I suffered terribly at my monthly periods for three years. I would sometimes go for seven months with no flow at all. Now I have my health back again and am expecting to be confined in January. I cannot praise your medicine enough."

has brought permanent relief to 1,000,000 women who suffered every month. It makes the menstrual organs strong and healthy and gives women relief from the terrible aches and pains that blight so many homes. The only thing necessary is to seek relief—to go to a drug store and get a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui and take the medicine in the privacy of your own home.

Greenwood, La., October 14, 1900.

I have been very sick for some time. I was taken with a severe pain in my side and could not get any relief until I tried a bottle of Wine of Cardui. Before I had taken all of it I was relieved. I feel it my duty to say that you have a wonderful medicine.
